Wise Prince, Soft Collar.
Squirrels and Prices.
Fox's Picture Co.
Einstein Puzzle.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE Prince of Wales has given up his jumping horses because of his father's illness. But he has not given up the pastime, free from danger, of inventing new clothes.

He startles London, says the Associated Press, by appearing at a boys' boxing championship wearing "a double-breasted dinner jacket," (that's what Americans call a Tuxedo), a soft shirt, no starch in it, soft cuffs, a soft-turned-down collar, a black bow tie and a "grey checked pullover," whatever that may be.

THAT wouldn't startle anybody in America. Herbert Swope, who is twice as big as the Prince of Wales, and knows him intimately, has worn all of that outfit, with the possible exception of the "pullover," for a number of years.

THE important thing — every American should remember it—is the soft collar.

Hard, starched collars pressing on the big blood vessels on either side of your neck stop the flow of blood to the brain. And what is worse, they press upon the pneumogastric nerve hidden away under one of those great blood vessels, most important perhaps of all the nerves in the body.

IT ISN'T necessary to wear a sloppy collar, or necessary to look like a little boy after a hard day's play. Modern soft collars keep their position, and do not press upon the neck. WEAR THEM, DAY AND EVENING.

THERE is an old saying that you cannot keep a squirrel on the ground. Wall street prices are like that squirrel. It seems impossible to keep them down.

Yesterday, for instance, Radio stock jumped up more than 33 points, crossing $500. Call money was only 6½ per cent. It is hard to form a corner in money, even with the aid of billion dollar banks. Bears will have to wait a little longer.

BERLIN seeks to establish a "talkie" trust in Europe, a $100,000,000 company, to control Europe's talking moving pictures.

That would be a small company for America. William Fox, originator of the Movietone talking picture, recently purchased control of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company and the Marcus Loew theaters. He has in his hands now an organization amounting to at least $300,000,000.

PROF. EINSTEIN, 50 years old yesterday, retired with his wife from public view, to think about relativity and the fourth dimension, and wonder why people make such a fuss over him.

He is especially amazed at the great interest in his discoveries in the United States. And he well may be. Not 10 men in the United States understand them.

A SPECIAL master appointed by the court decides that the big telephone company, having invested hundreds of millions of additional capital, is entitled to a bigger return. The company will probably get $22,000,000 a year more.

TO HIM that hath shall be given. At least all admit that the company gives good service, and that its young ladies that say "Thank you" are marvels of gentle, polite efficiency.

THERE is a plan to bridge the English Channel by constructing two islands with bridges over the intervening space. The job would cost about $500,000,000, which, the promoters think, "could be borrowed in America."

What becomes of the recent solemn British statement that "United States capital is not wanted in England?"

TWO thousand four hundred lawyers of New York City have organized "a fight for a repeal of the dry law." Ordinarily you would say, "Then the dry law must go."

But on the other side of the line are many million Baptists, Methodists and others that intend to keep the dry law. And they will keep it.

WHEN we see news films we rarely realize the risks run by cameramen. Those risks are great, and occasionally death proves it.

On Wednesday at Daytona, Fla., Mr. Bible, trying for a new automobile speed record, was killed when his car was going 202 miles an hour.

The crowd stood well back, watching the race, but Charles Traub, grinding a newsreel camera, knew it was his duty to show the machine, traveling four miles a minute, coming head-on. He stood with his camera planted slightly to one side of the straight course. When the driver lost control the car leaped and rolled.

It was too late for Traub to save himself. His dead body was laid out beside that of the driver.

ALABAMA FLOODS FALL; RESCUE WORK BEGINS

FOOD SENT REFUGEES BY AIR

At Montgomery, Ala., National Guard Lieut. Kelsoe, in charge of a rescue detachment, reported to Gov. Graves that the tide has turned and that the water is beginning to fall in the vicinity of Elba, Ala., where 4,000 residents have been marooned since yesterday.

The officer reported that he was in a position from which he could see Elba citizens on the housetops and that the water, after rising for a time, had fallen about 10 inches. His detachment, he said, picked up 13 persons. Taken with earlier reports, this makes a total of 92 reported rescued.

PLANES DROP FOOD

Seaplanes from the Pensacola Naval Air Station were reported ying over Brewton and Flomaton, Ala., bringing bread to marooned inhabitants of the ooded towns.

At Windham's Mill, Ala., the soldiers found seven women and children in a flooded store. Tying the motorboat they were operating to the outside of the building, they went in in rowboats and rescued them.

Efforts to carry on radio communication between airplanes and the rescue parties were made, but the planes were forced to return to their base because of the heavy fog which hung over the flooded district.

HOUSES SUBMERGED

The water is up to the eaves of houses at Castleberry, Alabama's strawberry center, according to a message received by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company at Mobile, and residents there were perched on roofs and in attics.

Flomaton, Ala., reported 12 feet of water in low parts of the city.

Roosevelt Boomed For Philippine Post

WASHINGTON, March 15.—(INS.)—A quiet campaign to make Col. Roosevelt governor general of the Philippines has made its appearance here. Among the backers of Col. Roosevelt are said to be his sister, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, and Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, who is to take her seat in Congress on April 15. The Philippines post is one of the best in government service, so far as salary goes. It commands $20,000 a year and a splendid palace.

Man Held Up in View Of Station Crowds

In full view of crowds passing to and from trains on the Pennsylvania Station ramp, two bandits last night held up Vincent Goldenoe, attendant at the Fort Pitt parking station, Eleventh street and Liberty avenue, and robbed the cash register of $12. They escaped in an automobile, Goldenoe told police.

FRANK SCOTT

OFFICER SHOT BY PROWLER

In a gun duel in the fog along Washington boulevard early today, Plainclothesman Frank Scott was shot as he was on the verge of nabbing a Negro whom police suspect of many thefts from parked automobiles.

When the Negro gazed in the rear window of his car, Scott flung the door open and stepped out, pistol in hand.

"Hands up," he commanded.

The Negro's reply was three bullets fired rapidly from a pistol held in his coat pocket. One passed through Scott's right thigh, inflicting a flesh wound.

Recovering, Scott emptied his revolver into the fog after the fleeing thief, who eluded capture.

Freighters Collide In Panama Canal

PANAMA, March 15.—(AP.)—The freighter Hanley, bound from New York for Seattle with a capacity cargo, was tied up at Cristobal today after a collision with the freighter George W. Barnes, from Baltimore to San Pedro in ballast. The Hanley may have to under repairs before resuming her voyage.

The Barnes continued through the canal for San Pedro.

Free Staters Win Over De Valera

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 15.—(AP.)—The Free State party captured the North Dublin city by-election to the Dail today by a majority of 124 for Dr. O'Higgins, government candidate, over Oscar Traynor, the De Valera candidate. The total poll was 56,676.

Two Metropolitan Opera Stars Marry

NEW YORK, March 15.—(INS.)—It's Mr. and Mrs. Schutzendorf today. Gustave Schutzendorf, baritone, and Greta Stuckgold, contralto, both of the Metropolitan, were married here yesterday. They have postponed their honeymoon until the operatice season is over.

GIRL TELLS OF LINDY FLIGHT

NEW YORK, March 15.—(INS.)—She flew over the whistling bullets of Mexican rebel troops.

A forced landing in the enemy territory would have meant — almost surely — imprisonment or death.

But she had no fear—because—

Lindy was piloting the plane!

Mrs. Frederick W. Broatch, one of the two women passengers with Lindbergh on the inaugural tour of the mail service last Saturday between Mexico City and Brownsville, Texas, told of the thrilling experience today in her apartment at the Barclay Hotel.

WANTED TO LEAVE

Said the vivacious little woman, still excited from her recent adventure:

"My husband and I didn't know when we could get out of Mexico City. The rebels had cut off train service to the north. You could buy tickets and set out hopefully, but the train might get as far as Santilla, as one did, and then be sent back, and the idea of riding a train through the war zone wasn't so much fun.

"Then at the American Club we heard that Lindy's mail plane was taking nine passengers on its inaugural trip. You can imagine how we jumped at the chance of going on it!

"I wasn't at all afraid up there, flying with Lindy, even though I knew that down below rebel troops were hiding in the mountains.

RIVERS RISING HERE STEADILY

Swollen mountain streams, due to melting snow, are causing a steady rise in the rivers, with prospect of a stage of between 22 and 23 feet by tomorrow morning, the weather bureau announced. Flood stage is 25 feet.

At 10 a. m. today the stage at the Point was 18.8 feet and rising two-tenths foot an hour.

Rain is predicted for tonight and tomorrow. Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said it likely would be light and insufficient to check the waters when they began receding. Most of the rise is out of the Allegheny. The Monongahela was reported falling at headwaters today, although the stream is rising from Point Marion to the mouth.

Fog enveloped the city and environs this morning, hampering traffic. Bus lines in some instances were reported running three hours behind schedule. A breeze had dissipated the pall by noon.

BOND PLOT SUSPECT GIVES UP

Martin Hendel, sought for a week in connection with disposal of bonds stolen in a series of mail and bank robberies in this country and Canada, was brought back from Cleveland today by City Detective Murray Edlis.

Hendel, according to detectives, telephoned to Inspector of Detectives Frank Boyd that he would give himself up and was arrested a short time later last night in a rooming house at 3221 Euclid avenue, Cleveland. He accompanied Edlis here without protest.

CONFESSION REPORTED

Hendel confessed, according to Inspector Boyd, after questioning, that he had been given $11,000 bonds by Mannie Stelnberg and that he was to receive 66 cents on the dollar for their sale as commission.

Hendel took the bonds to Buffalo, he is alleged to have admitted, where he placed them in the hands of a brokerage house. The brokers became suspicious and notified police. Hendel also became wary and eluded the net spread for him recently by Buffalo detectives.

BOND TRANSFER TOLD

According to Hendel, the detectives asserted, Steinberg, in whose automobile detectives this week recovered $77,500 alleged stolen bonds, obtained a block of the securities from a leader of the gang that perpetrated a $125,000 mail robbery in Toronto last June 28.

The bonds were turned over to Steinberg, according to Hendel's alleged statement, in Clarksburg, W. Va., and brought here by Steinberg, who turned over 11 $1,000 bonds to Hendel. Steinberg is at liberty under $10,000 bond.

Foch Is 'Very Tired In Heart and Body'

PARIS, March 15.—(AP.)—Physicians of Marshal Foch found him "very tired in heart and body and mind" when they visited him this morning. They said he had passed a quiet night and had obtained some sleep.

His temperature was 98.6 and his pulse 92. The Marshal's temperature yesterday remained below normal most of the day.

DEFENSE RESTS IN HORST TRIAL

By AL GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

WOOSTER, O., March 15.—With the calling to the stand of the state's star witness, Junior Hannah, 8, the defense closed today in the trial of Elias Arnold, 62, and his son, Arthur, 17, charged with child-stealing in the disappearance of Melvin Horst, 4, from Orrville, last December.

The two defendants were on the stand all morning, both testifying an emphatic denial to the charges. It was expected the case will reach the jury tomorrow morning.

Elias took the stand again when court convened today to re-echo his denial of the charges.

The grizzled old countryman's "no" thundered through the little court room at every intimation that he knew of the lad's whereabouts. He denied even knowing the existence of the child until the time of his disappearance. To his attorney's question, "What of Junior Hannah's testimony that he saw you and your son take the child into your home?" his explosive retort was: "It's an unmitigated lie."

Arthur Arnold followed his father on the stand and also denied knowledge of the child or his whereabouts. One more witness remained to be called by the defense.

Rumor that the Horst boy would turn up before long was stronger than ever today. Officials were silent, but hopeful.

3-YEAR TERM, $10,000 FINES HANDED RACKETEERS

Fourteen members of Pittsburgh bootlegging rings today were sentenced to prison. Their terms varied from six months in the county jail to three years in the federal penitentiary.

At the same time Federal Judge Nelson McVicar affixed fines ranging from $500 to $10,000 supplementing the prison sentences. Five of the convicted men received prison sentences only.

Three—Santo and Jack Laquatra, of the North Side, and Joe Meyers—of the South Side—were granted new trials.

Two, convicted on the same charges, escaped with fines alone.

They were Joseph Hilldorfer, former councilman and North Side politician, who was fined $1,000; and Joseph Bove, East End political leader, fined $1,000 and paroled from a two-year jail sentence upon recommendation of government counsel.

The 14 sentences were by far the most severe ever handed down in the Pittsburgh district for violation of liquor laws. They are the culmination of a drive instituted by federal authorities against liquor bootleg conditions here nearly a year ago.

Besides the rum sentences, a fifteenth jail sentence was handed out to Martin J. Grady, alleged Strip racketeer, accused of evading the income tax.

HILLDORFER FINED

Hilldorfer, most prominent of the defendants, was dismissed with a $1,000 fine for violation of the anti-liquor law in the Union Fishing Club, North Side.

The stiffest sentence was handed to Mickey Meyers, one of the four Meyers brothers charged with operating a rum conspiracy on the South Side. Mickey was sent to Atlanta Penitentiary for three years and fined $10,000; Gus Meyers was sentenced to two and one-half years and Sam Meyers drew two years.

MEYERS "IN" NOW

The North Side defendants, besides those of the Union Fishing Club, hailed from the Twenty-third, Twenty-first and Twenty-fourth Wards.

"I am convinced," Judge Nelson McVicar said in fining Hilldorfer, "that you are not a bootlegger, but you have violated the prohibition law."

In sentencing Mickey Meyers the court ruled that his penitentiary term shall not begin until he has finished serving a three-months' sentence in the county jail for evasion of income tax.

BEVERAGE FIRM FINED $1,000

A fine of $1,000 was imposed on the Monongahela Beverage Company, Monongahela City, today by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in United States District Court, following conviction of the company, last February 19, of the manufacture, possession and removal from its plant of high-test beer and for violation of its federal permit to manufacture cereal beverages. Two employes of the company was acquitted to similar charges.

STOCKS REACH PEAK IN BULL MARKET

See Financial Pages for Closing Prices.

By W. S. COUSINS.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Bulls in the stock market set a dizzy pace for the motor, steel and specialty stocks today, whipping up the market to a 6,000,000-share pace and marking up prices of their favorite stocks to the highest levels of the year. A combination of favorable factors helped to accumulate an unusually large volume of buying orders overnight, and the first half hour's turnover was close to a million and a quarter shares. After a brief period of profit-taking, the upsurge was resumed in the early afternoon, with the copper stocks again in the lead.

The mad scramble for stocks at the begining of the session equalled anything that has been seen in any of the bulls markets since 1927.

Brokers were literally swept off their feet in their frantic attempts to fill their orders for the speculative favortes which led the upward movement in the first part of the week. Up to noon, a total of 2,600,000 shares had gone over the tape, or at the rate of nearly 7,000,000 shares for the full day.

Radio, General Motors and Kennecott stood head and shoulders over the rest of the market in the wild churning of speculative stocks on the big board. Though there were no wide changes in prices, trading was in enormous volume, with numerous 5,000 to 20,000-share blocks in the transactions of the day.

General Motors started the session with the sale of a 25,000 block at 90, up 4 points from Thursday's close, but selling pressure drove this big leader back to 88. Chrysler and Nash were active and strong.

STOLEN AUTO RECOVERED, 3 CAPTURED AFTER HUNCH

Motorcycle Patrolman James M. Swearingen had a hunch and, following it, recovered a car stolen an hour before from in front of Mercy Hospital.

Riding out Boulevard of the Allies, Swearingen met four youths driving toward town and gave chase. They speeded across Liberty bridge, through the tunnel and out West Liberty avenue into Dormont, where they turned into a blind street and were captured.

Today, in Morals Court, they admitted abandoning an automobile they had stolen in New Jersey for the newer and larger one standing in front of the hospital, property of Harvey Deane, 444 Royce street, Mt. Lebanon.

They gave their names as John Hoffman, 18, and LePold de Smeth, 16, of Hawthorne, N. J.; Paul Decker, 19, of Gallitzin, and Charles Welluto, 21, of Patterson, N. J. Magistrate A. D. Brandon held them for court.

PITTSBURGHER BECOMES MEXICAN REBEL CAPTAIN

At least one Pittsburgher has taken up arms for the Mexican Rebels' cause, it was revealed in Coraopolis today.

The 'soldier of fortune" is Fred Bedell, 38, who resigned as assistant steward of the Elks Club in Coraopolis.

Bedell announced that he was resigning to take up a captaincy for the rebels, so his erstwhile boss, Steward Pat Marion revealed today. Marion said Bedel enlisted in Pittsburgh and departed from here last night with recruits from New York.

Bedell, a World War Veteran and member of Coraopolis' Keith Holmes Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, told friends that he was on the rebel books at a salary of $450 monthly.

motions for new trials and the defendants, hearing their fate pronounced, were startled to learn that the sentences would begin—immediately.

After he had sentenced the defendants Judge McVicar announced that he would refuse any requests for writs of supersedeas—which means that the prisoners must begin their jail sentences immediately and remain behind the bars pending appeals, if any, for new trials.

After the sentences were imposed, a sorry group of convicted racketeers marched out of the Federal building and was escorted to the county jail, there to begin the term of confinement or await a train to Atlanta, Ga.

shing Club defendants—Joseph Hildorfer fined $1,000; John Coney, assistant steward, and Frank C. Peters, waiter, six months in jail; V. Przekalasa and M. Allshouse, alleged whisky salesmen, six months in jail and $500 fines.

The club itself, charged with violating the prohibition law, was fined $3,500, and C. W. Bott, an alleged liquor salesman, was granted a new trial.

Twenty-third Ward liquor conspiracy—Fred Stratman, former prohibition agent, fined $5,000 and sentenced to two years in the Federal Penitentiary; Oscar Reister, six months in jail.

Twenty-first Ward liquor conspiracy—Daniel McLaughlin, former prohibition agent, fined $5,000 and sentenced to two years in the Federal Penitentiary. Santo and Jack Laquatra granted new trials.

Twenty-fourth Ward liquor conspiracy—Thomas C. Johnson, fined $5,000 and sentenced to two years in the Federal Penitentiary; Thomas (Peezer) Wills, county employe, Republican district chairman and president of the ward's Republican club, six months in jail; David Adams, six months in jail.

South Side liquor conspiracy—Mickey Meyers, fined $10,000 and sentenced to three years in the Federal Penitentiary; Gus Meyers, fined $10,000 and sentenced to two and one-half years in the Federal Penitentiary; Sam Meyers, fined $5,000 and sentenced to two years in the Federal Penitentiary; James Swift, fined $5,000 and sentenced to 18 months in the Federal Penitentiary; Joe Meyers granted a new trial.

BOVE PAROLED

Joseph Bove, East End politician, found guilty of evading the income tax, fined $1,000 and paroled for two years on recommendation of government counsel.

The punishment was particularly disheartening to Fred Stratman and Daniel McLaughlin. From Judge McVicar's stern domain they marched before Judge F. P. Schoonmaker and pleaded to charges of evading the income tax. Stratman pleaded no defense, McLaughlin confessed his guilt, and Judge Schoonmaker sentenced both these former prohibition agents three months in jail, not to be ed until they have served their e in Atlanta.

ott was last June that a majority of these defendants were indicted.

In November the North Side group was acquitted on the court's order. Judge R. M. Gibson ruled then that a hookup of all the minor ward conspiracies had not been proven, so the government had the defendants reindicted and tried in groups.

The government's case was this: That the North Side, as one great territory, was divided into territories—wards—and the whisky concessions given as political favors.

Among those indicted were State Assemblyman Samuel J. Grenet, Police Inspector Charles Faulkner and numerous ward chairmen. Grenet was acquitted and Faulkner, awaiting a second trial, has yet to learn how he will fare.

An undersized, bespectacled reckoner, one Abie Berkowitz, started it all.

PALATIAL RESIDENCE OF MISSING SLOT MACHINE KING

This imposing home, 3344 Perrysville avenue, valued on city books at $35,700, has been mortgaged to the National Bank of America, East Ohio street, for $28,000 and the papers were signed by Alfred W. Forney, missing slot machine king sought for trial in county courts, and his wife, Mrs. Tracey E. Forney. Forney signed in New York.

DYKES IN FLOOD AREA SOUND

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 15.—(AP.)—With a new rise moving down the Mississippi River and indication of a gauge of 50 feet at Cairo by Sunday, river followers today predicted the crest will be reached at Memphis by the middle of next week.

Reassurances of U. S. Army engineers that the levee system is in good shape throughout the central valley and able to take care of 45 feet of water, found protected areas unalarmed over the situation.

GULFPORT, Miss., March 15.—(AP.)—Winds of gale force from the South reaching a velocity of 60 miles an hour last night swept the Gulf Coast, accompanied by a violent thunderstorm and excessive rainfall. The rain added to the volume of water in swollen streams throughout Southern Mississippi, where flood levels already has been reached. No damage was reported.

LIFER ESCAPES AFTER BOAST

BALTIMORE, March 15.—(INS.)—Jack Hart, lifer at the Maryland penitentiary and Baltimore's archcriminal, who twice escaped the prison walls and boasted "they will never keep me in," today fled his solitary cell.

He managed to unfasten the triple-locked cell door, climbed to the roof on an improvised rope and slid down to the street. He took Jack Bailey, another prisoner serving 15 years for a holdup, with him, but Brady was captured when his rope broke.

Plan Group Funeral For 9 Storm Victims

GREENVILLE, S. C., March 15.—(AP.)—The nine victims of the tornado which last night swirled across the little town of Six Mile in Pickens County, will be buried with a community funeral at the Baptist Church there tomorrow morning. All will be buried in the Six Mile Cemetery. The little community of 250 persons was still dazed yesterday, but after a survey of the ruin wrought by the storm, plans went forward for rehabilitation of the few homes that were destroyed.

Sheriff, in Chase, Shoots Deputy; Both Arrested

WHEELING, W. Va., March 15.—(AP.)—Sheriff Irwin Charnock and his deputy, Theodore Fowler, of Brooke County, were arrested here last night after Charnock had wounded Fowler in the hip while firing at an alleged liquor runner whom they had trailed from Wellsburg.

Both officers were charged with "shooting in the city streets," and after Fowler had received hospital treatment each was allowed his liberty on his own recognizance.

LINDY'S "DIFFERENT"

"Just looking at him gives you confidence. He's a different person up in a plane from the rather stern-faced boy who avoids questioners on the ground. His face is wonderful—so relaxed and happy. The clouds are his real element—not the ground."

Mrs. Broatch, Mrs. George Rihl, the other woman passenger, and the seven men, expected to land calmly at the Brownsville flying field, with a few aviators and officials to greet them

But instead there were—

And Lindy—

"The worried look came back into his face," said Mrs. Broatch, "as he avoided questions about a $35 wedding cake that someone said had just arrived in Brownsville from the north."

Lindbergh Hops Off From Brownsville

Danish King Poor At Picking Ponies

CANNES, France, March 15.—(AP.)—King Christian, of Denmark, it turned out, was a poor picker at races. During his sojourn on the Riviera he visited the track just one day and played everyone of the six races, betting "the limit," as he explained. Sympathizing friends learned that his limit was $4.

Two Gas Station Bandits Convicted

UPPER ILLINOIS FLOOD SWEPT

CHICAGO, March 15.—(INS.)—Streets in Freeport, Ill., were under two feet of water; Rockford, Ill., reported a dozen factories shut down or operating under difficulties because of flooded power plants, and a score of smaller towns were threatened with inundation as the Wisconsin thaws swept down upon Northern Illinois today.

In Freeport, according to reports from Chief of Police A. H. Wilkey, the water had reached the previous high mark recorded during the floods of 1926.

Further west, the Mississippi River was reported out of its banks in places and lapping the tops of levees all the way from Quincy, Ill., to Vicksburg, Miss.

Thousands of acres in Iowa were reported under water, with roads impassable in many sections.

At Keokuk, the Des Moines River was up two feet and was standing at a 12-foot stage, while at Quincy the Mississippi was said to have risen four feet within the past 24 hours.

Woman's Missionary Circle Holds Meeting

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, met yesterday in the church parlors. Mrs. Robert E. McClanahan and members of Group 5 were the leaders. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. E. E. Kroegher. "In the Garden," a story, was told by Mrs. John H. Bragdon. Mrs. C. S. Ferguson spoke on "African Current Events." Mrs. Mary Martin Lea gave musical numbers.

Four Boys Missing, Police Aid Search

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., March 15.—Four boys from this section are mysteriously missing from their homes. They are: Michael Gavallo, of Century, and John Decteroff, Chester Rodosky and Henry Pencheck, of Richeyville. All are about 12 years old. Police are conducting a search for them.

DURANGO FALLS TO CALLES; NO FIGHT

MEXICO CITY, March 15.—(AP.)—Col. Ricardo Tapia, chief of the presidential staff, announced at noon today that cavalry constituting the advance guard of Gen. Calles' army occupied Durango this morning.

The forces of the rebel Gen. Juan Getaberto Amaya were stated to have fled from Durango on the approach of the federals, presumably going north.

Gen. Calles himself was expected to reach the city today to establish headquarters in preparation for a march on Torreon, the rebel stronghold, upon which five federal columns are now converging.

ESCOBAR TO FIGHT

TORREON, Coahuila, Mexico, March 15.—(AP.)—Revolutionary forces concentrated here have no intention of evacuating Torreon in the face of the reported advance of Mexican government armies, Gen. Gonzalo Escobar, rebel commander-in-chief, declared today in a statement to the Associated Press.

The rebel chieftain declared that foreign interests as well as those of Mexican nationals were perfectly safeguarded by the forces under his command.

Gen. Ascobar declared null and void all penal action for political crimes in the republic prior to March 3, 1929.

Many Americans Can't Quit Torreon

JUAREZ, Mex., March 15.—(AP.)—It was learned here that many Americans are stranded in Torreon, unable to obtain money to leave because the banks are closed. They have no means of communication with outside points, it was reported. A number of Americans from Torreon arrived here last night by train. They said there was much military activity in the town, but that business continued as usual.

MISSION CIRCLE HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. F. K. Whitfield led yesterday's meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church of Braddock. The executive session scheduled was not held because of the gathering held February 27.

Mrs. Charles Bowman and Mrs. Anna Anderson presented papers on "Foreigners in America." Mrs. T. D. Imbrie and Mrs. R. Steinmetz were in charge of the discussion on foreign missions, the subject of which was "Japan."

Mrs. C. E. Bair conducted the study class through the fourth chapter of "Friends of Africa."

Flying Doctor Aids Missionary in North

MOONBEAM, Ont., March 15.—(AP.)—Capt. Roy W. Maxwell and Dr. W. S. Paul returned from a flight to Moose Factory, on James Bay, where splints were applied to the fractured hip of the Rev. G. Morrow, missionary. Dr. Paul arrived at Moonbeam by dog team yesterday. Capt. Maxwell remained at Remi Lake, whence he will take off again for Moose Factory to bring the missionary, who is in a serious condition, to Lady Minto Hospital at Cochrane, Ont. The missionary lay for days without medical attention at the northern outpost.

BABY IN JURYROOM

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS M'GREGOR AND BABY

MOTHER AND YOUNG BABY REUNITED IN JURY ROOM

In her home at 4024 Mifflin street, Mrs. Anna McGregor today was giving anxious thought to the health of John Robert McGregor, 7 months old, who was forced to fast for 33 hours, and marveling at the ways of justice.

Despite the recent arrival of John Robert, Mrs. McGregor was drawn last week for jury service, which many men manage to avoid by pleading pressure of private business. Eventually she came to serve in the trial of John Conley, of Monterey street, and George Brown, alias George Green, of Lacock street.

SERVES IN HOLDUP CASE

The defendants were charged with holding up two score men in "Buzzard's Roost," an alleged gambling dive at 87 Cherry street, Etna, February 2. The holdup was interrupted by Etna police, who later professed ignorance concerning "Buzzard's Roost."

At 8 o'clock Wednesday morning Mrs. McGregor fed her infant son and went to court. She was chosen for the "Buzzard's Roost" jury, listened through the testimony, and at 3:30 o'clock went into the jury room with six other women and five men.

The jurors argued, but you can imagine that Mrs. McGregor's heart was not in her work.

BABY IS FED

She harbored her anxiety until 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Then her husband came into the Court House and went roaming through the murky corridors with John Robert in his arms.

Judge C. M. Culver, of Bradford County, who had heard the case, was found, and John Robert petitioned the court in tones that were plain enough. His father added a word or two, and Judge Culver said, "Of course."

So John Robert was taken to his mother in the sacred secrecy of the jury room and for a time his crying was stilled.

Two hours later the jury reported that it could not agree, and was discharged.

N. Y. Jeweler's Wife Would Be War Bird

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP.)—Inspired by patriotism, she says, Mrs. George F. Kunz, whose husband is vice president of Tiffany & Co., is learning to fly. An ancestor fought in the Revolution. In the next war, she thinks, women will be expected to fly planes like they drove motor cars in the last one.

3 Sons, 2 Grandsons Get $24,000 Estate

Three sons of Mrs. Henrietta A. Markland, 207 South Dithridge street, Edwin J., Charles W. and Albert J. Markland, share equally nine-tenths of her $24,000 estate by terms of her will, probated today. The other tenth goes to her two grandchildren, Charles F. and George M. Markland. Edwin J. Markland is named executor.

Irish Should Do Something to Stop This

CHICAGO, March 15.—(AP.)—Chicago's shamrocks this year come from Cicero, Ill., and they are grown from seed obtained in Germany. As though that were not a sad enough commentary on an Irish institution, the owner of the largest greenhouse devoted to growing shamrocks for Chicago's St. Patrick's Day is Joseph Kohout, who does not claim to be Irish.

CORPORATION TAXES GAIN

WASHINGTON, March 15.—(INS.)—Covering a year of unusually high corporation earnings, this month's income tax receipts were today expected to run about $45,000,000 more than the Treasury Department had estimated.

Should the rate of the payments thus far be maintained, the month's receipts will probably pass the $350,000,000 mark. This would lead, it is thought, to a Treasury surplus of about $100,000,000 by the end of the half year.

That the increased payments made by corporations will not only balance the tax rate cut but will enlarge the corporation tax revenue as compared to last year, was regarded as virtually certain by Treasury Department officials today. This year's rate for corporation income taxes is 12½ per cent, as against last year's 13 per cent rate.

SETTLEMENT CHECK HELD UP BY U. S.

More than $19,000 of the $28,000 borrowed by Alfred W. Forney, missing defendant accused as head of the slot machine ring, was transmitted by check to D. B. Heiner, collector of internal revenue, for the purpose of effecting a settlement of an income tax claim against Forney, it was learned today.

The loan, secured by a mortgage on the Forney mansion at 3344 Perrysville avenue, and negotiated by Mrs. Forney while Forney was in New York, was procured to obtain funds for an offer in compromise to the government on its claim involving $28,000, covering additional income taxes assessed against Forney over a period of four years. The balance of the proceeds were applied to another Forney obligation, none of the money being transmitted to Forney, according to the latest information.

MONEY IN ESCROW

This development dissipated a theory in court and police circles that Forney wanted funds for a prolonged stay beyond the jurisdiction of the state courts.

The tender by Forney in settlement of the claim awaits acceptance by the revenue department and the money remains in escrow, according to tax authorities. Mr. Heiner refused to discuss the transaction, stating that departmental regulations forbade him to divulge records of income tax payments.

WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN

This act in the drama of the elusive Forney, however, has thrown no light on his present address, unknown to his counsel with his trial on 16 gambling charges postponed when he failed to appear Monday last, listed for next Monday and forfeiture of the $2,500 bond promised by Judge James B. Drew if Forney again fails to respond.

County Detective James McGinley, who had been in New York searching for Forney, returned to Pittsburgh today and reported to his superiors that he had not been able to locate the missing defendant.

CHARTER VIEWS SOUNDED

Members of the Allegheny County delegation in the Legislature, reported in political circles as overwhelmingly opposed to the Metropolitan district charter legislation in its present form, are seeking to ascertain sentiment of their constituents over the week-end in preparation for the Senate hearing on the bill next Tuesday.

One move in this direction is a call by L. W. Hagmaier, burgess of Aspinwall and representative from the Thirteenth Legislative District, comprising the county north of the Allegheny and Ohio rivers beyond the city limits, for a meeting of residents of the district.

The meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, in the old City Hall, North Side. Its purpose, Hagmaier stated today, is to determine the sentiment in the district concerning the Metropolitan charter bill. Consideration will be given, he said, to the appointment of a committee of representative citizens of the district to appear at the hearing in Harrisburg.

SCHOOL MOURNS GIRL WHO ENDED LIFE, HATING STUDY

Munhall High School mourns today as Victoria Jenkins, 16, lies in a coffin in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, 822 Ravine street, the victim of a bullet fired by her own hands to escape the mental tortures of forced attendance at classes.

The girl ended her life yesterday, the climax of an extended attempt to persuade her parents to permit her to quit school.

"Mother said I must go back to school. I would die first."

The notation was entered on March 13, while the written thoughts of a week ago today said:

"Dearest Diary: Today is the day of days for me. I was so disgusted with life I decided to end it all. I would have done it, Dear Diary, but fate would not have it so."

Yesterday E. M. Cox, truant officer, called at her home and ordered her return to school. Pleas with her mother were futile. Victoria went to her mother's room, obtained a revolver, locked herself in her room and shot herself.

She was found unconscious on the floor by her mother who was forced to break down the door. The girl died at the Homestead hospital.

Virginia was absent from school for the past two weeks owing to her younger brother, Rogers, 8, being confined with the measles.

SHATTERED TRIPLEX, FOUR-TON CAR, AT DAYTONA BEACH

Hurled from this car when it was traveling 202 miles per hour, Lee Bible, novice racer, was instantly killed. The car struck and killed a cameraman and after catapulting into the air after hitting sand dunes landed in this mass of wreckage at Daytona.

FORMER POLICEMAN, GIRL HELD AFTER WILD CHASE

Henry L. Cox, 32, of 4781 Yew street, former city motorcycle patrolman, was remanded to jail in default of $1,000 bail in Morals Court today, as the sequel to an automobile chase last night, in which he, according to testimony, figured as a forbidden suitor.

M. Bernard Kerr, Pitt student, of 942 Flemington street, testified that he and his father, Benjamin Kerr, had pursued his sister Mary Kerr, 25, who was in an automobile with Cox, through East End streets.

The chase ended, according to the younger Kerr when he crowded Cox's car to the curb at Forward and Murray avenues, and the father shattered the windshield of Cox's car with a club. Cox leaped from his car and drew a revolver, Kerr testified. All were arrested.

The elder Kerr had forbidden his daughter to go out with Cox, the younger Kerr said, because Cox is married, with three children.

Miss Kerr, a stenographer, and Cox are employed by the same firm, it was testified. The young woman refused to return home, because, she said, her father had ordered her out of the house. She was turned over to the matron at Central Station for further investigation. The two Kerr men were discharged.

LAWYERS AIM TO NULLIFY JONES LAW WITH JURIES

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP.)—A group of lawyers has organized to aid Jones law defendants, Frederick R. Coudert, Jr., chairman, one of four former assistant United States attorneys on the committee, explained its purpose as follows:

"It was felt that such a committee of lawyers might be helpful in aiding our juries to perform their invaluable functions in preserving civil liberties."

NULLIFICATION AIMED AT

"Since the sale of a glass of beer has been raised to the dignity of a felony, carrying penalities similar to those provided in this state for assault and manslaughter, it was thought wise to form a committee to assist those who have done nothing condemned by civilized society and who might be subject to such severe penalties.

"Aside from the law, the sale of intoxicants is not wrong. While it may be illegal, it cannot be made wrong by statute, as it is neither condemned by moral sentiment nor inherently dangerous to others. To endeavor to penalize such an act by the infliction of penalties hereto only applicable to the serious moral infractions brings the whole criminal law into contempt and handicaps its administration.

"We propose to right this measure with the same vigor as the New York bar displayed in the case of the enforcement act known as the fugitive slave law."

LIFE TERM LAW HIT

LANSING, Mich., March 15.—(AP.)—Michigan's "Life for a Pint" law received a vital blow yesterday. It now is probable that only transportation of liquor while armed will be left under the provisions of the habitual criminal law which makes a fourth offense punishable by life imprisonment.

The Senate judiciary committee holds a bill amending the state criminal code to exempt from life imprisonment under the habitual law all felonies which do not draw a maximum penalty of at least five years upon a first offense. The medium penalty for a first dry law violation now is two years. The amendment has administration support, already has been passed by the lower house and is expected to be approved in the Senate without serious opposition.

Today's Flagism

Andrew Jackson rough-and-ready American and an outstanding figure from among the list of American presidents, was born March 15, 1767. He was known as "Old Hickory" and his term in office proved him one of the most colorful characters of the rugged era in which he lived. On this date in 1781, the battle of Guilford Courthouse, N. C., was fought, with the American flag, as usual, victorious.

CHECKING CORPORATION TAX RETURNS

ELEVENTH-HOUR INCOME TAX RUSH

A squad of 40 deputy collectors under Internal Revenue Collector D. B. Heiner accomodated more than 8,000 income tax payers yesterday. Today the last minute rush is on and returns must be made before midnight. Hurry!

Wise Spending, Not Hoarding Real Thrift

Sun-Telegraph Encourages Savings Bank Depositors

To stimulate thrift, the Sun-Telegraph will deposit $10 to the credit of each of the bank books in the following list. If you hold one of these bank books, bring it to the Sun-Telegraph office, Gazette Square, and present it to Robert N. Laughlin, cashier.

Name of Bank.	Book No.
McGillick Savings & Trust Company.....	848
Colonial Trust Company.....	47,118
Workingman's Savings Bank & Trust Co..	14,269
Mellon National Bank.....	15,514
Homewood Peoples Bank.....	429
St. Clair Savings & Trust Company.....	1,351
Diamond National Bank.....	31,222
Pennsylvania Trust Company.....	20,290
American State Bank & Trust Company...	2,297
First National Bank at Pittsburgh.....	60,734

The books designated may be presented during business hours any time within a week, but not later than 5 p. m. Friday, March 22.

Any bank in Greater Pittsburgh having savings or thrift accounts may have its passbook numbers included in these thrift gift lists by a request from a bank official to the Sun-Telegraph Thrift Department.

Watch tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph for more information of interest to savings bank depositors.

Thrift does not mean to hoard money, but to avoid foolish expenditure and save something against the day of need. Misers are not truly thrifty.

MRS. MARY GILLEN

To promote thrift the Sun-Telegraph is depositing sums of money ranging from $50 to $5 to the credit of the holders of certain bank books. The recipients of some of these thrift gifts have found it desirable to spend the money, or part of it—but wise spending is not inconsistent with thrift.

Take the case of Mrs. Mary Gillen, of 66 St. Michael street, South Side, holder of book No. 25,867 of the Iron and Glass Dollar Savings Bank of Birmingham, to the credit of which a $10 deposit has been made. Mrs. Gillen's husband, John Gillen, a carpenter, has been out of work for three months. They have four children, ranging in age from two to 18 years. The Gillens have wisely drawn on their savings to tide them over the period of unemployment.

"We have had a saving account for 15 years," said Mrs. Gillen. "I don't know what we would have done without it."

Another recipient of a $10 thrift gift is Miss B. M. Perry, of 6708 Thomas boulevard, holder of bank book No. 42,893 of the Diamond National Bank.

William A. Kirtley, 15, of 20 Radium street, a student in the Perry High School, has received a $5 deposit as holder of bank book No. 1,340 of the Perry State Bank.

"Low Ceiling" Balks Endurance Aviatrix

OAKLAND, Cal., March 15.—(AP.)—A "low ceiling" yesterday prevented Louise McPhetridge, holder of the women's altitude record, from taking off from the Oakland airport in an attempt to break the existing endurance flight record for women. She announced that as soon as the weather cleared she would try to pass the record of 17 hours, 5 minutes and 37 seconds set by Miss Bobbie Trout, of Los Angeles.

Husband's Love Lost, Wife Seeks $500,000

NEW YORK, March 15.—(INS.)—A half million dollars is the amount of heart balm asked by Mrs. Mary E. Smith, wife of George W. Smith, head of the Royal Typewriter Company, for the theft of her husband's love. She wants this sum from Miss Helen Meade, whom she characterized as a "housebreaker." After a happily married life of twenty years, Mrs. Smith's complaint alleges, Miss Meade came into her husband's life and "induced him to leave me."

THOUSANDS PAY INCOME TAX; LAST DAY

Uncle Sam insists on your making your income tax payment for 1928 on or before midnight tonight.

To facilitate payments, a corps of 150 employes is on duty at the office of Collector of Internal Revenue D. B. Heiner in the Federal Building from 9 o'clock this morning until midnight.

MUST PAY TODAY

Whether you owe the government two cents or $10,000, payment must be made today, was the warning Heiner issued. As in previous years, the collector anticipates a record eleventh-hour rush of taxpayers to his office today.

All indications point to a record tax collection for 1928, one likely to exceed the collection for any previous year. Collections thus far, according to Heiner, are $1,000,000 over the amount collected for the same period last year. He attributed this increase to greater prosperity prevailing in the district.

THOUSANDS IN RUSH

More than 40 people were kept busy yesterday opening thousands of letters containing returns and checks. They expect to handle a record mail today. A company of 60 deputy collectors are aiding taxpayers in filling out returns.

A young woman filing her tax return yesterday discovered that she owed Uncle Sam only two cents. She wanted to know if she could pay her tax in quarterly installments.

"The law permits it," a deputy collector informed her.

"Well, I just wanted to make sure," she chuckled, and promptly handed the cashier two pennies.

Daughter Wed Year, Divorce Suit Reveals

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 15.—O. C. Noble, of 525 Allison avenue, this city, vice president of the Tygart Valley Glass Company, admitted yesterday that his daughter, Frances, 18, had been married a year ago to Henry Galbreath, of Kansas City, Mo., at Fulton, Mo., where both were college students. Mr. Noble was first apprised of his daughter's marriage, kept secret for a year, through notice of a divorce suit instituted by her husband on grounds of desertion.

Miss Noble and Galbreath, a medical student, were married early in 1928. Mrs. Galbreath did not return to college last September.

Recover Eckener Watch, Lost on Zep Visit

WASHINGTON, March 15.—(AP.)—A valuable silver watch lost by Knute Eckener, son of the commander of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, while in the United States with the Zeppelin, has been recovered by Federal authorities.

It was announced yesterday by the Department of Justice that the watch, believed to have been stolen between October 15 and 29 while the Zeppelin was at Lakehurst, N. J., was found in the possession of Sam Waldman, at Long Branch, N. J.

Waldman said he purchased the watch from two American sailors. It was identified by inscriptions which related that it had been presented to Eckener in connection with the building of the Graf Zeppelin.

MORIN SLATED FOR JOB ON COMPENSATION BOARD

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Word has come from semi-official quarters that former Representative John M. Morin, of Pittsburgh, is slated for appointment to the United States Employes' Compensation Commission in lieu of the assistant Secretaryship of War, for which he had been urged.

Morin's appointment, it is declared, may come any time, possibly today. The ofice pays a salary of $8,500 a year, or about the same as the other carries.

Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, called on President Hoover before his recent departure for Italy and urged the appointment of Morin as a member of the War Department under cabinet structure. The President, however, saw fit to give the post to an Oklahoma man, P. J. Hurley, of Tulsa.

While no information has come direct from the former Pittsburgh congressman who served for years as chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, it is thought that the commission assignment will be acceptable to him.

SNOOK TO 'QUIT' ATLANTA

WASHINGTON, March 15.—(INS.)—The resignation of John Snook, of Idaho, as warden of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, will be accepted, it was indicated today at the Department of Justice.

The intervention of Senator Borah in behalf of Snook apparently has failed to compromise the feud between Snook and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, over the use of "under-cover" agents as spies inside the Atlanta prison. The department, it was said, will back up Mrs. Willebrandt in the controversy, which means that Snook's "protest resignation" will be accepted.

A representative of the department told International News Service that the use of "under-cover" agents in federal penitentiaries was a "departmental policy" and that Mrs. Willebrandt was merely carrying it out when she sent a "spy" to the Atlanta penitentiary.

Buenos Aires Bars Ship in Fever Scare

BUENOS AIRES, March 15.—(AP.)—Because a stoker has yellow fever, the Munson liner American Legion has not been permitted to dock since her arrival Wednesday afternoon from New York. Passengers and crew have had to remain aboard until medical officers make a complete diagnosis of the case. Extraordinary official precautions are being taken here against yellow fever because of recent reports from Rio de Janeiro that cases of that disease had been recorded there.

TAX PENALTIES FOR FILM STARS

LOS ANGELES, March 15.—(AP.)—Continuing its operations against income tax counsellors who made alleged fradulent returns for their motion picture star clients, the government today sought the indictment by the federal grand jury of at least one more tax expert.

More screen celebraties, whose names were withheld, were called to testify before the grand jury as to methods pursued by the accused tax advisors in figuring returns.

Marjorie Berger, of Hollywood, was indicted several days ago for alleged falsifications in the tax statements of film notables.

United States Attorney S. W. McNabb said the government does not contemplate criminal proceedings against the film stars, but that they undoubtedly would be penalized heavily.

HOOVER OFFERS HIGH POST TO BOSTON MAN

BOSTON, March 15.—(AP.)—Benjamin Loring Young, former speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, has been offered the post of first assistant United States attorney general by President Hoover, and it is understood he will accept, according to the Boston Herald.

The offer was received while Mr. Young was attending the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Margaret Young Emmons, who died early in the week. Beyond admitting that he had received the offer, the former speaker, because of his bereavement, declined to discuss the matter.

Young, if he becomes first assistant attorney general, would succeed John Marshall of West Virginia, who has been at the head of the assistant attorneys general of the United States under both the late President Harding and President Coolidge.

Young is a leading member of the Massachusetts bar and an outstanding figure in Republican politics. Last year he resigned his post as referee in bankruptcy for Middlesex County to wage an unsuccessful fight as the Republican nominee for United States Senator. He lost to his Democratic opponent, Senator David I. Walsh. He was immediately reappointed to the post of referee in bankruptcy, which position he still holds.

Eaker Panama Flight Scheduled Tomorrow

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 15.—(AP.)—Capt. Ira C. Eaker, Army Air Corps pilot, who will attempt a dawn-to-dusk flight from Brownsville, Tex., to France Field, Panama Canal Zone, tomorrow, plans to make a return flight to Brownsville Sunday and then fly from Brownsville to Washington Monday. He will hop off at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning for Panama.

Queen Marie Plans Paris Visit to See Carol

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 15.—(AP.)—Dowager Queen Marie, who departed yesterday for Brittany with her daughter, Princess Ileana, altered her original itinerary in order to spend a few hours in Paris to exchange greetings with former Crown Prince Carol. It will be their first meeting since October, 1926, on the eve of the departure of the queen for the United States.

Carol telegraphed his mother that he greatly wished to see her and his sister. The queen explained to the correspondent of the Associated Press that the meeting would be purely a family one, without any political significance.

Carol gave up his rights to the throne now held under a regency by his son, Michael, in order that he might continue to live in Paris with Madame Lupescu, for whom he deserted Princess Helen.

TAX REFUNDS GET PUBLICITY

WASHINGTON, March 15.—In ordering pitiless publicity of federal tax refunds in excess of $20,000, President Hoover took a long stride in progressive policy which has been advocated for years in Congress.

In fact, the executive order, issued yesterday on recommendation of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, went far beyond what Congress asked in the provision of the first deficiency appropriation bill of the last session.

Such independents as Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, hailed the order as a "real progressive step," and even Senator Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, the Senate's richest man and arch foe of Mellon, declared it was "an advance in policy."

The McKellar amendment, which aroused a bitter fight in the Senate, originally provided for public hearings on refunds over $10,000. It was finally compromised to make public refunds over $20,000.

The President's order, however, provides for the publication of tax cases of abatements or credits, as well as refunds, and a brief summary of the facts for the action of the Treasury.

Under the present policy of the Treasury, all information concerning tax returns is guarded in strictest secrecy, and Secretary Mellon, in a letter to the President, made public with the order, said:

Edith Laidlaw Benet Will Marry Italian

ROME, March 15.—(INS.)—Mrs. Edith Laidlaw Benet, of New York, will marry Commendator Attilio Ferrucci, director of fine arts at the Academy of Rome, in New York some time next summer, friends said today. Mrs. Benet is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bedell Laidlaw, and sister of James L. Laidlaw, well-known banker.

Sheriff Has Rum For Sale, Law Blocks Way

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 15.—For sale—2,192 cases of pre-war liquor, seized in execution forced by the creditors of John T. Hoover, formerly a wealthy contractor here.

Sheriff Tom Aubrey has the liquor for sale and no doubt will have many willing buyers, but Uncle Sam's prohibition law blocks the way.

Mr. Hoover, who is noted as an African wild game hunter, inherited the liquor from his father, the late former Sheriff James Hoover. The liquor was seized when an effort was made to transport it to Pittsburgh and after much litigation, in which thousands of dollars were spent, Mr. Hoover again got possession of the liquor and had it stored in the government warehouse at Broadford. Creditors insisted upon a levy on the whisky. The sale soon will be advertised. Officials say if the 2,192 cases could be marketed the liquor would bring a quarter of a million dollars.

COUNCIL JOINS INCOME TAX CUT DRIVE

While Pittsburghers today are engaged in the final frantic rush to file their income tax returns, a formal protest from the City of Pittsburgh against the present rate of tax on earned incomes is being prepared by President of Council James F. Malone.

Pittsburgh's protest, in the form of a resolution, has been placed upon the calendar by President Malone for official action at Council's meeting Monday. A forecast of the opinions of the councilmen individually indicates the adoption of the resolution, which will be forwarded to Congress.

POPULAR MOVEMENT

"Speaking not for the Chamber of Commerce, but for myself and hundreds of other salaried men in traffic and transportation circles in the Pittsburgh district, I can say that 100 per cent of these men will join in the appeal for a revision downward of taxes on earned incomes. This is the most popular movement the Sun-Telegraph ever espoused and it deserves to win."

Donald O. Moore

PITTSBURGH LEADS

Pittsburgh, according to Mr. Malone, will be the first city in the country to make a formal appeal to the federal government to reduce the tax on earned incomes.

"In presenting this resolution before Council I feel that I am only doing my duty on behalf of a great body of our constituents, and that it is an extremely pleasant duty," said Mr. Malone today. "We all know that our taxes are heavy enough, but in city and state taxes we can see what is being done with the money, and can observe public improvements in progress. In local taxes also every citizen has the right of appeal if he thinks the taxes excessive.

"But the individual professional man and wage earner must pay arbitrarily the amount of income tax levied against him.

"If he has paid out more than he has earned for necessities, physician's bills through illness in his family or through other causes, he must pay an income tax even though the end of the year may find him deeply in debt. He must pay or go to jail. It is manifestly unjust.

FAIRNESS URGED

"On invested capital the income taxpayer is privileged to charge off losses and depreciation and protect himself with other exemptions. Professional men, salaried people and wage earners who actually create much of the country's wealth should be relieved of this burdensome taxation."

CONGRESS CAN RESTORE WINE AND BEER, BECK HOLDS

LEGAL GUIDE FOR ENTRIES IN TEMPERANCE CONTEST

By FRANCIS J. TIETSORT

Having a direct bearing on the actual legal powers of Congress to enact ameliorative and modifying legislation on prohibition, regardless of the Eighteenth Amendment and to show that a proper plan submitted in the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest may have legislative power to support it, are the subjoined facts. They will furnish a guide to all contestants in the big prize competition.

Maurice E. Harrison, formerly dean of the Hastings Law College of the University of California, now president of the San Francisco Bar Association and known as a leading constitutional lawyer on the Pacific Coast, was recently asked to answer specific questions on the powers of Congress. He is a member of the law firm of Brobeck, Phleger and Harrison, San Francisco.

His replies, and they have been approved by James M. Beck, former Solicitor General of the United States and ranked as one of America's greatest constitutional lawyers, are appended:

"It is our opinion that Congress has the power at the present time, irrespective of the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, to enact such legislation that the manufacture, importation, transportation and sale of light wines, cider and malt beverages can immediately be resumed throughout the United States without any possibility of criminal prosecution or injunction proceedings, excepting only where these acts are prohibited by state or local laws.

Congress' Powers

"No opinion is intended to be expressed herein as to the policy or advisabilty of the legislation under discussion, but this opinion is confined to the legal power of Congress in the premises and the effect of possible action on its part. Our answers to your specific questions are as follows:

"Question 1: Can Congress now enact legislation under which there can be no penalty or punishment for the manufacture, transportation and sale of light wines, cider and malt beverages throughout the United States, except in states that prohibit these beverages by state or local laws?

"Answer: Yes.

"Question 2: Would it be necessary to repeal or amend the Eighteenth Amendment before Congress could enact and put into effect the legislation mentioned in the last question?

"Answer: No.

"Question 3: Can Congress enact this legislation in such form that the manufacture, transportation and sale of light wines, cider and malt beverages cannot be prevented or delayed, in states where these acts are not prohibited by state laws, by injunction proceedings or court order?

"Answer: Yes.

"Question 4: Would the repeal of the Volstead act and the immediate enactment of a new enforcement law, prohibiting only distilled liquor and fortified wine, have the legal effect referred to in questions 1 and 2?

"Answer: Yes.

Can Collect Taxes

"Question 5: If Congress should enact the legislation described in Question 4 would the United States government be able, without further legislation, to collect the import duties and internal revenue taxes on light wines and malt beverages?

"Answer: Yes.

"Question 6: Can Congress at any time hereafter increase or lower to any extent it may please, the present rates of import duties and internal revenue taxes on light wines and malt beverages?

"Answer: Yes.

"Question 7: In order to accomplish the results specified in questions 1 and 3, is it necessary that a new enforcement act should fix any limit of alcoholic content or declare that light wines, cider and malt beverages are not intoxicating?

"Answer: No.

"Question 8: If Congress should enact the legislation described in Question No. 4, could anyone be enjoined or prosecuted under the Eighteenth Amendment or any Federal prohibition law for manufacturing, transporting or selling light wines, cider or malt beverages?

"Answer: No.

"Question 9: If Congress should enact the legislation described in Question No. 4, would the shipment of light wines, cider and malt beverages from wet states into dry states be prohibited under existing Federal laws?

"Answer: Yes, by the Webb-Kenyon law, enacted by Congress in 1913.

Can Repeal Dry Act

By way of further comment on the above replies to your questions with regard to the power of Congress to act on the subject of prohibition while the Eighteenth Amendment remains in force, we beg to submit the following as our opinion:

(A.) The Eighteenth Amendment provides no penalty or punishment and, therefore, unless an enforcement act prohibits any particular beverage, the manufacture, sale, etc., of that beverage cannot be punished or prevented by court action.

"(B) Congress has the power to repeal the Volstead act as well as any other laws enacted by Congress by a majority vote and in case of presidential veto to override by a two-thirds vote.

"(C) After having repealed the Volstead act, Congress would have the legal power to enact, by majority of vote as above stated, an enforcement act prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation, and transportation of only distilled liquor and fortified wines; and would have the power to override the veto of such an act by the executive in the manner above stated. If the Volstead act were repealed and such a new act adopted, no punishment could be inflicted by any Federal court for the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation or transportation of light wines and beer or other beverages not coming within the prohibitory provisions of the new act.

"(D) If the Volstead act were repealed and if Congress thereupon or thereafter, enacts a new law, such as is described in the last preceding paragraph, no suit could be maintained either by the government or by private individuals for an injunction against the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation or transportation of light wine or beer.

"(E) If the Volstead act were repealed, no court proceeding could be maintained to compel Congress to enact any prohibition enforcement act whatever."

Philippines Wet

Dean Harrison declared that in connection with this general subject, attention should be called to the fact that Congress has expressly exempted from the provisions of the national prohibition act the Panama Canal and railroad, and has made no provision for the enforcement of prohibition in the Philippine Islands.

In addition, the government has, since the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, entered into treaties, which, by removing all punishment, in effect sanction and allow the shipping of all classes of liquor, including distilled liquor, within our ports aboard foreign ships, though the importation and transportation of such liquor is prohibited by the Eighteenth Amendment.

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

POLLUTION BILL LOSES O. K. OF BUSINESS MEN

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, by a unanimous vote of its directors, has revoked its approval of the McCrossan bill barring stream pollution.

According to information laid before the directors, certain powers formerly exercised only with the consent of the Attorney General of the state would be conferred by the bill upon county solicitors. This, it was said, would enable county solicitors to compel defendants in stream pollution proceedings to answer in the courts of any county instituting proceedings no matter how remote the county might be, and allow the solicitor of a single county to tie up a large part of the industries of up-river counties for an indefinite period without just cause. The directors referred the measure back to committee for further study and recommendation.

On recommendation of the general traffic committee, the board also adopted a resolution opposing the Pethick bill, proposing an amendment to the Pennsylvania public service law requiring transportation companies to give 30 days' notice of intention to change their tariffs in addition to the 30 days now required in their formal presentation of such tariffs.

The directors also adopted a resolution recommending that City Council make a study of the widening of Fifth avenue from Sixth avenue east, and the transforming of Colwell street into a four-line vehicular boulevard.

JAILED UNTIL HE SPEAKS

Pleading guilty to maintaining gambling devices in the Evergreen Hotel, Harold Woods was sentenced to pay a $50 fine and was paroled for a year by Judge James B. Drew in Criminal Court. Woods was remanded to jail when he refused to tell who installed the machines.

After an hour there, he was returned to court and named Emil Steiner. Steiner was convicted several days ago on the same charge and is awaiting sentence.

Milton, W. Va., Water Supply Condemned

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 15.—Large placards warning the public against the water supply at Milton have been erected in highways by state health department officials. Recent investigations by department engineers have shown that the water supply is "unsafe and a menace to public health," according to health officials, who declare that town officials have failed to comply with recommendations of the state health department. Mud River is the source of the supply, and there is no filtration system.

Disabled Vets to Get Copper from Stills

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 15.—The disabled war veterans in the United States Hospital at Aspinwall will get hundreds of pounds of copper from stills seized in Fayette County liquor raids. At the request of Sheriff Tom Aubrey the court made this order. The copper is to be flattened into sheets and shipped to Aspinwall, where the veterans will make knives and souvenirs from it.

CANAL SURVEY FORCE BEING FORMED

WASHINGTON, March 15.— Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of Army Engineers, has begun organization of the field force to survey a route for an interoceanic canal across Nicaragua.

He expects to announce the personel and arrange for the necessary transportation and supplies within the next few days.

Gen. Jadwin was out of the city when the bill authorizing the survey was enacted by Congress. Returning yesterday, he immediately began work on the preliminary plans. He consulted with his assistants as to the number of men necessary, the nature of supplies and time required to complete the task.

TO ACT SPEEDILY

He will select engineers who have had vast experiences in Panama and who are accustomed to life in the tropics. He has not definitely decided upon the number of officers but it will be sufficient to complete the task as quickly as possible, so that any recommendations decided upon may be promptly submitted to Congress.

Since the State, War and Navy Departments and every official who has studied the problem, including President Hoover, believe the canal to be essential, it is a foregone conclusion that when the party of engineers land in Nicaragua, it will mark the first step in one of the greatest undertakings of all time.

PLANES TO BE USED

All of the data gathered by previous commissions, including a detailed survey of the proposed route, will be carefully studied, but a new survey will be necessary. In the former project, the locks, depth and width of the canal were all much smaller than will be required for the larger ships of the present. These changes may make it desirable to take a new route in several instances.

There will be an entirely new element in the survey as contrasted with the Panama survey. Then the engineers had to cut their way laboriously through the jungles. Now airplanes will be used in the preliminary work and from the aerial photographs engineers will be able to select the most advantageous route.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services.

We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed and they seldom have a new opportunity for the accumulation of savings which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income, as distinguished from earnings on capital, and, since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on earned incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

Greene Tax Rate Stands at 8 Mills

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 15.—The Greene County commissioners yesterday fixed the 1929 millage for Greene County at eight mills. This is the same figure which has prevailed for the past two years. The total property valuation of the county in 1928 was $60,245,774, according to assessors' reports.

Fires Destroy Vast Cuban Sugar Fields

HAVANA, March 15.—(AP.)—First estimates of huge losses resulting from fire in Camaguey and Oriente cane fields reached here yesterday. At the same time it was stated that a cane cutter, Jose Rodriguez, had been arrested on charges of setting a fire. According to a telegram from Central Violeta, its crop will be reduced 550,000 bags due to fires which already have destroyed more than 32,500,000 pounds of sugar cane. Reports from Preston and Banes said that vast cane properties have been laid waste by flames. Cattle ranchers estimated their losses at well up into the thousands.

Stillman Hearing Delayed for Week

NEW YORK, March 15.—(INS.)—The first day of spring, March 21, will see the court revival of the famous Stillman domestic tribulations. Adjournment of the slander suit for $500,000 brought against James A. Stillman, banker, by Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, was agreed upon yesterday.

At that date, argument will be made by the defendant for a change of venue. Counsel for Beauvais also will argue an order to show cause why the plaintiff should not be permitted to serve an amended complaint making Mrs. Florence Leeds a co-defendant.

SCHOOL PUPILS JOIN RAILROAD SAFETY DRIVE

Children of public and parochial schools are being asked to join a safety-first crusade of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad in an effort to save the lives of the children and prevent wrecks and damage to the railroad's property.

Dr. William M. Davidson, superintendent of Pittsburgh schools; officials of the Boy Scouts and other agencies, have promised assistance. Two wrecks, caused during the past year by boyish pranks; the death and injury of a number of children; injury to passengers and damage to property are behind the drive.

2 Held for Stealing And Wrecking 3 Cars

Charged with the theft of three automobiles which they are alleged to have wrecked and abandoned, Theodore Wagner, 24, and Andrew Springfield 26, of Glendale, were lodged in the county jail today in default of bail. They were held by Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie, after Chief of Police Frank Nutbrown, of Glendale, testified that they had stolen two autos in Carnegie and another in the Washington pike. The machines were recovered.

DUSS, HARMONY SOCIETY HEAD, IN HOSPITAL

John S. Duss, former president of the Harmony Society colony of celibates that developed the town of Economy, is recovering from a severe illness in the West Penn Hospital. He has been confined there for 10 days.

Duss has long been one of the interesting figures in American life, not only because of his large part in the community of Good's Experiment at Economy, but also because of his musical compositions and his activity as a bandmaster. For two seasons he conducted the Metropolitan Grand Opera Orchestra at Madison Square Garden in New York. His home is at New Smyrna, Fla., but he has been spending part of each year at Economy in the atmosphere in which he was reared.

Sears-Roebuck Buys Site in Washington

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 15.—Public announcement has been made here of the purchase of property at 31-33 East Chestnut street, in the heart of the business district, on which will be erected a three-story building by the Sears-Roebuck Company. The property was purchased from the First Lutheran Church, which bought the ground years ago as a church site. This is the first store to be located in this county by the Sears-Roebuck Company. Montgomery Ward Company is building at Donora.

$3,497,522 AID FOR MOTHERS HELD VITAL

Mrs. Marcus Spiro, president of the Mothers' Assistance Fund of Allegheny County, made it plain today that in her opinion the Legislature would be committing a grievous mistake if it should reduce the appropriation for the fund provided in Senator Frank J. Harris' bill.

She pointed out that because of inadequate appropriation, 1,900 families, including 6,000 children, were on the Mothers' Assistance Fund waiting list throughout the state on May 31 last, and added that it was sometimes necessary for an eligible family to wait two years before it could obtain help.

$3,479,522 NEEDED

"Senator Harris' bill," said Mrs. Spiro, "carries an appropriation of $3,497,522 for the Mothers' Assistance Fund of Pennsylvania. It carries the full appropriation required to meet the calculated need on the basis of the present law, which provides $20 for the first child under 16 and $10 for each additional child in families where the father is dead or permanently insane. The bill also carries a new method of allocation.

"The Mothers' Assistance Fund act was passed in Pennsylvania in 1913. At almost every session of the Legislature the fund has been increased. In 1927 the appropriation was increased from $1,750,000 to $2,750,000. These increases in the appropriation have in part met the need, but the law will not have been fully put into effect until there is no longer a waiting list.

5,300 FAMILIES AIDED

"On May 31, 1928, there were 5,300 families, including 17,000 children, under the care of the Mothers' Assistance Fund throughout the state. At the same time there were 1,900 families, including 6,000 children, in the waiting list. This waiting list continues to grow, and if there is no increase in the appropriation at this session of the Legeislature, it will be necessary for some families to wait more than three years before they can be aided."

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Hands

Many women will be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands regardless of the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally, preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties, whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands, as they are really the true marks of refinement. A few applications of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

Mrs. J. Page, Steubenville, Ohio, writes the following interesting letter:

"After we had been married a little over a year my husband grew cross and irritable. He seemed to take no pleasure in our pretty new home and no comfort in the love I longed to give him. Like other young wives I was at first hurt and puzzled, and wondered if perhaps he was being stolen from me by some other woman. But no good wife will make this mistake for long.

"I soon realized that the trouble was caused wholly by the strain of his work, which was undermining his nervous system. He suffered constantly from bad headaches, and many nights he was so restless that he could not sleep. After eating, his stomach would swell up with gas and he had to take different kinds of physics all the time in order to get his bowels to move. In the mornings he would get up tired and shaky and cross, everything seemed to be going from bad to worse. When a friend told me about World's Tonic and how this famous new remedy is compounded from herbs grown in their natural state in different parts of the world, she gave me new hope. I knew that the herbs and plants of the field have powers to help suffering humanity—particularly the mysterious part of our body called the nervous system. I realized that World's Tonic, made as it is, could bring strengthening benefit to my husband, even though other medicines had proved quite useless.

"I got a bottle of World's Tonic at the drug store, and, of course, expected good results. However, I was astonished and amazed at how quickly his condition improved.

"My husband was better after the first dose. The cleansing action of the medicine soon cleared his system of the poisons which had been irritating his nerves. The strengthening elements of natural herbs built up the tissues which had been frayed and worn down by overwork. At the end of about three weeks, he was his old self again. Nowadays, I think I am the happiest wife in town and we both know that we owe our happiness to World's Tonic."

World's Tonic is on sale at all Dow Stores (formerly McCulloch), and other modern drug stores. (A-71)

FLAG CONTEST UNIT ENTRIES CLOSE TODAY

Only applications mailed today for conducting contest units in the flag contest of the United States Flag Association can be accepted by the Sun-Telegraph. March 15 has been announced previously as the closing date for applicants.

Approximately 60,000 boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18 throughout Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia are entered in the regional contest being sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. The success of the flag contest has exceeded all expectations.

Schools, clubs, Boy or Girl Scout troops and patriotic organizations can conduct contest units. Each unit must be made up of at least 25 boys or girls.

A trip around the world, with all expenses paid, spending money and wardrobe furnished, awaits the two boys and the two girls chosen as winners of the national contest. Regional winners also will receive worthwhile awards. They will be taken on a trip to Washington, D. C., and on a patriotic pilgrimage throughout the eastern states. They will also receive the Cross of Honor of the United States Flag Association and a $200 scholarship.

Materials, instructions and suggestions for conducting a flag contest unit may be obtained upon application to the Flag Contest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. But all applications must be mailed no later than today.

KONJOLA ENDED STOMACH MISERY AFTER 4 YEARS

Remarkable Recovery Reported by Former Sufferer—Gained Relief in Week and Half.

"Konjola brought me complete recovery after all hope was gone." Time and time again this glad expression finds its way into the written or spoken indorsements of Konjola, the new medicine. What encouragement this should be for all who suffer and who seek in vain for relief from the clutches of disease. How Konjola with its 32 body-cleansing, health-giving, pain-banishing ingredients, performs these seeming wonders, when all else tried has failed, is being explained daily by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company, (formerly McCulloch's) Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh. Here all those who meet the Konjola Man, learn of the powers and feats this master medicine, will be shown actual, proved, verified facts Konjola's splendid powers. Those who seek health through Konjola, with its juices of 22 roots and herbs, are not asked to listen to mere promises. Konjola is a medicine of deeds, not words. Here is a typical case of Konjola at work. Read every word of the statement of Mr. William Lutz, Oakdale, Pa., a short distance from Pittsburgh, as he said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"What a glorious thing it is to have my health again after suffering for four years, and I owe it all to the merits of this splendid medicine, Konjola. All my troubles came from the extremely disordered condition of my stomach. I was unable to find a bit of food that digested right. Immediately after eating I began to suffer from gas bloating and severe pains in the pit of my stomach. At times I got so dizzy that it was necessary to hold onto something to keep from falling. Spots appeared before my eyes and made objects dim in front of me. With all this trouble I was unable to sleep well at night.

"When I first heard of Konjola and when it was recommended to me, I was inclined to laugh at the idea of it benefiting me. But my case became so bad that, like a drowning man, clutching at a straw, I took the opportunity to give Konjola a trial. Well, this medicine turned out to be a great deal more than a straw—it gave me a firm foothold on the glorious road to health. Within a week and a half I knew that I would soon be a well man again. Konjola went to work at the very source of my ailments—it cleansed my system and regulated my organs. My stomach functions perfectly now and food never causes the slightest distress. I have sound, refreshing sleep at night and with a good appetite, I have gained in strength and energy. Konjola accomplished in a few weeks what all other medicine failed to do in four years. It is worthy of the highest praise."

Thus does Konjola work in every case—those that are stubborn and of years duration. It is a medicine that performs, not promises. Konjola contains no alcohol, nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such hazardous ingredients.

The Konjola man is at the Dow Drug Company, (formerly McCulloch's) Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Deserts Wife, Babies Following Long Hike

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., March 15.—Homeless and distracted after hiking to Dover from Tennessee, Mrs. Esther Hooks, 20, and her two children, aged four years and two months have found a refuge in Tuscarawas County Detention Home. John Hooks, the woman's husband, who accompanied them, deserted his family after their arrival here and a warrant has been issued for his arrest. The Hooks formerly lived in Dover.

Padlocks on Farrell, Sharon Clubs Asked

MERCER, Pa., March 15.—As the result of recent raids on the Farrell Moose and Sharon Maennerchor clubs, District Attorney Leo H. McKay has asked that the clubs be padlocked. He claims that when County Detective Samuel Leyshock went to inspect the clubs recently he was forced to wait before being admitted and that there was an odor of liquor in the places. He said trustees of the organizations previously had promised that no liquor would be handled.

Avoid Indigestion

Indigestion is a danger signal of oncoming troubles such as colds, sick headache, rheumatism, sour stomach, dizziness and chronic dyspepsia.

The instant you get the first signal of gas, sourness or dizziness—take ACIDINE at once. Your troubles will be relieved immediately. Your druggist knows its worth and will return your money if you don't find it the best relief for all these troubles you have ever had.

U. S. TO REJECT DRUG 'FEE;' TIGHTER RULES INDICATED

WASHINGTON, March 15.—"Settled—for cash."

The hopes of a Washington physician that these words would be written across his case, involving charges of narcotic violations, were blasted yesterday by officials of the Treasury Department.

Dr. M. Clarence Dollman, the physician, wants to compromise with the government, and sent his check for $500 to the collector of internal revenue in Baltimore. The check was cashed.

Officials of the department who review such cases strongly intimated, however, that the doctor's offer would be rejected. This decision indicates a tightening by the Treasury Department of the regulations under which physicians, who may even prescribe drugs too recklessly to patients, may settle for cash and escape prosecution in court.

DOCTOR INDICTED

Dr. Dollman is under indictment of three counts on charges that he "did unlawfully, wilfully, knowingly and feloniously sell, barter, exchange and give away derivatives and salts of opium, to-wit, 25 one-quarter grain hypodermic tablets of heroin hydrochloride, to one Lorraine Horner."

He also is a star witness for the government in the trial of Mrs. Horner, socially prominent, on charges of having forged and raised Dollman's prescriptions. Testimony revealed that Dollman issued 222 drug prescriptions to Mrs. Horner in a period of a few months.

Dollman's case is typical of hundreds of others that come before the Treasury. Last year the government permitted 1,221 cases to be compromised for cash. From all over the country protests have been made against this practice and Treasury officials have announced that no cases will be compromised where they believe criminal intent is shown by the violator.

DOCUMENT PRODUCED

At the trial yesterday, counsel for Mrs. Horner demanded that Dollman's offer be submitted to the court. The district attorney at first objected, arguing that the transaction was confidential, but following sharply critical language by the court, the document was produced.

The court remarked that from the fact that Dollman had submitted an offer it was a logical assumption that he didn't "want to take the risk of being found guilty."

In his offer, written on a regular Treasury form, Dollman told of his indictment on charges of "issuing and dispensing three prescriptions to Mrs. Stanley Horner not in the course of his professional practice only."

As a mitigating circumstance for dropping the case upon the payment of $500, Dollman related his "willingness to appear as a witness for the government in the prosecution of the principal defendant."

When on stand today, Dollman was handed a large packet of prescriptions for dope. He admitted he didn't know specifically where, when or to whom he gave them.

E. Pittsburgh Girl, Ill, Collapses in Street

Collapsing from illness in front of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company office in East Pittsburgh last night, Anna McHugh, 23, of 524 Center street, East Pittsburgh, was taken by police to Braddock General Hospital, where physicians said her condition was not serious. Miss McHugh was recovering from an operation performed several weeks ago, it was said at the hospital.

Officer Catches Man In Half-Mile Chase

Captured after a half-mile chase through the Oakland district, Lawrence Phillips, 23, of 823 Phineas street, was lodged in the Oakland police station as a suspicious person last night. Phillips, according to his captor, Patrolman John Flannagan, attempted to lure Florence Hoffman, 9, of 224 Meyran avenue, into a vacant dwelling in Atwood street, and fled when he saw Flannagan.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A NEW MODE.

Rippling flounces and a becoming neck line are outstanding features of this style. The front is cut in two sections that meet in split curves. The flounces are set on below the hips. The sleeve is a fitted model. A smart tie trims the neck at the gathered fulness of the front. Printed linen was used in this instance. One could use crepe de chine, or printed crepe. This is also a good design for cotton prints, and for pongee.

The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 5 1-6 yards of 40 inch material. The width at the lower edge of the dress is 48 inches. At the lower edge of the lower flounce it is about 2½ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

INTERNATIONAL DE MOLAYS MEET HERE

Broader activities toward aiding the Order of DeMolay is the chief business before delegates to the International DeMolay Alumni conference which opened today in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. for a two-day session. Representatives from throughout the United States and Canada are in attendance.

International President Louis G. Lower opened the first session which preceded an auto trip to the Munhall works of the Carnegie Steel Company. Following an address of welcome by George N. Scheid, of Tarentum, delegates heard the annual reports of the president and Secretary A. C. Tatlock.

Appointments of committees and an open discussion featured the session this afternoon. The chief discussion had as its object the finding of a definite program through which the alumni association can increase its membership, thereby extending its work in aiding DeMolay chapters in civic efforts.

A Good Fellowship banquet in Kaufmann's dining room will be tonight's feature, while two sessions tomorrow will include election of officers and reports of committees. This conference will be followed by the annual meeting of the Grand Council which opens Monday for two days. Delegates of the conference and council will be joined by local DeMolay members at a devotional day program Sunday afternoon in the German Evangelical Protestant Church, Smithfield street. A parade from the City-County Building to the church at 3:15 o'clock will precede the services.

COURT UPHOLDS SCHOOL PRICE

Hampton Township is to have a new $55,000 central school building on Butler Plank road in the rear of Wildwood Presbyterian Church.

Judge Harry H. Rowand, in Common Pleas Court, today denied a permanent injunction and dissolved a temporary restraint issued February 5 against the school commissioners. The action was brought by H. T. Adams "and other taxpayers" who alleged that $7,000 paid for the property and the architect's plan of a $48,000 building was extravagant.

"The question of necessity and location are matters within the sound jurisdiction of the school board and the court will not interfere," Judge Rowand said in his decision.

New Airplane Firm Here Gets Charter

Brilliant Airways, Inc., agents in the Pittsburgh district for the entire line of Curtiss airplanes, motors and accessories, was granted a charter today in Harrisburg. The company is incorporated for $150,000. J. Howard Johnson, of 1201 King avenue, Pittsburgh, is named treasurer in the application. At the aircraft show, where the company has a plane on display, it was said that Hal Bazley, Bettis Field pilot instructor, will be in charge of flying activities.

Woman Found Guilty In Wampum Killing

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 15.—A jury in the case of Bessie Moore, Negro, on trial for the past few days on a charge of murdering William Jones, Negro, of Wampum, returned a verdict of second-degree murder yesterday. The jury had been out 12 hours. The case was tried before Judge R. L. Hildebrand. The penalty is from 12 to 20 years.

Always—a Perfect Wave

By Edna Wallace Hopper

NOW you can have the thrill of a lovely, natural-looking wave that will soften your features. So much depends upon a soft expression. The captivating face is vivacious, but it must be framed by a caressing wave. A rigid, "corrugated" wave has a hardening effect, which no one admires.

To give your hair the pliability that is necessary for a flattering wave, I want you to try my Wave and Sheen. It is more than a curling fluid. It not only sets a permanent in the shortest possible time but can be used just as well if you curl your own hair, as I do. My hair must always look at its best—my daily appearance on the stage demands it. Starring as a flapper in my sixties is a startling roll. So whatever else I do I must look young. And one of my greatest assets is the sheen of my hair. It simply glows with life. In fact, the first comments my audiences make are about my hair.

The Very Smart Ear-Tab Hat

Is Well Represented in the Easter Group

$7.50

Straw Felt Straw-With-Felt

(McCreery's—Fourth Floor)

1929's Silhouette in Foundation Garments

$10.

Easter ensembles will be just as smart as their foundation lines. New corsets show adroitly confined curves. For all types, a number of new one-piece foundations are developed in surra suede and silk webbing. The new uplift bust line and swathed hips. Peach shades to match undergarments.

Other Models Up to $16.50

(McCreery's—Fourth Floor)

Again . . . the Latest Hosiery Mode!

"Bare-Legged" Chiffon Silk Stockings

Without a Seam . . . No Heel Line . . .

$1.35

The influence of the sun-tan colorings is seen in this illusory chiffon stocking which is . . . . and yet seems that it is not . . . fitting so snugly one can "barely" tell. Beautifully woven, with no seams and no heel line visible.

Blonde and brunette skin tones . . . match your own complexion and be first with this smart new fashion.

Men's and Young Men's

New Easter Suits and Topcoats

SUITS WITH EXTRA TROUSERS

Outstanding in Quality and Tailoring

Suits

Tailored to our high standard of workmanship, these are suits that would regularly sell at a far higher price. Smartly cut, in neat checks, stripes and herringbones . . . silver-grey, tan, black and white mixtures.

Topcoats

Coats of character . . . superbly tailored of sturdy fabrics. Plain colors of tan, brown and grey, checks, mixtures and herringbones. Raglan or set-in sleeve models. A value at $35.

The Easter Fashion Picture in Style Apparel for Spring

Chiffon Frocks and Ensembles

$25.00

Fluttering—drifting—delicate chiffon, a flattering fashion for the new "feminine" woman. Good for right now—good for the whole Summer long. Dress sketched, just unpacked from shipping tissue, is the first model showing the new "half" bertha. A symphony in grey with black and rose accents.

The new "Dressmaker" Ensemble, sketched, in which a wispy chiffon jacket whose scalloped edge follow the trailing line of the gown's tiered skirt.

Other Frocks and Ensembles . . . Chiffons . . . Silk Crepes . . . Georgettes . . . Prints . . . Satins . . . Dots . . . Pastels.

Spring Coats for Dress and Sports

Furs With a Different Manner

$49.50

Never before have the flat furs been contrived into such captivating fashions—bows . . . scarfs . . . cravats . . . drapings. The dress coat sketched has broadtail cleverly bowed at the very back of the modified Chanel collar. $49.50. Furred Sports and Travel Coats also at this price.

Wolf . . . Fox . . . Monkey . . . Fitch . . . Broadtail . . . Ombre Krimmer . . . Mole

Unfurred Coats, $25.

Blue anadyr coat, sketched, has the very smart quilted taffeta collar—a present success at fashionable resorts.

All With Full Lining of Crepe or Satin

Easter Apparel for the Junior Miss Has Youthful Sophistication

Ensembles

$25.

A dashing, youthful emphasis all their own to junior misses' ensembles in the McCreery Easter collection. The candy stripe navy satin ensemble (sketched) has the new "dressmaker" type blouse in smart off-white with a pearly pink cast. Bright accents of cherry.

Sports Coats

$39.50

Flattering fur is the style feature of many debonair sports coats in novelty weaves. Ocelot—a favorite of the fashionable leopard family—trims the beige coat (sketched). Indicative of other swagger models which have wolf in vogue shades and shaded krimmer.

Weather Conditions.

A well defined disturbance, or low pressure area, is centered over Illinois this morning and covers the entre central valley section. Lowest barometer is 29.38 inches, at St. Louis. The disturbance is producing cloudy weather over most of the interior of the country, and light to moderately heavy rains over the Central and Lower Mississippi Valley states, and heavy rains in Alabama and Georgia.

High pressure covers the Northern Rocky Mountain states, but there is no cold weather except in Wyoming, where the temperature ranges from 10 to 12 degrees. For the country as a whole, the temperatures are mostly above normal.

Druggist Saves $112 on His Clothes

Mr. A. M. Belford, Ph. G., recently proprietor of the Belford Drug Stores, New York, recommends SAVON CLOTHES in these words: "Thirty-five dollars was the least I ever paid for a suit. Naturally I was sceptical about $12.75 clothes. Out of curiosity I tried a SAVON suit and I am altogether pleased with it. At this rate I will save about $112 a year on my clothes."

A. M. Belford

Every garment consists of preshrunk, all wool cloth, careful tailoring, new spring patterns and styles at one price—$12.75. The 45-store buying power of America's original and largest chain of its kind makes possible these irresistible values. Sizes 31 to 48.

ASTROLOGY

WHAT THE STARS FORETELL FOR 1929

I want to send you the most remarkable Astrological Forecast you have ever read. Covering the events in your life during 1929—what the year holds in store for you.

If you were born in June, July, October or December, your affairs have been upset and unsettled for the past ten months—ex planetary vibrations have been against you.

The stars hold a warning for those born in January and November, while those born in June and August will come under the most favorable aspects during 1929, if they but know how to take advantage of these good periods. Why not let the stars point the way?

My fee for an Astrological Reading covering 12 pages, is $1.00, dealing with business matters, change of employment, speculation, buying and selling stocks and bonds, love, courtship, marriage, travel, health, accidents, lucky days, etc.

Make no changes until you have consulted YOUR HEAD-ING for 1929. It may alter the whole course of your life. Order now.

Send $1.00 and full date of birth. You will be more than pleased.

Second Shipment Arrives!

We are not permitted to mention the manufacturer's name due to this price, which is under all others—but you will recognize the set the moment you see it. Fully guaranteed--at practically HALF PRICE tomorrow!

This set is licensed under patents of RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA, General Electric Company, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and American Telephone and Telegraph Company — One of the best Receivers ever made.

Thank You, Pittsburgh!

Your response to our efforts to provide what we consider to be a most remarkable radio value has been both swift and generous. It took "nerve" as well as purchasing power to buy 800 sets outright, but we knew we had a winner and we were pretty certain you would recognize this, too! And so you have—

These sets are from one of the industry's largest and most prominent manufacturers. There was one provision in this sale, however, that we would not mention the name in advertising this phenomenal value. Thousands of sets have been sold the country over at nearly double our low price. It is the greatest value, to our knowledge, ever offered in a known and guaranteed AC Electric Receiver. It is completely equipped with guaranteed accessories, ready for use. The first shipment sold out in less than two days—the second shipment may not last as long—surely you will not want to miss this money-saving opportunity to provide your home with the countless joys of a Radio.

Delivery Made in Sequence of Orders Received!

It is absolutely impossible at the rate orders are rolling in, to promise delivery other than this, which is fair to everyone—it simply means that the sooner you place your order, the sooner you will have your radio to enjoy.

FANNIE BRICE, JULIUS TANNEN ON RADIO

MUSIC, COMEDY, TRAVEL FEATURES CROWD AIR

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

JULIUS TANNEN, the human chatterbox, who was heard less than two weeks ago over WCAE during the Davis Jubilee, will be master of ceremonies tonight on the Vodevil hour over WJAS at 8:30 o'clock. His honor guest will be none other than Fannie Brice.

"I'm Bringing You a Red, Red Rose," from "Whoopee," will be sung by Evelyn Hoey, musical comedy star, on the Review, KDKA, at 9.

WCAE will offer the Cavaliers in Gems from "Good News" at 8 p. m. Senators Fletcher and McMaster will be heard at 10:30 o'clock.

If you have a desire to travel you may visit Texas, Mexico, Paris and Old Man Donaldson's strange lands.

An unusual opportunity for dramatic effect will be the Mary and Bob adventure at Kelly Field, Tex., at 9 p. m. through WJAS. The Black Cat Cabaret in Paris will be visited by the WCAE audience at the same hour, while Gwendolyn and Mortimer will go through a hair-raising adventure with bandits through WJAS at 8 p. m.

A 20-piece orchestra and a mixed quartet will be heard in the hit numbers of Herbert's musical show, "Sweethearts," and Ruby's "Five O'Clock Girl," WGY at 8 o'clock. In addition there will be orchestral and vocal numbers from "Blue Paradise," "Good News," and "The Fortune Hunter." The music of "Samson and Delilah" will open the program.

Mike and Herman, alias "Mr. McFriend and Mr. Schultzmeyer," will give their 10-minute comedy through WENR at 12:40 a. m. Charles Hamp, entertainer, will be on WABC at 7 o'clock tonight.

GWENDOLYN KIDNAPED.

Mortimer and Gwendolyn, hero and heroine, will journey to the Mexican border to Sim ton cut's melodrama. Mortimer as a Texas ranger and Gwendolyn as a rancher's daughter will be the basis of great excitement and amusement, for Gwendolyn is kidnaped by bandits and barely saved from harm by the adventurous and hardy Mortimer.

WJAS—Mary and Bob.

STORY OF KELLY FIELD.

Kelly Field, the government training camp for aviators in Texas, will be the next scene of Mary and Bob's adventures. Beneath the inverted stars of a Texas night, with the drone of airplanes circling above, Mary and Bob wander about, and it is there that one of the fliers tells them the story "In His Blood."

This tale concerns an aviator during the war who crashed behind the German lines during the war, and, meeting there a beautiful flaxen-haired German girl, fell in love with her and married her. After the armistice they were separated, and for years he searched for her all over the world, until the intrigue complicated the situation even more, and the climax of this thrilling tale will be unfolded tonight.

WCAE—Evening in Paris.

BLACK CAT CABARET.

Do you remember the old cabaret of the Black Cat—Le Chat Noir—in Paris; the suave old master of ceremonies; the anemic soprano with her sob songs; the boisterous comedians; the shadows above; those lean cats of French painted on the walls; the drawings and sketches of Willette and Caran d'Ache; the polyglot crowd of artists, Montmartois and tourists? The Chat Noir will be visited by Manon, Peaches, Jacques and Bill, on their tour of Paris tonight.

RESULT OF ELECTION

The winner of the hottest election campaign in Schradertown's history will be either Garage Gus, who has been campaigning with the enthusiastic support of the Schradertown Band and his tuba-playing partner Louie; or the sheriff, who has loudly announced himself as "opposed to bands and all such nuisances in town."

A new character enters the Schradertown comedy this week—a lonely and lovely widow whose charms shine forth even in the gaunt atmosphere of a garage repair shop.

The comedy is featured by the music of the band, in reality the crack organization of Arthur Pryor, famous bandmaster of two continents.

LOVE AND BUSINESS

In order to achieve certain ends, a man has adopted a character entirely foreign to his own and has proceeded to put his whole energy into "living the part." He has developed his characterization to so well, however, that he bids fair to defeat his own purposes, for a love situation arises that is completely unexpected and that does not fit into the role he has created for business reasons alone. The climax of this drama will be told tonight by the Cigaret Girl.

For sore throat, there's a swift and sure way to soothe away the inflammation. Every singer knows the secret! Dissolve Bayer Aspirin tablets in pure water, and gargle. Nothing in the whole realm of medicine is more helpful in cases of sore throat. And you probably know how Aspirin dispels a headache; breaks up colds, relieves rheumatic pain, neuralgia, neuritis, lumbago! Just make certain to get genuine Bayer Aspirin; it has Bayer on the box, and on each tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Rheumatics Try Guaranteed Test

It is estimated that a high percentage of rheumatic and sciatic pains as well as backache are due to impurities and toxins in the blood because of poorly functioning kidneys or bladder weakness. So all you can hope to get from dopes, sedatives and powerful drugs is temporary relief instead of removing the cause. If you suffer from joint aches, lameness, stiffness, leg pains, and stabbing rheumatic pains you should try the new, quick acting Cystex Test. No sedatives, narcotics or habit forming drugs. List of safe ingredients in each package. We are so confident you will soon feel free from pain and like new, that we want you to try Cystex at our risk. If you are not amazed and delighted you get your money back under our Iron-Clad Money-Back guarantee. Cystex, regular price $1.25; special Dow price, $1.09.

May-Stern's 23rd Anniversary

This Unusual Occasion Is More Than a Sale—It Is a Community Celebration!

The Greatest Profit-Sharing Event Pittsburghers Have Ever Participated In!

$23

Here is the nationally famous Simmons all-metal bed beautifully finished in brown enamel. Quaint in design with its Windsor style ends. Equipped with heavily tufted, rolled edge, cotton felt, layer mattress. Resilient springs add untold comfort. Such a value has rarely ever been seen in Pittsburgh!

$2 Monthly

Great as have been our other 22 Anniversaries — the 23rd has had a most auspicious debut. No wonder—no event of its kind is celebrated in such a different manner as this annual May-Stern affair.

So diversified in its attractions! So exclusive in its distribution of appropriate souvenirs! So outstanding in its extreme value giving! It is but natural that the community is aroused.

We have but one way of showing our sincere appreciation. We have but one way of expressing our thanks for the faithful patronage of our hosts of friends. We have but one way of expressing our thanks for the continued growth and success. Our prices will tell all! By values we cap the climax of another successful year.

Open Till 9 P. M. Saturday

A Potted Shamrock—FREE!

It would not be Anniversary Time at May-Stern's without Shamrocks. This annual distribution has become an accepted fact each year. They have been the symbol of May-Stern's success ever since that blustery March 17 (St. Patrick's Day) way back in 1906, when we first opened our doors in Pittsburgh.

These natural growing Shamrocks in two-inch Pots—will be given tomorrow and Monday only, to every adult visitor.

Two-Piece Suite of Finest Mohair Anniversary Sale Price

We doubt if we will have enough of these suites—with such a price prevailing, when the quality of the mohair is made known.

Here is the finest mohair ever used in upholstering a living room suite, not the commonly used 50-50 mohair. The inner materials are of the same fine quality. The design is quite distinctive and rich in color: the cushion tops have choicest velour coverings. Ordinarily such a loose pillow arm sofa and fireside chair would retail at $225.

Only $10 Monthly

And This All-Over Mohair Cogswell

A Companion Chair of Contrasting Color!

As vogue dictates, here is a matching chair of the same grade mohair but in a pleasing contrast to the two-piece suite. Very attractive and exceedingly comfortable with its deep cushiony seat and receding back. May be bought with suite or sold separately at $23 during the Anniversary. Only $2 Monthly

A Bedroom of Distinct Charm

An Anniversary Price Surprise at $123 A Craftsman's Masterpiece of Rare Individuality

There is an air of refinement and stylishness deftly combined in this exquisite four-piece suite. It borrows a semi-poster effect from the Colonial period. Artistically designed footboard and mirror frames from the modern era. The charm of both periods by the richness of the walnut veneers combined with other select cabinet woods for contrast. Four pieces of generous proportions.

Only $10 Monthly

Graceful Rocker

$5.23

Held in reserve for the Anniversary Sale. A large comfortable rocker in rich walnut finish; with comfortable genuine leather upholstery.

Real Estate

The Commercial Realty Company closed a trade between Joseph H. Kenny and Lewis R. Nedvidek in which the former deeded a brick store and apartment on 50x120 feet at the southwest corner of Wilkins avenue and Severn street, Fourteenth Ward. He accepted in exchange 4½ acres in McNeilly road, Mt. Lebanon.

A house at 342 South Evaline street, Eighth Ward, lot 33x100 feet, has been sold by James L. McInerney to John W. Williams for $14,000.

In Wilkinsburg, Charles R. Emrick has sold to Andrew J. Hall 45x132 feet improved in North avenue for $18,000. Mr. Hall deeded in return at a valuation of $9,500 a property in Hunter street, Wilkinsburg, lot 25x100 feet, for $9,500.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All druggists.

INITIATIVE TYPICAL QUALITY
Initiative and hard work are the avenues through which the Typical American Girl finds herself, Miss Loos believes.

TYPICAL AMERICAN GIRL IS BUSINESSWOMAN, HELEN ROWLAND SAYS
Primarily, the Typical American Girl, for which the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph searches here, is a businesswoman, acording to the views of Mrs. Rowland, who writes, "Meditations of a Wife" daily in this newspaper and who has studied American girls.

EXAMPLE OF HARD WORK
Amelia Earhart, Helen Wills and Elsie Janis are set forth as examples of girls who created jobs and worked hard.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

HE WALKED into my office, holding a briefcase in one hand and his hat in the other. I spotted him at once as a canvasser and made up my mind I wasn't going to buy anything. I gave him an opening and he produced a small bottle, pointed to the name on it, the use to which its contents was to be put, and then pointed to the price—25 cents. It was, I could see, a lotion for bruised and dirty typewriter keys. A queer salesman this—one without words. I told him I didn't want any and in a moment he forced over his next point by whipping out a cloth and making signs to indicate he could clean my typewriter keys for the quarter. It occurred to me then I was dealing with a deaf mute. I bought a bottle to intrigue him into an interview more than for any concern I had about my typewriter keys. So the interview went on with my writing questions which he answered by the same method.

This is what the interview produced: Deaf mutes can catch the rhythm of popular, jazz music, but miss classical music. They like to dance. When nature takes away two senses she compensates by endowing the deaf mutes with qualities not so keenly developed in normal persons. He said, for instance, that so sharp is a deaf mute in catching the purposes and notions of other people that a woman who speaks and hears and who is married to a deaf mute has no difficulty being understood and understanding her silent partner, so to speak.

My friend showed me a clipping which said that a highway official declared deaf mutes were the most careful of all people driving automobiles. The accident curve among them is so low as to be practically negligible.

THERE is a club of deaf mutes in town, he said, but it is not very active at the present time.

They are of a mechanical and studious turn of mind, generally. My friend, for instance, reads French and German as easily as he reads English. He said, however, there never has been a historic, notable deaf mute so far as he knows. As mechanics they are hard to beat, however. He wrote hurriedly:

"You know, in the Ford plant in Detroit there was an operation that was so nerve-wrecking that normal men could not stand the gaff. Ford struck upon the idea of putting deaf mutes at these jobs, where the noise was terrific, and it worked out so well that he now has a couple of thousand D. M.'s working for him. The boiler factory is another place where the deaf mutes fill in well.

"I am selling now to get enough money to complete an engineering course. Have you ever noticed that deaf mutes seldom beg? They nearly always are self-supporting?"

He added later that self-pity doesn't get into many of them, most of them being of a happy, cheerful disposition.

It is not without some concern, by the way, that they are looking at the advance of the talkies in the film industry. This was great diversion for them, which now threatens to be removed if talkies completely supplant the silent films.

MY FRIEND then wrote: "You would not need to write down all your questions. I can understand 80 per cent of your speech by reading your lips." So we tried that awhile and he didn't miss a entence. A peculiar thing, however, is that I found myself speking very loud in an effort to make him understand my lips.

I hope he gets rich as an engineer.

TYPICAL GIRL QUEST STILL GOES ON

Who do you think is the Typical American Girl? Have you sent your nomination to the Quest Editor of The Sun-Telegraph?

Many have and the Quest Editor is swamped with replies, suggestions, nominations. But the work of selecting the Typical American Girl goes on, a tireless quest which will not stop until she is found. And we may find her right around the corner from your front door.

NEED SUGGESTIONS

Send us your suggestion. Maybe it will bring our search to its goal.

Not a superlative, nor a bathing beauty or popularity contest winner, the Typical American Girl is the personification of those attributes.

One person who may know says that the Typical American Girl is a business woman. This is Helen Rowland, whose "Meditations of a Wife" enters thousands of homes with The Sun-Telegraph. Whether she's right or wrong, her opinion will interest all engaged in the quest for the Typical American Girl. Let the Quest Editor know what you think of Mrs. Rowland's letter.

FREE TRIP IS REWARD

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will decide whether the Typical Pittsburgh Girl conforms to Mrs. Rowland's outline. Your suggestions and letters will help. Is there some neighbor, friend or sweetheart who is the girl they are looking for? If she is, she will get a trip to New York and a week of play after we learn about her. And there seven noted authorities may decide that she is the Typical American Girl and award the $5,000 prize to her. Send your choice for this distinction to the Quest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Jesse James Has Imitator in Braddock

A youth who gave his name as Jesse James and his address as Washington street, Braddock, was fined $10 in Braddock Police Court yesterday by Burgess William Callahan on a charge of having robbed John Kukeno, of 107 River street, Braddock, several hours earlier.

Kukeno testified the youth attacked him and took $1.75 from his pocket. Burgess Callahan also advised Kukeno to prefer a highway robbery charge against James before a justice of the peace.

BURGESS VETOES HIGHWAY ROUTE FOR WEST VIEW

Burgess D. A. Atkinson, of West View, has vetoed a resolution passed by the Borough Council, establishing the location and grades of the Perry highway as proposed by state highway engineers.

The veto brings to a climax the controversy over the route of the relocated highway. Council will act on the veto at the April meeting.

Burgess Atkinson contends the new route would entail excessive property damages, would necessitate the demolishing of one dwelling and would remove to a point outside the borough the intersection of the Perry highway and Center avenue, the principal artery of West View.

Councilmen take the position, it is said, that the improvement of the Perry highway is desirable along the plans prepared by the state engineers, and that the borough should give its approval that work may be started at once.

ROAD PARLEY ARRANGED

Mt. Lebanon and Baldwin Township commissioners will meet today with the County Commissioners to discuss the improvement of McNeilly road.

The county is contemplating the improvement of the road, which starts at Pioneer avenue, Dormont Borough, passes through Mt. Lebanon Township, and ends at Library road, Baldwin Township, a distance of more than two miles. When completed, it will be the connecting link between West Liberty avenue, Mt. Lebanon and Library road to Castle Shannon road.

The county wants the two townships to pay their share of the improvements, which is estimated at $40,000 each. The bulk of the cost will go toward the raising of the overhead tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways Company at Elwyn Station, Baldwin Township.

Bellevue High Will Root For Team

Bellevue students and citizens are preparing to turn out in large numbers tomorrow night to root for the Bellevue High School basketball team in the final clash with Homestead High in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion. The winner will be crowned champion of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League. A banquet will be tendered the Bellevue players by the borough Board of Trade, regardles sof the outcome.

JURY REJECTS DEATH-BED WILL

An alleged will of W. S. Thunhurst, leaving a $24,000 estate to his second wife, Marion H. Thunhurst, of Dormont, is set aside and the estate will be distributed under the intestate laws, whereby the widow will receive one third and two sons by a former marriage the balance, under a verdict rendered by a jury in Judge George V. Moore's branch of Common Pleas Court.

The sons are Dr. W. L. Thunhurst, 143 West Swissvale avenue, Swissvale and Ralph Thunhurst, Swissvale.

The will was dated May 17, 1927, a few days before Mr. Thunhurst's death, while he was on his death bed. It was in the handwriting of another person, but the widow contended the signature was genuine. The sons testified that, instead of leaving his estate to his widow absolutely, their father had often said that he wanted to provide for her during her lifetime, but would leave his estate to his sons eventually.

DIVORCE DENIED HUSBAND

Judge Harry H. Rowand, in Common Pleas Court, has handed down a decree refusing a divorce to Truman F. Fetterman, 27, of Walkers Mills, from Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Fetterman, 24, 91 Creighton road saying that the court believes Fetterman exaggerated his testimony and did not present enough clear and satisfactory evidence to entitle him to a divorce.

Although they had known one another from infancy, the couple ran off to Wellsburg, W. Va., and were married July 1, 1922. They separated August 14, 1927, the husband taking their two children, 3 and 5 years old. The husband accused his wife of throwing dishes, a knife and a poker at him; said he saw her in the arms of a neighbor and saw a grocer kiss her. These latter charges were denied by the wife, but she admitted a quick temper which sometimes led her to throw things. She said Fetterman did not provide enough money for her to pay family bills, and thisled to quarrels.

Civic Club Calls Bloomfield Meeting

The Bloomfield Civic Club has called a meeting for tonight to be held in the auditorium of the Friendship Park Methodist Episcopal Church. At this time a report will be received from the committee to City Council presenting a request for better and more adequate trolley service for the district. Other matters of interest to the community also will be considered and a full attendance of the membership is urged.

West View Grants Two More Permits

Permits for two dwellings in West View have been granted by C. A. McClain, borough clerk, he reports, bringing to 17 the total issued this year. Fred S. Dowdy will erect a one and a half story frame cottage at 335 Kenyon avenue to cost $7,000. George Keith will build a two-story double brick duplex at 468 Cornell avenue at an estimated cost of $18,000.

Legion Auxiliary Host to Children

The South Hills American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 156, will give a party to the children of auxiliary members in its clubrooms, 2557 West Liberty avenue, Dormont, tomorrow afternoon. The entertainment committee announced that the party will be in progress from 2 to 4 o'clock, and will include games, music and refreshments.

Bellevue Juniors To Present Play

"Clarence," a four-act comedy by Booth Tarkington, was presented last night and again tonight by the Junior Dramatics Club of the Bellevue High School in the school auditorium. Two casts have been rehearsing for the play.

2 HURT IN FIGHT, BROTHERS HELD

David M. Hamilton, 39, of 1135 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, is in the Pittsburgh Hospital, his skull believed fractured, and his employers, William A. Miller, 38, and his brother, Joseph P. Miller, 32, both of 7135 McPherson boulevard, are under arrest today as a result of a fight in the Miller home last night, police said. The younger Miller suffered a stab wound in the right shoulder.

The Millers, who are building contractors, declared, police said, that Hamilton called at their home, became involved in an argument over a business deal and then attacked them. Police reported finding Hamilton lying unconscious on the floor. He was in a semi-conscious state at the hospital, where police made a futile effort to get his version of the altercation.

In Frankstown Avenue Police Court today the Millers were held pending developments in Hamilton's condition.

Post Saves 3 Women In Auto From Crash

Three women had a wooden post to thank today for escaping serious injury. Mrs. C. E. Trischler, of 300 Ferry street, was driving in Reuben street, North Side, last night, with two companions when her auto swerved towards a 150-foot embankment over McClure avenue. Within a few feet of the edge, the car struck a lonely post and went no farther.

Community Club Asks for Charter

Application has been filed in Common Pleas Court by the Richland Township Community Club for a charter, an organization formed for social and athletic purposes. The directors are E. M. Wise, W. C. Bryson, C. S. E. Sprecher, D. W. Herdt, W. G. Grupen and G. W. Myers, all of Gibsonia, and A. R. Pollock, Bakerstown.

Rules of the Quest

1. This is a selective search, not a motion picture, popularity or beauty contest. It is an honest and sincere effort to find the girl who best represents the Typical American Girl.

2. A National committee of judges appointed by Smart Set, will make the final decision and award the $5,000 prize in New York at a date set by the publisher of Smart Set Magazine. This committee is composed of Rosamond Pinchot Gaston, Vina Delmar, Jesse L. Lasky, John Golden, Guy Hoff and Margaret Sangster, editor of Smart Set and a representative of the Hearst newspapers.

3. A local committtee of judges appointed by each co-operating newspaper will select the regional winner.

4. A candidate cannot propose herself. She must be proposed by some individual or some club or organization. This proposal must be sent to the Quest Editor, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

5. Each candidate's proposal must be accompanied by her photograph, biographical sketch, listing age, weight, height, coloring, education and her social, business and athletic activities. Her qualifications will be considered by the Quest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, who will notify her if she has been selected.

6. The minimum age is 17.

SCHOOL ADDS NEW FEATURES

The Lankin school has added two new educational features to the resources of the institution. A motion picture machine was purchased at the cost of $1300 by the school board, and the senior class has acquired a radio.

The first picture, one dealing with carbon monoxide gas, was secured from the U. S. Bureau of Mines. Other educational films will be shown from time to time. The radio is used several times a week, with the Damrosch programs broadcast each Friday, receiving special attention.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, March 15.

Atlanta Prison is kicking because Mrs. Willebrandt has been sending in government spies disguised as prisoners to see how the place is run. Now, I have been getting lots of letters from friends in there. Every one of them rates it the best jail he was ever in. They all say the warden could go out on his own and open up an independent jail, and have it filled in no time with men that appreciate the better type of jails.

They don't kick on associating with bankers, and even politicians, but don't want to be in the same jail with spies.

Now, I know Mabel, and I know my friends in there, and I just want to get it settled if I can. It will just ruin that jail, 'cause everyone of them write me, if it's kept up, they would never go back to that jail again. So do what you can for 'em, Mabel.

Yours, WILL.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Dick Stuyvesant and Felicia Brett, both in Reno for divorce, meet and fall in love with each other. With Dick at the hotel is a bachelor friend, John Berkeley, usually called J. B. Felicia with her 6-year-old son, is visiting the Hodges, old friends from the East, now permanent residents of Reno. Her husband, Alexander Brett, comes to Reno and on her refusal to return to him, threatens to take little Alex away from her. He hires detectives to watch Felicia and has two gunmen kidnap the boy. The boy is rescued by an odd character known as the Desert Rat and restored to Dick and J. B., who are out looking for him with a member of the state police. From the report of his private detective, Brett learns that the Rat was once a prosperous broker, Stephen Pierce. Brett recognizes the name and laughs exultantly. With the failure of the kidnaping attempt and no more visits from Brett, Felicia believes that her husband has abandoned his opposition. Dick notices a change in her, an interest in Reno festivities, that makes him anxious. He has to go away on a business trip, but wishes that he did not have to leave her. Restless in Dick's absence, Felicia accepts an invitation from young Peg Hodge to drive with her and two college boys. Her escort, Billy Blair, is openly admiring. When he offers her his flask, she hesitates, then takes it and drinks. Under the influence of the liquor and a spirit of devil-may-care, she permits Billy to kiss her. Then follows a bathing party at night and a separation into pairs. Billy makes love to Felicia and she returns his mad kisses. The next night the pleasure-mad crowd goes to an inn on the California-Nevada line. Billy takes Felicia into a private room and tells her he is crazy about her. Her scream when he attempts to embrace her is heard by Dick, who has stopped at the inn on his way back from his business trip. Dick takes her home. In a frank and reconciling talk a few days later, they agree to keep themselves clear from the dangerous side of Reno life. Brett, awaiting developments in a hotel at Lake Tahoe, overhears a young wife expressing bitterly her opinion of her aged husband. He wonders if Felicia feels like that. Testing out his own powers of attraction, he begins an affair with an ex-follies girl and is dismissed. The Desert Rat attempts to stab Brett after his old hatred for him is aroused.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII.

IT was purely instinctive, Felicia told herself afterward, that quick gesture in which she wrung the knife from the Desert Rat's hand. One cannot sit quietly by and watch murder done! And the intended victim was, after all, her boy's father . . .

"Stephen!" she commanded, her arms about the old man's trembling body. "Dear Stephen, you mustn't. You can't do that!"

Brett had started back, cowed by the blazing ferocity in his enemy's face. Dick returned with Adrienne, J. B. and the child following.

"Please go, Alex!" Felicia said quietly to her husband, and Brett, ashen and trembling, entered his car and sped away.

Felicia and her friends turned back toward Reno, Felicia's head resting on Dick's shoulder, and little Alex asleep on Adrienne's lap, between J. B. and Stephen Pierce.

"Dicky, I've got to get away from all this, or I'll go crazy!" Felicia whispered, desperately. "I've got to go somewhere where life is normal and decent and not a perpetual movie-thriller!"

Normal and decent!

The R-X Ranch was the haven for the really nice people who came to Reno. Sprawling wooden house, with verandas stretching invitingly about it, set where the mouth of the canyon widened to yawn into the broad desert. Cowboys—perhaps a bit more picturesque as to costume than was strictly necessary, since this was a Dude Ranch—gathered in groups, talking and laughing, or galloped about their work. At night, from their bunkhouse, came the twang of banjo or guitar, the melancholy melody of voices crooning songs of the West.

Little Alex was in ecstasy. Once, he had wanted to be an aviator when he grew up; he had considered, for a time, the career of policeman. Now his only ambition was to ride a horse as though he were an integral part of the animal, and to roll a cigaret with one hand—preferably at the same moment. Brown as the Indians whose villages rose near the ranch, he rode proudly about the yard on his pony, with the Desert Rat always at his side.

"Felicia, I'm never going home!" Adrienne Henley-Martin told her daughter. In khaki riding clothes, her gray-brown hair gathered carelessly beneath a soft felt hat, and her regard for "the correct thing" suddenly brushed aside, Mrs. Henley-Martin was almost a stranger.

But a delightful stranger! Felicia smiled at her, tenderly.

"To think that at 45, I've discovered what I've missed all my life!"

"Well, you don't look 45!" her daughter retorted. "I won't tell, if you don't!"

J. B. didn't think that Mrs. Henley-Martin looked 45, either—or if he did, he must have thought that the perfect age of woman. Dick and Felicia, watching the two ride off in the direction of the Indian fort, shook their heads amusedly. What a pair!

Children shouted, back toward the corral; a phonograph, within the ranch house, was playing a Bach record—music which mounted and swelled, drifting magnificently out toward the desert.

Felicia sighed happily. "Oh, Dick, it's heaven to be away from that background of gin and beer!" Like her mother, she was in riding clothes, slim legs encased in dusty high boots, slender waist encircled by a belt she had bought from one of the cowboys—a belt made of silver dollars, hammered to paper thinness.

Dick was playing with a handful of opals which Sam Lanier had brought back from the mine. He smiled. The East, with all its artificialities, seemed buried in a past long dead.

"It's hard to believe that peopel like Alex exist," Felicia said. But she shuddered as she remembered his threats. "Oh, Dick, do you think he can hurt us? Do you think—"

"What can he do, dearest? He can't stop your divorce, now—not after that petting party on the Tahoe road. And your boy is safe with Stephen!"

Felicia shook her head, doubtfully. There seemed nothing that he could do, yet she was uneasy when she thought of him. The sheer hate that had distorted his face, there on the road that frightful night, was unforgettable.

J. B. sauntered into Dick's room that evening just before supper.

"Oh, turn it off!" J. B. grunted. "Can't I like a woman?"

"Liking women is something you haven't done anything else but, I should say!" Dick retorted. "How about your Romantic Register—your book listing all the girl friends?"

Supper at a long table, served by Indian servants. Candle light. Bracing air drifting through open windows . . .

"Let's walk down to the lake," Dick suggested later. And, arm in arm, they strolled past the corral, through the twilight to the beach.

Lake water whispering against the shore; stars bursting through the streaked sky, banishing the twilight. Close together they sat and watched them; outlines blurred as the darkness gathered.

"Why can't we be married right away?" Felicia demanded. "As though Alex was anything to me—or Constance to you! It's so silly, all this red tape of divorce! What can any judge say that can make me more yours or you more mine?"

Silently, he bent and kissed her.

"You do belong to us, don't you?" he whispered, huskily.

"Dick!" Her arms were about him, straining him close; she was trembling.

Laws, arbitrarily made by man—what did they matter? Custom, convention — how could they count?

"Felicia!" He was crushing her, hurting her, and she gloried in the quick pain. "Mine—always?"

Her eyes were wide with the solemnity of the moment. She nodded, then startled at a cry raised somewhere back toward the ranch house—someone calling her name.

Jean's Awakening By MARION M. MARKOWITZ Daily Short Story

IT was harvest season in northern Virginia. Beyond the purplish hills could be seen the dazzling sun with its vanishing golden rays, leaving almost a faint view of the horizon. Autumn fragrance was in the air.

Coming down a narrow pathway, looking as cheerful as a lark, was Jean Dale, daughter of a poor farmer. She has just passed her twenty-first birthday and was the only comfort to her bereaved father, her mother having passed away several months before. Jean was a happy-go-lucky girl, the picture of health, and her captivating smile was known throughout the village. Her nimble fingers kept her little home spic and span, and her cooking was divine in the eyes of her father, who cherished and adored his "little girl," as he often called her.

Jean's education was limited, but in spite of this handicap she managed to gather all the knowledge within her reach. Her cleverness and common sense, together with great ability and diligence applied to everything she did, marked her an unusual young lady. She also had taken for music, having learned to play the piano in her childhood.

Several months passed and winter set in. The harvest season was over and Jean and her father settled down to prepare plans for the coming weeks. Mr. Dale had been a hardy and hale-looking man, but his grief over his beloved wife weakened his condition to such an extent that he was rapidly failing in health.

Poverty was rapidly entering the Dale home. Money was coming in very slowly from stored products and Mr. Dale could not work as well as he had previous to this year.

Few people came to see the Dales now that poverty was playing its part, and those who crossed the threshold were usually collectors.

One day early in January, a stranger appeared in the village. He was above the average in height and had striking features. His countenance portrayed great determination and a pleasant disposition. He carried a traveling bag and also a brief case. After inquiring about a room for temporary stay he prepared himself for dinner.

Mr. Jeremiah Lord, descendant of an old Virginia family and the town's so-called financier, introduced himself to the stranger Mr. Berkeley—and a lively conversation ensued.

"Yes, indeed, Mr. Berkeley, we are glad to welcome you to our little town. I'll admit there is not much of it to see, but we are sure you will find that the hospitality of the villagers is unexcelled. If I'm not too inquisitive, what may your business be?"

"Thank you, Mr. Lord. You are very kind, and I am more than grateful. My business takes on the advertising trend, and the firm I am connected with, The Acme Company, Inc., New York City, sent me here to try my luck at stirring up some good business prospects for advertising produce grown in the South. Perhaps I can interest you, Mr. Lord, in my hopes of making a name for myself, in turning over one of the biggest deals of my life, a contract for southern products to be widely known and advertised throughout the entire country."

"Young man, you seem to have plenty of grit and ambition in you, and I'll do whatever I can to assist you while you are here."

"That's great, Mr. Lord. I certainly do appreciate your interest and straightforward attitude toward me. I hope this may mean my success, and if I make good, I'll surely owe it to you."

The next day Mr. Berkeley commenced to work hard. His plans in mind, ambition and courage in his heart, he set out to "make good" and show his company that he was an "honest-to-goodness gogetter." He began his short campaign which he visualized as the crisis in the peak of his success. At first he had a trying time with the farmers, convincing them of the necessity for national product advertising, but after much stress and conviction he put over several deals.

After seeing most of the farmers in the village, he appeared at the Dale Homestead. Immediately, Mr. Dale took a great liking to Berkeley, inviting him for dinner that night. Jean had prepared a delicious meal with cakes, jam and other delicacies which Mr. Berkeley relished. When dinner was over, they discussed the farm, its crops, and advertising possibilities. Of course, noting the dire circumstances the Dales were in, Allen could not expect any business from them, but he went back to his hotel with a feeling of contentment and hopes for the next day's work.

That night Berkeley thought of a plan—a proposition he would make to his firm. Immediately he sat down and composed a letter, stating his idea and setting forth its advantages.

His anxiety overwhelmed him when he mailed the missive and he waited patiently for a reply. In the meantime, he buckled down to other prospects in nearby villages and three days later he found the firm's reply. His expression changed from one of suspense to joy when his eyes scanned the page in front of him. He burst out with, "I just knew they would consent to it and give me a chance to show them I could make good," and grabbing his hat and coat, walked out.

While this was going on, Jean was busily engaged in nursing her father, who was quite ill in bed.

A knock at the door—Jean hurriedly ran downstairs to see who it could be. To her surprise, she gazed into the eyes of Allen Berkeley.

"Oh, hello, Mr. Berkeley, come right in," she exclaimed with a flushed smile.

"Good afternoon, Miss Dale. How are you today, and how is your father?" he inquired excitedly.

"I'm fine, thank you, but dad is quite ill."

"Well, I'm so sorry to hear that. Could you spare a little time to talk with me? I have something I want to tell you about that may change your life and bring happiness for you and your father."

He took the letter out of his pocket and handed it to Jean. Looking somewhat perplexed Jean commenced to read. Then she stared at Allen—

"Why, I—I don't understand what you mean, Mr. Berkeley. How could you have thought of such a thing? Is it really true that your firm will undertake this and finance it for me? I—I don't know what to think or say—it all seems too good to be true, and to think it should happen at a time like this when we have given up hope of maintaining our homestead. Really, I can hardly believe this, and you, practically a stranger, to take such a sudden interest in us. I don't know how to begin to thank you," she exclaimed with tears of joy coming into her eyes.

"Yes, all of it is true, Miss Dale. I know you are too shocked to even think about it at this moment, but to make a long story short, I conceived the idea that night at your dinner table and resolved that if it would turn out all right I would inform you of it. This letter points success for you if you wish to undertake it and I am at your service. It is going to mean something big for the Acme Company as well and I'll wire them immediately if it is a go, yes?"

"Yes, Mr. Berkeley, you have my consent, if you think I can put it over. I'm so happy and bewildered that I don't know what to say to you, or how much to thank you. I'm not going to tell father about it until things materialize, and won't he be surprised when he knows!"

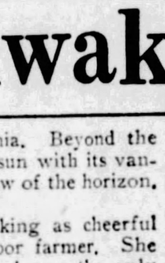
Slowly Mr. Dale gained in health through the tender ministrations of Jean. It was now the latter part of March and Jean had all she could do to manage her home and also save enough energy in perfecting the food product she originated.

Allen had received a letter from his firm congratulating him on his good work, and as a reward for this he was given a share in the partnership as a junior member.

Jean and Allen's friendship for each other ripened into a beautiful love. Their planning, and the final realization of their hopes, resulted in prosperity and success for both of them. As one passes through northern Virginia he may notice a conspicuous sign above a factory—

JEAN'S JIFF JAM

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET



Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, undigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

OIL, GAS LANDS SEIZED BY U. S.

LOS ANGELES, March 15.—Seven million acres of government land in the Southern California district alone were yesterday automatically withdrawn forever from private oil and gas prospecting, when Register B. Smith, of the Los Angeles land office, received telegraphic instructions to that effect.

The drastic order is the result of President Hoover's conservation program, as announced at Washington several days ago.

Candy Hangover Follows Pupils Candy Raid

Stomachaches were epidemic among children in the McKelvey school, Bedford avenue, today. It was a sequel to the failure of someone to lock the front door of the Hall Brothers' candy factory, opposite the school, yesterday.

One boy found the door unlocked and entered. The place was unoccupied except for candy. So the boy occupied himself with that, until no more would occupy him. Then he spread the word, and when ppolice came they found a score of children loose in a candy factory. It seemed like a dream, but the participants knew today that it hadn't been.

LABORER HELD IN ATTACK

Due to serious cuts and bruises on the head of Louis Merwitzer, a contractor, of 1245 Arkansas avenue, Dormont, William Dupee, 40, a Negro laborer, of 2432 Wylie avenue, was lodged in the county jail yesterday to await a hearing before Justice of the Peace E. B. Bishop, of Mt. Lebanon, tomorrow night.

Dupee, who was at work at a building on Academy avenue, Mt. Lebanon, was discharged by Merwitzer and told to come back on payday, it was said. Later, it is said, Dupee threw a milk bottle at his employer, which caused deep cuts on top of the head.

MORE GIFTS AID M'LAUGHLINS

Three more contributions to aid the widow and 10 children of William McLaughlin, burned to death when a gasoline truck on which he was employed crashed and caught fire, today further emphasized the sympathy of the Pittsburgh public for the stricken family.

"A Friend" sent a $20 check, an Ellsworth avenue resident who asks that her name not be published sent $10 and Natalie Diebold sent $5. The total, now $97, represents the nucleus of a fund to be turned over to the McLaughlin family when completed.

This season's coats are simply stunning! They have a youthful chic and smartness that's delightful! Tweeds and Checks are leading the fashion parade, but the broadcloths, velvesuedes, sports fabrics and silks are equally smart. Tans, greens, browns, Miami, Persian-red, navy and black are being worn. The ensemble idea is carried out in the coats, and many women are choosing a matching frock so as to make their own individual ensemble.

TALK THINGS OVER :-: OH, THOSE MEN :-: A HOSTESS GOWN

RUTH CHATTERTON REHEARSES FOR FILM ROLE WITH ADOLPHE MENJOU

By DOT HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate).

HOLLYWOOD, March 15.

GENE HUM reports a director was pinched for parking his Rolls Royce by the fire hydrant in front of the poorhouse while he went in to visit his mother.

And then, of course, there's the priceless story of two W. K. Hollywood bachelors desiring company for a loquacious evening. One knew a fem and said fem, being invited to join 'em at the apartment, brought a girl friend. They chatted and had a lotta laughs and finally the bach-es suggested the girls toddle home. Whereupon the girl friend staggered to uncertain feet and cried: "Don ja know I could have youse guys run in and pay a hundred dollar fine? I'm a special agent." Which she was! But, inasmuch as the evidence had been consumed her playful threat failed to work. Oh, life, life, hie ho.

Ran into Ruth Chatterton on the Lasky lot. Ruth is the one actress who makes cinemas faster than some mortals breathe. She begins the "Constant Wife" pretty soon, but also is rehearsing for her next, "Prince Consort," in which she will traipse with Adolphe Menjou, direction Ernest Lubitsch. Ruth has been doing plenty night work these eves, with the result she and Hubby Ralph Forbes are artistically divorced, though sharing the same roof. They sorta pass each other in the hall going in opposite directions and remark pleasantly, "Well, see you next Tuesday, ole dear."

Blanche Sweet Gives Luncheon

BLANCHE SWEET chucking a luncheon at the Roosevelt. None of her country-wide cousins or relatives present, however! Merely Evelyn Brent, Betty Bronson, Margaret Ettinger and one famished scribe. Blanche's youthful grandmother is now supervising her Bev Hills home, and for the nonce refuses all social invites with the invariable: "I can't today. I've got too many responsibilities."

While the cameraman looks on, Ken Maynard, Western star, tells his supporting player, George Gillespie, all about the next Maynard opus.

MELODY HITS COMPOSED FOR FILM

"The Broadway Melody," a future screen booking for the Aldine, stands out as the first motion picture presenting, as an integral part of the story, a series of new dance songs.

"You Were Meant for Me," "Broadway Melody" and the other song hits of the new picture were created especially for the production by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, the melody-making companions who were responsible for the entire musical score of the photoplay.

The music for "The Broadway Melody was composed with the principals and the story well in mind all the time. In essence the new talking film becomes a combination of musical comedy spectacle and rhythm with a "straight" dramatic story of New York back-stage life. The production may thus be termed the first original musical comedy composed for the screen, while at the same time it promises to create an entirely new vogue in film fare.

It is obvious that there is a world of difference between songs and a musical theme which are an essential part of a screen story and a group of song numbers which are interpolated after the picture has been completed.

The work of Brown and Freed has been praised by Tin Pan Alley experts as by far the best this pair, who did "The Doll Dance," "The Boy Friend" and "Moonlit Waters," have ever turned out. Brown is the composer of the music for "The Broadway Melody," while Arthur Freed supplied the lyrics.

Thomas to Sing in Art Concert Tonight

John Charles Thomas, opera and concert baritone, will give the closing Art Society Concert in Carnegie Hall tonight. Mr. Thomas takes the place of Elizabeth Rethberg, who is ill. He will be assisted by Lester Hodges, pianist, in the following program:

"The Convent" (Borodin); "Ballet of the Happy Spirits" (Gluck-Friedman); "Ritual Fire Dance" (De Falla), Mr. Hodges.

"Lamento" (Duparc); "Au Pays" (Holmes); "Salome" (Massenet), Mr. Thomas.

"The Time for Making Songs" (Rogers); "Alone Upon the Housetops" (Galloway); "Old Skinflint" (Howells); "Sea Shell" (Engel); "The Lamplighter" (Manning); "Ulysses" (Siemonn).

MISS HOPPER AND PLAYS IN BILLS

Toby Wilson & Co. in "Oh, Henry," a comedy with music, and Larry Rich and Friends, Mlle. Cherie and the Dean Twins will be seen in acts surrounding that of Edna Wallace Hopper, "the eternal flapper," in the bill of two-a-day Keith-Albee-Orpheum vaudeville in the Davis next week.

The mystery thriller, "Dracula," playing in the Nixon this week, will be held over for a second and last week, beginning Monday evening, March 18. There will be the usual matinees.

"Blossom Time," with its charming melodies, returns to the Alvin next Monday for an engagement of one week only, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. "Blossom Time" is the operetta based on the life and romance of Franz Shubert, composer. Prominent in the cast are Genevieve Naegele, John Charles Gilbert, Robert Lee Allen and Herbert Lyle.

More Decorative Men

I AM beginning to feel strongly in favor of increasing the Army and Navy.

No, I am not a militarist or a Prussian, or anything like that. But what this country needs is more decorative men! More picturesque men!

More men who have the leisure and the inclination to practice gallantry and cultivate beautiful manners. More men who take the time to read something beside the stock reports and the sporting pages. More men who know how to talk to women about something besides dollars and "deals" and niblicks and motor cars. More men who know how to pay graceful compliments and make love—and take the trouble to do it!

The Human Machine, who gulps his bacon and eggs like a dose of medicine, catches the 7:30 for the city every morning, and the 5:15 for the suburbs every evening, and goes to sleep over his newspaper after dinner, may be all-satisfying as a husband, but he is NOT decorative.

A coffee-scented peck on the cheek—a kiss on-the-fly, between the hall hatrack and the front door—may be a perfectly good husbandly kiss, but it does NOT fulfill all the emotional yearnings of a woman's heart.

A man who chases dollars all week, plays poker all Saturday night and golf all Sunday afternoon, may be a good provider and a business genius. But as a lover, he is just a dose of absent treatment.

Women are getting awfully tired of being just a sidedish in a busy man's life. They are weary of taking all their thrills vicariously at the movies. They are bored to tears with clumsy caveman love-making and vaudeville wit and humor.

What this world needs is more decorative men. Men with polish. Men who read poetry and can quote the philosophers. Men who are dashing and picturesque. Men who know a Corot from a carrot, and a fungus from a fuchsia, and can differentiate between a musical instrument and a saxophone.

Women's clubs, gigolos, bridge and Pomeranians, will never take the place of romance and real companionship in a woman's life.

What the bored and restless woman should do is to stop driving her husband on to make more MONEY, and begin encouraging him to cultivate his charms, his talents and what is left of his mind.

Take your nice, plain, useful old husband out, and put a little passementerie on his manners, a few rosettes on his conversation, and give him a dash of swank. Make him less a mere article of utility and more a thing of beauty. Make him DECORATIVE.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Ear Complications Which Follow Disease

A GREAT many diseases are more serious in their complications than they are in their direct effects. For instance, influenza is a much dreaded ailment. As a matter of fact, however, nobody dies from influenza. Its complications are what we most dread. This is particularly true of pneumonia.

The germs of influenza set up a violent inflammation in the breathing organs. The tissues become inflamed and their powers of resistance to other germs are weakened. Along come the germs of pneumonia. They find just exactly the soil upon which they thrive. Then there is serious trouble.

Some diseases, then, prepare the way for other diseases. Some diseases extend rather widely their fields of operation. Instead of "staying put," they reach out, gradually spreading to neighboring parts and creating trouble wherever they go. In short, they do not limit their evil effects to one single part of the body.

What we speak of as "relapses" are sometimes signals of new involvements of other portions of the body. For instance, to speak again of influenza, it may leave the lungs untouched but choose to attack the ears.

Leading from the back part of the nose, the space between the nose and upper part of the throat, are two passages called the eustachian tubes. They are lined with mucous membrane identical with the lining membranes of the nose. Each tube opens into the ear on the saide of the head.

In its turn, the middle ear is lined with mucous membrane. In short, the same kind of tissue that covers the walls of the nose and eustachian tubes is found in the ear.

You know how difficult it is to keep strawberry plants in rows on hills. The tendrils and roots will spread into the paths between the rows or to the spaces between the hills. If left alone, it won't be long before the whole area is a solid mass of strawberry plants.

In similar fashion the inflammation in the nose extends its effects into the mouth of one of these tubes, presses on through, and pretty soon the middle ear is inflamed. The inflammation causes the walls of the canal to swell and there may be so much swelling that the tube is obstructed.

You know what a mean feeling that gives you. The ear is "stopped up" and the hearing is reduced for the time. But this effect is more serious than the production of temporary deafness. It may cause a damming up of the fluids within the ear.

One of the functions of the eustachian tube is to "ventilate" the ear. That is, it permits the entrance of air so that the atmosphere pressure is the same on the inner side of the ear drum as it is on the outside, where air reaches it through the outside ear canal. But that isn't all it does.

The eustachian tube is a drainage canal. It permits any fluid that may form in the ear to flow into the nose. If there is inflammation and swelling of the lining of this passageway so that fluid cannot pass, the drainage is stopped.

In all acute inflammations of the mucous membrane there is an increase in its natural secretions. You know how your nose runs if you have a cold or the influenza. There may be a perfect stream of this fluid at first and later thick mucous.

You don't have to be a doctor to realize what an extension of influenza or any other infection of the nose may do to your ears. There may be an accumulation of fluid in the ear, dammed back by the closed eustachian tube, and then what happens?

First, there is severe earache. This is caused by the congestion and the increasing pressure from the retained fluid. Then as the fluid gathers, it causes the drum to bulge outward, and unless the inflammation is controlled there is a rupture of the drum and you have a "running ear."

This possibility is another reason why nasal infections, whether from acute colds or the influenza, should be given prompt attention.

Answers to Health Queries

E. E. Q.—What can be done for chronic catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes? What climate advised under the circumstances?

A.—The general health should receive first attention. A high, dry climate where there is plenty of sunlight should be most helpful.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.

MOTHER—THE BEST CONFIDANTE!

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

"MOTHER!" The sweetest word in any language in the world. The first word we speak and almost the last. The one being in the world who will stick with you through thick and thin; who will love you despite everything. Your interests are hers. Anything and everything that pertains to you is her whole life, and whenever you are tempted to think that Mother's old-fashioned or strict, remember she's doing it out of love for you.

There'd be many less heartbreaks in the world if the girls would only confide in Mother. If, instead of telling their girl chums about things and asking and taking their immature advice, they go to Mother—how much she would and could save them.

Especially in the little love quarrels and misunderstandings that are bound to arise. Mother will ever be able to help you over the rough places. Her understanding heart will be able to tell you which way is the best, and her words of wisdom will carry you further than that of your chums. Of course, girlish confidences are dear and sweet; but Mother's should ever be the last word. Try it some time, and I'm sure you'll be far happier and wiser.

Lillian Asks Madge to Confess About the Telegram

THERE was something in Lillian's dancing eyes, and in the mock humility of her voice which warned me to be chary of my advice as she asked me what to do with the telegram which had just been delivered for her husband. That she guessed something concerning this telegram, which was as yet unknown to me, I suddenly surmised and couched my answer accordingly.

"That is something upon which I couldn't possibly advise you," I told her. "You know your own procedure in such matters. You also know your husband."

"I've thought so for a good many years," she returned, with a mirthful smile, "but I really believed for a few minutes this morning that I'd lost my key to his mental reactions. But only for a few minutes. Then the dear old boy's brain processes swung wide before me again. That's the reason I'm going to open this, although I'm very sure Harry, poor lamb, didn't intend me to read it first. He meant to read it to me, so as to 'add the air of verisimilitude' which is his chief delight. But I can't wait for him. Will you excuse me?"

I nodded, trying to keep my facial expression strictly noncommittal, as she tore open the yellow envelope and carefully read the contents of the telegram. She read it a second time before she looked up with a laughing question which yet had had in it a touch of insistence.

"What have you and Harry been concocting about the price of winter wheat?" she asked.

I stammered out an unconvincing "What do you mean?" then suddenly sent a stiffening wire down my own backbone. After all, I had but acted in her best interest, even if she should consider me intrusive—which I was very sure she did not.

She tossed me the telegram.

"'Read it and weep,'" she paraphrased. "For a hackneyed trick he ought to know better than to pull an ancient weeze like that on me."

I took the telegram and read it meticulously, glad of the chance to lower my eyes from her searching, mirthful gaze until I could find out what she meant by her contemptuous reference to the message.

"H. Underwood, care Graham farmhouse, Kettle Drum Road, Sag Harbor, L. I., New York," the telegram began.

"Imperative you come to New York not later than tomorrow, stay until present piece of work finished. SCHWARTZMAN."

"Sammy Schwartzman," Lillian commented, "one of the cleverest, most likable Simon Legrees in the theatrical game. But can he wield the cat when his work isn't done? Harry really has done himself proud this time. This thing is almost plausible, for he has a piece of work on for Sammy. It might have fooled me if I hadn't overheard Dicky's spiel this morning about Harry's whole-souled mourning even to black underclothing. I knew then Harry was up to some sort of game, and this telegram bolstered my theory. For you see, my dear, this is an old trick of Harry's, so ancient it has long whiskers. Whenever he wanted an excuse to write or wire some friend in another city to send him an urgent message summoning him. Oh, it isn't original with the dear old boy. Errant husbands have used it before."

I fell into her trap, for I rushed to defend Harry Underwood from what I knew was an unjust innuendo. If he had asked Sammy Schwartzman to send this wire, which I did not doubt, it was to provide him with an excuse to get out of Marion's way.

"He's not an errant husband," I said hotly. "If he sent this it was so he could—he could—"

"Do something you'd advised him to do," Lillian finished with a smile. "'Fess up, Madge! There really isn't anything else for you to do."

Horoscope

Saturday, March 16

CONFLICTING astrological forces hold sway on this day. There is a figure promising sudden change of journey, possibly pertaining to the employment; nevertheless, new ventures are under unfortunate aspect, and contracts, letters and affairs of promotion or publishing are under adverse sway. With enterprise and precaution affairs may be directed into successful channels. There are some indications of fairly interesting and pleasant personal relations.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an interesting and eventful year, with prospect of change or travel. But unusual precaution should be taken against duplicity or misrepresentation, particularly as regards writings or new ventures. Employment is under fortunate sway.

A child born on this day may have many fine qualities and talents, but nevertheless it will have subtle and furtive ways, and should be given rigorous training in veracity and probity.

Grease Stains on Carpets

Benzine is usually recommended for dealing with grease stains on carpets, but it is difficult to use it without leaving an obvious light patch where the carpet has been rubbed. If turpentine is used instead, it cleans up the grease without leaving the mark. Rub the turpentine in with a piece of cloth and, when the stain is gone, rub vigorously with a clean duster to remove the last trace of the turpentine.

Diamonds or Pearls

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly tell me whether or not it would be proper to wear a pearl for an engagement ring rather than the customary diamond?

2. If the pearl is in good form, is the diamond still preferable?

M. D.

YES, indeed. Nowadays many girls prefer engagement rings that are not diamond rings. To some girls diamonds are not becoming, and it is the wise girl that realizes this and chooses some other kind of ring for such an important item. Of course, everyone can't indulge in an emerald ring, but with those who are able to, the emerald engagement ring is extremely popular—but, of course, they are more expensive than diamonds. Then, too, sapphires are popular as engagement rings, and so are rubies, and increasingly so. And pearls are so especially lovely and so especially becoming to almost all women that they always will be popular. Also many girls choose their birthstones as the stones for their engagement rings.

2. This is, as I have suggested in my first answer, absolutely a matter for personal choice. And it is the wise and clever girl who does not necessarily follow tradition and convention, but who does some interesting, independent thinking on what is becoming to her hand and what is becoming to her general personality.

Presenting a Photograph

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A has been corresponding with a young man for four years and wishes to send him a picture of herself. A thinks it is proper to send him a picture. B thinks this is not correct and thinks it would be proper to write and tell him she has a picture for him if he cares for it. LUCILLE.

THIS depends so much on the degree of friendship and on so many other personal things that I do not think that an outsider can answer it. It would seem to me that B's suggestion is the better one. Or, couldn't A, more or less subtly, write that she had been having her photographs taken, and then see if the young man wishes a photograph?

Saving Money Gives Youth a Start

by Taylor Allderdice

IT is not necessary to be rich to be happy; but it is necessary to be freed from the grind, the worry, the rigidness of want.

Saving money strengthens character through self-denial and self-control; gives the youth a start; lends the advantage of an investment to middle age; and guarantees security to old age.

Remember, if you fail to save a little today, you will probably fail to save a lot tomorrow.

Mr. Taylor Allderdice, son of a Philadelphia importer, finished grade school and started to work as a bank messenger. When he was sixteen, he came over the mountains to Pittsburgh, got a job as clerk in the Rail Dept. of the Carnegie Steel Co., and worked his way up through the mills to the presidency of the National Tube Co., from which position he retired a few months ago.

"Saving money gives youth a start," says Mr. Allderdice. And we may be sure that it was only by thrift and saving he was able to prepare for Lehigh University, where he studied the metallurgy which he found necessary for his continued advancement.

In presenting this series of editorials by Pittsburgh's leading business and professional men, the Union Savings Bank hopes to show by both precept and example that saving is worth while.

Where Savings are Safe

FRICK BLDG.~FIFTH AVE. & GRANT ST.

Living necessities may claim the greatest part of your money, but the part you save is most important.

Saved money means opportunity—a trip over the mountains, a year at college, as in the case of Mr. Allderdice.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Many Winter Travelers Returning Home For Easter

ALTHOUGH there's nothing on the immediate social horizon to make one feel interested, still it's hard to feel downcast even if there isn't a list of brilliant events planned for the coming fortnight. We do have the assurance, judging from past springs, that Easter will bring a change. In the meantime who can escape the blithesome spirit the shy suggestion of spring in the air has created in all of us?

Voltire, that enemy of optimism, would regard our pleasant expectations with cold scorn, but I am little influenced now by what his attitude may have been. I'm almost tempted to think he must have written his "Candide" in gloomy February.

Of course, all our optimism, as far as social life is concerned, is based almost entirely on events that will take place in April, May and June. After the Aero Club ball this evening in the William Penn Hotel there'll be less and less news until Easter brings us release from Lenten prohibitions. During Holy Week, week after next, may one be permitted to say that society will have its zero hour? * * *

THOSE folks who have been in town the greater part of the winter are seeking diversion in trips to New York. Every day scores of folks are either going to Gotham, or returning.

Clarissa Reed, daughter of the Samuel Clarke Reeds, of Murrayhill avenue, is just back from New York, I hear. By the way, Clarissa's sister, Ellinor, will not come out next fall. She'll not arrive at the minimum debutante age until 1930. Perhaps her coming out may be postponed until 1931.

Another member of the Reed families of Pittsburgh will not come out until 1930 or 1931. I'm speaking of Mathilda Reed, daughter of the William McKennan Reeds. * * *

AND the hint of spring brought by this week reminds me that before many more weeks have passed by Pittsburgh families will be concerned with the opening of their country homes on Sewickley Heights, at summer resorts or near Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Thruston Wright, who returned from Europe last month, has gone to the Wright farm at Ligonier for the week-end. Her daughter, Virginia, will remain abroad until June and will come out, as I've already recounted, in the fall. * * *

MRS. FREDERICK B. HUFNAGEL, of Sewickley, is another New York visitor.

Speaking of New York, I'm reminded that Mrs. Lawrence Wendell Knapp and her daughter, Mary Kathryn Knapp, are now in New York. * * *

WITH our wanderers slowly returning from the South, we shall soon have at least a few representatives of each family in society.

Expected home today from Coral Gables are Mrs. Henry Wilson Morrow and her daughter, Darrel Ewing Morrow. * * *

THE George H. Clapps, of Sewickley, have gone to Hot Springs, Va., for several weeks. * * *

EVEN the most conservative society folks agree that it is permissible to give farewell parties for friends who are planning to reside in other cities. The Thomas J. Hillards, of Aylesboro avenue, and the Raymond Hilliards, of Solway street, entertained with a dinner-dance in the Pittsburgh Golf Club last evening in honor of the C. Dudley Armstrongs. The Armstrongs are planning to make their home in the future in Lancaster. * * *

MISS VIOLA MAEGELSEN will sing and Mrs. Howard Hall will read an original St. Patrick's story tomorrow at the benefit bridge party to be given in the College Club by the Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta. Miss Alma K. Swavel is chairman for the bridge party and Dr. Adalaide Jones is president of the chapter. * * *

THE Pittsburgh Field Club will give a St. Patrick's eve dinner-dance tomorrow night at the clubhouse. * * *

JUNE 8 is the date selected by Miss Nancy Katherine Walter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian J. Walter, of Prospect avenue, Avalon, for her marriage to John Canetta, of New York. The ceremony will be performed in the Avalon United Presbyterian Church. * * *

MARY MAGDALENE LODGE No. 365, I. O. O. F., will hold a bake sale tomorrow in Mansmann's store, Penn avenue, East Liberty. * * *

MR. AND MRS. HERMAN CROWN, of Darlington road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Adeline Crown, to Ben Paul Jubelirer, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Crown will receive at home Sunday night from 8 to 11 o'clock in honor of the engagement. No cards have been issued. * * *

UNDER the auspices of the Knights of Malta Field Day Association of Western Pennsylvania and the Protectors' Assembly of the Dames of Malta, the comedy, "Polly With a Past," with a musical score, will be presented tomorrow night in the Moose Temple, Penn avenue. Miss Elizabeth Anderson takes the title role, and other leading parts are played by Stanley Howell and Ross Acklin. * * *

PLANS are being made for the fourth annual dance of the Cathedral High School alumnae to be held April 4 in the Hotel Schenley. Miss Bernadette M. Marlier and Miss Caroline Nuttall O'Brien head the committee in charge.

"Y. W." Arranges for Two-Day Conference

A TWO-DAY mid-winter industrial conference will be held tomorrow and Sunday in the East Liberty Branch Y. W. C. A. under auspices of the Metropolitan Y. W. C. A. industrial committee. Industrial representatives from the Western Pennsylvania area and from Jamestown, N. Y., and Wheeling, W. Va., will meet to study legislation in its relation to women in industry. At the banquet, which will be held tomorrow evening, Miss Lucy P. Carner, National Y. W. C. A. secretary, will be the speaker. Since 1918 Miss Carner has devoted her entire attention to industrial research, legislation and the promotion of education and opportunities among industrial workers.

On Sunday the conference sessions will be given over to reports by the girls' committees. The final address will be made by Miss Beatrice McConnell, of the State Bureau of Women and Children. * * *

THE fifth annual alumnae council of Pennsylvania College for Women had its first session at the college this morning and late this afternoon a tea was given for members of the faculty and the senior class. Miss Cora Helen Coolidge, president of the college, Mrs. George M. Swan, president of the Alumnae Association, and Miss Mary Jane Dorn, president of the senior class, received and pouring were Mrs. Charles Searing, Mrs. William M. Stevenson, Miss Janet L. Brownlee and Miss Lillian Green. A program of entertainment was presented by students. Tomorrow morning J. S. Kinder, head of the department of education, will address the council, telling of the results of the Pennsylvania study of higher education. The council will come to an end with an informal luncheon. * * *

THE Woman's Club and the general faculty of Carnegie Institute of Technology will hold an informal party at the Faculty Club rooms tomorrow evening. A varied program has been arranged by Mrs. Alexander J. Wurts, chairman, and there will be cards and dancing. Those assisting Mrs. Wurts are Mrs. David Gustafson, Mrs. Harold L. Lang, Dr. Thomas B. Alexander, Jr., Mrs. John D. Beatty, H. K. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. J. C. Warner, Mrs. Robert Schmertz, Arthur W. Tarbell, John D. Beatty, Mrs. Kirkpatrick. * * *

THE Better Magazines Council of Allegheny County has decided to apply for a charter. The better magazines movement has grown with surprising strides since the formation of the Allegheny County organization. The West Virginia State Federation of Women's Clubs is sponsoring the organization in that state. Chicago, Youngstown and Philadelphia have councils and, following the visit of Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, chairman of the local council, to Steubenville this week, the movement was begun there among the women's clubs. * * *

MRS. JOHN M. PHILLIPS, chairman of the American home department of the State Federation, will address the Sarah Sloan Scholarship Club at its meeting next Wednesday in the Congress of Clubs. Mrs. Sara Owen Julian, soprano, will give the musical program. * * *

MRS. CARYL STARR, president of the South Hills College Club, has moved to Philadelphia, but will be in Pittsburgh for the April and June meetings. Mrs. Ross Conaway will preside in Mrs. Starr's absence.

THE Twentieth Century Club Choral made its debut yesterday afternoon and firmly established itself in the favor of the club membership. These score or more of songsters, some of whom have been "hiding their light under a bushel," sing well together and are a credit to their director, Mrs. Thomas K. Cree. Mrs. John E. Nelson, as accompanist, deserves a word of praise for her part in the success of the recital. The program was carried out as announced and by request the choral repeated "The Bells of St. Mary's." Mrs. Cree and Jean McCrory Newman sang the duet in Schumann's "The Gypsies." Miss Elizabeth Webster, daughter of Beveridge Webster, of the old Pittsburgh Conservatory, was piano soloist and pleased her audience with a display of those talents, both inherited and acquired, which have won her a niche in the musical world. Tea followed the recital. * * *

SEVERAL topics will be taken up for discussion by the Epoch Club next season, each member making her own selection. Mrs. Thomas C. Clifford, of Thomas boulevard was hostess for yesterday morning's meeting when California was the study subject. Mrs. A. L. Vencill talked of the old Spanish missions and read from Bret Harte's "The Angelus," Mrs. Frank L. Slocum described the Sacramento Valley, Mrs. Harold W. Cope supplemented her talk on the variableness and charm of the state's atmosphere with a reading from Ernest C. Irwin's "Californiacs" and Mrs. F. F. Rohrer described the beauties of the Columbia River Highway. * * *

THE next meeting of the general readers' group of the College Club, will be held March 26 at which time Miss Alice McGirr will review "Leonardo the Florentine" by Rachel Ammon Taylor. The novel readers' meeting at 8 o'clock that evening will hear Miss Katherine Patterson review Undset's "Kristin Lavransdatter." March 22 at 1:30 o'clock the poetry class will meet for discussion of "Some Modern Poets." * * *

THE student aid committee of the Women's Community Association of the Twenty-seventh ward will entertain members and friends Monday evening, April 1, in the John Morrow school. On the program will appear V. Presbovsky, Cecelia Namara, and Mrs. Katherine Nornewick, soloists; Miss Estelle R. Smith, Miss Mary Garrett, Miss Margaret Rudalph and Miss Virginia Crawford, readers. * * *

INTERESTING facts relating to Pennsylvania's contribution to the progress of civilization were presented before the Ingomar Woman's Club yesterday by Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, who spoke on "High Lights in Pennsylvania." The club met for its "Pennsylvania Day" observance in the home of Mrs. C. R. Weinman and heard for the remainder of the program music by two Pittsburgh composers, Nevin and Cadman, presented by Mrs. Harry Trimble and Mrs. Earl Sarver. Mrs. Harold Pomeroy accompanied the former, while Mrs. Robert K. Millard was accompanist for Mrs. Sarver. Mrs. E. Robert Wiese and Mrs. Fred R. Miller were assistant hostesses. During the business session Mrs. John Jarvis was elected to the vice presidency. * * *

THE Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Kappa will meet at a St. Patricks Day tea in the home of Mrs. R. R. Murdock, Overbrook boulevard, tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. D. W. Fegert will assist the hostess.

Seized Gems Given Ganna Walska As She Sails

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP.)—Prior to the sailing of the liner Paris at midnight with Mme. Ganna Walska aboard, the customs released $250,000 worth of jewelry seized when she arrived here last year. But she wasn't allowed to put any of it on until the ship had passed out of American territorial waters.

The jewels and considerable clothing were held because Mme. Walska refused to pay duty, saying she was a resident of Paris, although her husband, Harold F. McCormick, lives in Chicago. The case still is pending before the Customs Court. The jewelry was delivered to the purser of the Paris, who was instructed not to deliver it to Mme. Walska until the liner was out of territorial waters.

New Irish Minister Received by Hoover

WASHINGTON, March 15.—(AP.)—Michael MacWhite, succeeding Timothy A. Smiddy as minister of the Irish Free State, had the honor yesterday of being the first foreign diplomat to present letters of credence to President Hoover. The new minister was formally received by the President in the blue room of the White House and conveyed his country's wishes for the continued prosperity of the United States. In acknowledging the messages of good will, Mr. Hoover said they were cordially reciprocated.

Your Sunday Dinner

By PRUDENCE PENNY

Mushrooms in Cream.
Broiled Tomatoes.
Baked Sweet Potatoes.
Stuffed Celery.
Strawberry Bavarian.
Coffee.

THERE'S nothing more delicious than baked trout, so let's have it for dinner this Sunday.

You'll need about three and a half pounds of trout; salt it, and let it stand for several hours. Wet a tablespoon of flour with a little sauce from a can of tomatoes. Place the fish in a dripping pan with the rest of the can of tomatoes, an onion cut fine, a piece of celery root, a tablespoon of butter, and the flour and tomato mixture, and bake one-half hour.

Then strain and, just before sending it to the table, thicken with the yolk of an egg, adding a little cream and Worcestershire sauce.

BROILED tomatoes add just the zest that is necessary with any dinner. Wipe and cut the tomatoes in halves crosswise, cut off a thin slice from the rounding part of each half.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in crumbs, egg and crumbs again, place in a well-buttered broiler, and broil six or eight minutes.

Then for the mushrooms in cream—and I feel sure you'll like them as much as I do—brush a half pound of mushrooms. Remove the stems, scrape and cut in pieces. Peel caps, and break in pieces. Melt three tablespoons of butter, add the mushrooms, cook two minutes; sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour, and add one-half cup hot water or stock. Cook slowly five minutes.

Stuff the celery with this mixture; combine ¾ cup of cream cheese with 1½ tablespoons of cream, 3 tablespoons of chopped nuts, ¾ teaspoon of onion juice and 1½ teaspoons of chopped pepper. Fill the stalks of crisp, clean celery lightly and garnish with dashes of paprika.

STRAWBERRIES are an almost positive herald of spring. It does my soul good just to see the boxes on boxes of fat, luscious berries offered in the markets.

They are quite reasonably priced, too, and since Strawberry Bavarian is such a delightful dessert, we'll wind up our excellent dinner with it. Mash 2 cups of strawberries through a wire strainer, and add a half cup of powdered sugar.

Stir until dissolved; soak a tablespoon of gelatin in a half cup of cold water for 15 minutes, then place over hot water until dissolved, and add to the strawberry juice. As soon as it begins to set, fold in a cup of heavy cream, which has been whipped until stiff.

Pour into a mold or bowl, which has been rinsed in cold water. Then, if you have an electric refrigerator, freeze the dessert in the pans—and, if not, pack it in ice and salt for two hours.

SOUTHERN SOFT GINGERBREAD—One-half cup of butter, one-half cup sugar, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon soda dissolved in one cup boiling water, one cup molasses, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon ginger, two and one-half cups flour, two eggs, beaten separately.

Mix exactly as you would for a cake and bake in buttered biscuit pan in a moderate oven.

BAKED LIVER—Wash, drain and trim a calf's liver, sprinkle it all over with salt, pepper, and 2 tablespoons of flour, and place in a spider with 2 tablespoons beef or poultry fat, and 2 sliced onions. Melt the fat and spread some over the top of the liver. Cover spider closely and place in a hot over 15 minutes. Uncover, reduce the heat and bake slowly one hour, or until tender and well browned. Serve plain or with slices of fried bacon on top, and decorate with parsley.

Tastes like your own cake

Cherry Square Cake

because it's made from a genuine old-fashioned Cook-Book Recipe —just as you'd make it yourself

There is only one way a cake can have that lovely "home-made" taste. That is to make it as a housewife would. From a Cook-Book Recipe and purest ingredients. And that is exactly the way we make this new cake.

Luscious CHERRY SQUARE is a new 2-layer white cake. Rich with milk and whites of eggs. Iced with red, ripe cherries in thick butter-cream icing. Delicious—as only rich icing and plenty of cherries can make it.

Here's a way to prove it

To give this cake its "home-made" taste we make it as you would. From a tested Cook-Book Recipe—followed to the letter. (Inside each wrapper you will find the exact recipe we use. All ingredients and measurements.)

Make a CHERRY SQUARE yourself from this recipe, if you care to, and compare it with ours. You will then see that this is a real Cook-Book Cake—that it must be baked with purest milk, freshest eggs and butter, and the best grade of sugar, pastry flour and flavoring extract to taste so good. And this is true of all Grennan Cook-Book Cakes.

You must be satisfied

Your grocer now has many new varieties of Cook-Book Cakes. Try one. If you don't agree that it is perfectly delicious—and that it has a real "home-made" taste—return the unused portion and get your money back. We want you to do this. We will repay your grocer.

If Delicate Colors Fade in Washing Machine

Simple Way to Stop Fade and "Soap Eat" Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap Is Used

Soap eat of fragile things and fading of delicate colors in either washing machine or tub can easily be corrected now, even when ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the waterline) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For light washing in small wash basins, a teaspoonful of CLIMALENE is enough.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

JOE DAWSON FACES SEALS TODAY

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

FOURTEEN BIG LEAGUERS STILL BALK

WHILE Pittsburgh fans are concerned only about the Waner brothers, the fact that other baseball holdouts are falling into line from day to day is being noted with due interest hereabouts as indicating that the two unsigned Pirates will eventually be back in the fold, like all the rest.

Max Bishop

The thinning of the holdout ranks continued yesterday, when three more players came to terms with their respective clubs after drawn-out salary arguments. Pitcher Dazzy Vance's demand for a salary of $25,000 was granted by the Dodger owners, Second Baseman Max Bishop finally reached an agreement with the management of the Athletics, and Pitcher Sam Jones entered the fold of the Washington club.

The ending of the three holdouts, following the report that Outfielder Heinie Manush has come to an understanding with the St. Louis American League club, reduces the number of players not yet enrolled to a total of 16. Of these, Outfielder Goose Goslin is as good as in with the Senators, as he is training with the club in camp, and Pitcher Heinie Meine probably will be dropped by Pittsburgh, just as the Pirates discarded Roy Spencer; the Cubs, Clyde Day, and the Giants, Garland Buckeye.

THE list of actual holdouts, therefore, may be considered as having been cut to 14. The great majority of these are National League players, the senior loop having 11 men unsigned against only three in the American. The three men still balking in the Barnard circuit are Shortstop Bill Hunnefield, of the White Sox, Urban Hodapp, of the Indians, slated to be shifted from third base to first, and Outfielder Frank McGowan, of the Browns.

In addition to the two Waners in the National, the unsigned athletes are Catchers Val Picinich and Hugh McMullen, Third Baseman Charley Dressen and Outfielder Curt Walker, of the Reds; Outfielder Ernesto Orsatti and Third Baseman Fred Haney, of the Cardinals; Third Baseman Joe Dugan and Pitcher Bill Clarkson, of the Braves, and Pitcher Bob McGraw, of the Phillies. Rapid reductions may be expected in the list as the salary period draws nearer. Few holdouts ever miss a payday.

WITH "Waner and Waner," the headliners of the lot, still delaying their annual appearance on the Heydler circuit, other brother acts in baseball are not faring very well this spring.

Donie Bush broke up another pair as far as the big leagues are concerned when he shipped Homer Blankenship, Pirate pitcher, back to Dallas in the Texas League. Homer is a brother of Ted Blankenship, White Sox hurler.

Homer Blankenship

THIS isn't the only instance of brothers being separated as holders of major league berths. Claude Jonnard has come back to the big show as a pitcher with the Browns, but Clarence, the catcher, has slipped out again. Pitcher Johnny Cooney is still with the Braves, but Jim, the shortstop, has passed on. Ivy Wingo is coach of the Reds, but the Tigers have dropped Absalom, the outfielder. Apart from the Waners, only three pairs of brothers are now prominent in the majors. Milton and Alex Gaston, a battery, are with the Red Sox; the Indians have Infielder Joe Sewell, and Luke, catcher, while George and Fred Pipgras, both pitchers, are working for the Yankees and Tigers, respectively.

SOMEBODY has dug up an old Brave-Philly trade of five years ago as showing a precedent for the Wright case. It is asserted that Boston had to give the Quakers another outfielder when Ray Powell showed up with an injured knee, and that Wilbert Robinson will base an appeal for nullification of the Wright-Petty-Riconda deal on that case, the intimation being made that the league president took a hand in settling the squabble between the Braves and the Phils.

The league president did nothing of the sort. The trade in question was that made by Dave Bancroft and Arthur Fletcher prior to the 1924 case, in which Boston gave Outfielder Powell and Infielder Horace Ford to Philadelphia for Infielder Cotton Tierney. By reason of Powell's lameness, Philadelphia, on the strength of a previous agreement, turned him back to Boston and claimed Outfielder Al Nixon in his place.

IT was a matter solely between the two clubs, and League President Heydler had nothing to do with it, as is shown by the fact that the deal stood even though Nixon refused to report to the Phils and remained out of organized baseball for two seasons.

Instead of an injured player, Philadelphia got one who did not play at all, yet the Quakers had to stand for it. It was not until 1926 that Nixon applied for reinstatement and consented to join the Phils.

Sherwood Magee

ONE of baseball's best-known and most colorful figures was lost to the game in general, and to the National League in particular, in the death of Sherwood Magee. First as a player and later as an umpire Magee was one of fandom's favorites around the senior circuit, and he will be generally missed, both on account of his value to the sport and the personal characteristics that made him popular with the patrons of the game. As a batsman, baserunner and fielder, Sherry ranked with the best in his playing days, and he also held the distinction of being one of the few players, such as Pitcher George Uhle of the Tigers, who ever jumped right into the big leagues from the independent ranks and stuck there without any minor league experience or schooling.

DEATH'S hand has fallen heavily upon the National League umpiring staff during the last eight years. Magee was the fourth member of the parent league's corps of arbiters to answer the last summons within that comparatively short span, not counting two who had formerly served in the same capacity.

Prior to the death of Magee, Pete Harrison, of Youngstown, died at Saranac Lake on March 1, 1921; Paul Sentelle succumbed following an operation in Cincinnati, on April 27, 1923, and last June Frank Wilson passed away in Brooklyn. Two former National League umpires also were called in the death of Ed Swartwood in this city on May 15, 1924, and that of Jim Johnstone in Ireland, on June 15, 1927.

THE Patrick brothers—Lester, manager of the New York Rangers, and Frank, manager of Vancouver, president of the Pacific Coast League, and possible buyer of a big interest in the Boston Bruins,

The Trinity Cathedral basketball team, which is rounding out a successful season, is made up of youths who have been playing together for a number of years, starting out in the midget class, competing later as choir boys and now playing as members of the Boys' Council, which supervises the activities of the boys of the downtown church.

GEORGE NEASE, BENEDICT CHOSEN

Ganzy Benedict, a forward, and George Nease, guard, have been elected to captain the respective varsity basketball teams at Duquesne University and Carnegie Tech for 1930. Benedict was chosen to lead the Dukes at the annual court banquet tendered the varsity squad by the university at the Fort Pitt Hotel last night. Nease was elected by the Tartans at a special meeting yesterday afternoon.

Benedict, a member of the Duquesne football team, will be a junior next year. He succeeds Jock Rosenberg, veteran guard, who graduates from Duquesne's pharmacy school in June. Nease supplants Harvey White at Tech. The latter captained the Plaid for two consecutive years, being re-elected for the past season after leading the Tartans in the campaign of 1927-28.

GET NINE LETTERS

Carnegie Tech varsity basketeers were awarded nine letters, and they went to Captain White, Captain-elect Nease, Student Manager Ted Zenk, Eph. Coum, Ralph Merton, Bill Brown, Auther Weiss, Marvin Fox, Wayne High and Freshman Manager Hewett.

Leonard, Webster, Schumacker, Armentrout and McCury of the Plebes also were awarded letters.

Charles E. Selsam, Harrisburg, was elected varsity manager and Howard H. Alden of Massillon, O., freshman manager for next season.

Fred Sangster, Canadian from Sherbrooke, Que., will pilot the Tech swimming team in the 1929-30 season, and Henry D. Butz of Allentown will be its manager. The Plebe mermen elected David X. Tomer of this city as captain.

JOHNSON ELECTED

The 1921 varsity cross-country team will be led by Raymond C. Johnson, with Orville P. Seidner of Toledo as Freshman captain.

Minor C awards were made to the following members of this year's varsity swimming team: Captain Beech, Manager Bronson, Sangster, Wray, Hobe, Darr, Basler, Hornbostel, and Freshman manager Wood. Plebe swimmers to get letters were Eastabrooke, Haxelwood, Kountz and Phillips.

PITT TO STAGE FETE

The chief speaker at the Duke banquet was Rev. John P. Dodwell, chairman of the Duquesne Athletic Council. Graduate Manager John Holahan was toastmaster. Other speakers were Coach Chick Davies, Charles O. Rice, Captain Rosenberg and Captain-elect Benedict.

The University of Pittsburgh announced last night that it would hold its annual banquet for the varsity and freshmen basketball teams in the University Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evening, April 4, at which time it will elect captains for next year. Charles Ray, Jr., is chairman of the committee in charge. W. C. Arthur, an alumnus, will be toastmaster.

MANDELL OFFERED BOUT

BUENOS AIRES, March 15.—(AP)—An offer of a $40,000 purse for a title match with the Argentine boxer, Justo Suarez, to take place here May 25, has been cabled to Sammy Mandell, of Rockford, Ill., world lightweight champion, by the promoter of the National Boxing Association of Buenos Aires.

PROFIO'S PUNCH ON EXHIBITION TONIGHT

All the boxing world loves a socker. Which is the main reason why the Moose Temple Citadel of Swat will be besieged by a punch-hungry gang of mitt fanatics tonight for the 10-round feature bout between Tiger Joe Randall, of Elizabeth, Pa., and Dominick Profio, of Cecil, Pa., the young former amateur who has usurped the place of Jack Zivic as the local knockout king.

Dominick Profio.

Profio, who has stopped 10 opponents in 17 starts as a professional, after an equally sensational career as an amateur, has knocked out Young Rudy, of Charleroi, and California Joe Gans in his last two bouts and will be out to add the Elizabeth Negro to his list of sudden death victims after the latter has performed the feat of giving him a bang-up fight over the four-round route at Motor Square Garden a few months ago in Profio's second professional battle. Randall, who now is under the management of Jim Buchanan, of Charleroi, is a clever boxer and a good hitter himself and believes he knows from his first meeting with Profio exactly how to fight him to turn the tables. He promises to make matters interesting for the walloping Italian, who now is under the management of James (Red) Mason.

SELLOUT IS LIKELY

Promoter Francis Flynn reports an even heavier advance sale than for his recent Rudy Ceder-Cuddy DeMarco show, when he had to turn away hundreds of fans who came out to see the ever-dangerous Ceder essay to hand DeMarco his first knockout defeat here. He failed in this, but did manage to carry off a disputed decision.

Hugh Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, and Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, will appear in the semi-final, the winner to meet Buck McTiernan in the next show in the Temple. Four Hill district battlers will appear in the preliminaries, Billy Dacey meeting Sam Hunter, Negro light-heavyweight, in the second bout, and Sammy Paris and Nat Litfin, bantam rivals, hooking up in the opener at 8:30.

SINGER IS FAVORITE

Although he was being beaten up to the time he won on a foul over Tony Youkonis, 6 rounds.

MERRITT GOES TO DARTMOUTH

HANOVER, N. H., March 15.—(AP)—Mel Merritt, football coach at Allegheny College last season, has been engaged as assistant head coach of the Dartmouth football team, it has been announced here.

Merritt, who played on the Green's 1919 and 1920 elevens, was assistant to Jack Cannell when Dartmouth's new head coach held that same post in 1921. It was expected that Cannell would place him in charge of the backfield next season.

Amateur Ring Show At Lyceum Tuesday

Some of the best amateur boxing bouts of the season in this district are in prospect for next Tuesday night at Pittsburgh Lyceum, 110 Washington place, when an inter-club show will be staged with the leading glovemen of the Lyceum in the various classes meeting those of the Willow Athletic Club, of Lawrenceville. Eight events of three rounds each will be put on at different weights. The boxers appearing will include some of the topnotchers of the amateur division in this section, and every number promises to be full of fast action. The first bout will be started at 8:30 o'clock.

O'HARA BACK FROM IRELAND

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Pete O'Hara, popular professional at the Westmoreland Country Club, who made a remarkable showing in local tournament competition last season, has returned from a visit home to Ireland, according to Isaac Hollander, chairman of the golf committee at the Verona club.

Pete returned home in order to recuperate late last season he became very ill, and was laid up for some time. It is reported that O'Hara has fully recovered, is in excellent shape and ready for another real year.

O'Hara's brother, Pat, who has been professional at the Richmond Country Club, Staten Island, and others in the Metropolitan District, is to sail from Ireland on March 20, it is said, and will stay with Pete at Westmoreland until he establishes a new connection in this country.

Most of the local golf pros will be back on their respective jobs April 1.

FIGHT RESULTS

PIRATE ICEMEN QUIT CITY TONIGHT

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The final act in Pittsburgh's 1928-29 National Hockey League drama will be unfolded as a kind of epilogue late today when Benny Leonard's Pirates leave for Boston and New York, and their final games of the season. The Bucs lowered the curtain on local league competition when they defeated Chicago at the Garden on March 5, but they have spent the last week here preparing for their "last stand."

BOSTON FIRST STOP

Boston is to be the Pirates' first destination. The Bruin sextet is to be opposed tomorrow evening, and on Sunday the Bucs will move on to New York for a clash with the Rangers, the last of the campaign. Only Drury, Smith and McCurry will return to Pittsburgh, the other members of the club going from New York to their homes in Canada.

Charley Leonard, secretary of the Pirates and brother of Benny Leonard, owner of the club, has announced that the Pittsburgh franchise in the National League will be operated here again next season. Several changes in the makeup of the club are planned, and certain of those now wearing Pittsburgh livery will not return here when the training campaign opens next fall.

AMATEURS PLAY TOMORROW

Although the Pirates are finished here, the West Penn Amateur Hockey League championship series is just approaching a climax to be reached at Duquesne Garden tomorrow. In the first of the three-game titular set, at the Garden Tuesday, the Philadelphia Company skaters blanked the Hornets by 5 to 0, and they need only one more win to sew up the crown.

PIRATES MOVE ON TO 'FRISCO TOMORROW

By CHARLES J. DOYLE, Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, March 15.—The Pirate Regulars started for Monterey about 5 o'clock this morning. The athletes were in their sleeper before midnight, but the cars remained on a siding until the arrival of their train. The squad was due to reach Monterey several hours later, to be ready for the training battle with the Seals—the same Seals who gave our boys a real pasting on Wednesday.

Paso Robles sent the first team away with a smile. The last day in camp did not seem so promising when the players arose, but the sun came out in a fine manner during the afternoon, the players taking the benefit of a workout that continued for two hours.

OUT TO EVEN COUNT

Manager Bush expects to start Joe Dawson against the Seals today, with Fred Fussell ready to take the latter part of the contest. Donie would like to have the two veterans reel off the contest, but he has several youngsters along in case of an emergency.

The Buccos will play out all strings to even up the count with the pesky Seals. Nick Williams has a gallery of sluggers which seems to be exceptionally good against righthand pitching. Fussell should serve them some tantalizing slants, they operating to a big extent on a lefthand drive.

The Pirates will continue with Adams at third and Bartell at second for the present. Meantime, Jim Stroner seems to be getting stronger. The Western League star, however, is likely to be rested for two more weeks before he gets any strenuous assignments.

YANS GET PRACTICE

The Yanigans will remain in Paso Robles through most of today. Bush's assistants will run the second team through a brisk workout. Donie left most of his first-string pitchers at the camp with a view of their getting more exercise.

The Pirates expect to be greeted by Barney Dreyfuss when they dock at Monterey. The Bucco owner and Mrs. Dreyfuss are enjoying a vacation at Del Monte, which is just across the way from Monterey.

The second team is scheduled to meet up with the Regulars tonight, the train to take the entire squad to San Francisco. The big series with the Missions and Seals will begin at the Golden Gate City tomorrow.

SCHOOLS OPEN CAGE TOURNEY

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 15.—Washington was thronged today with high school basketball players and students here for the opening of the seventh annual county scholastic title basketball tournament. The first teams to face each other on the floor of the National Guard Armory at 9 o'clock were those of Morris and West Alexander High.

The morning was consumed with games among teams of Class III having an enrollment of less than 100. This afternoon, Class II teams representing institutions having an enrollment between 100 and 250 are scheduled to hold the boards, while tonight the Class I outfits from the schools with an enrollment above 250 will engage. In the last named classification only two games are scheduled tonight, Trinity High of Washington meeting Charleroi High, and Canonsburg and Donora High teams clashing, Monongahela High having drawn a bye.

The competition is expected to be the keenest ever staged by the Washington County Interscholastic Athletic Association, especially in Class II, where more than a half dozen teams with brilliant records are conceded a chance to win the title.

GUS TO DEFEND TITLE

RICHEST STAKE RACE CARDED FOR SUNDAY

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

The world's richest stake race is to be run at Tia Juana Sunday. It is the Coffroth Handicap with a $100,000 added value.

Jim Coffroth

Eighty-six nominations have been made for the event, with the entries to be named the day before they go to the post.

It is a feature for 3-year-olds and upwards and the winner will drag down $75,000 and all entry and starting fees, while the winning jockey and trainer will be rewarded with a purse of $5,000 each. The owner of the runnerup will receive $9,000, the show horse picks up $4,500, and $1,500 goes to the fourth place finisher. The entry fee is $150 and it costs $500 additional to start.

The race was inaugurated in 1927 with a value of only $4,000 and was not renewed until after the war, in 1921, when it had a value of $14,775. Annually the stake has gone up until last year the ninth renewal was worth $97,700, and a new high mark will be set this year.

CONCERNING GLENN WRIGHT

Apropos the hullaballoo over the alleged discovery that Glenn Wright wasn't the sound baseball player he was presumed to be when the Pirates traded him to the Robins last fall for Jess Petty and Harry Riconda, and the intimation that the Brooklyn Club would seek to have the deal canceled, here are two items that appeared among the personals in a Western newspaper: "Henry Morgan traded horses Wednesday." "Henry Morgan went to Strykerville Thursday to have his eyes examined."

Glenn Wright.

The moral is: Don't do any trading with Barney Dreyfuss. History reveals the fact that any time he is willing to part with a baseball player, that player won't be of much value to anybody else, crippled or otherwise. They don't out-David Harum our Barney.

THEY'LL LIKE IT

Frank (Bull) Brown, the well-known umpire, was discussing the Robins' bleat on the Wright case yesterday.

"Say," he said, "Brooklyn will keep Wright, no matter what is the matter with him, AND LIKE IT. When a baseball club makes a trade it figures on outsticking the other club or it wouldn't be trading. And if it finds itself outsticked, it's just too bad and there's nothing that can be done about it. The Robins even threw in Riconda for extra measure along with Petty to get Wright and thought they had a bargain. Now they will have to abide by that bargain."

HISTORY IS REVERSED

There was no Braddock's Defeat to write into history when Jimmy Braddock "took" Jimmy Slattery the other night.

Blind Former Pug Held for Owning Home-Brew

TOLEDO, March 15. — Clyde (K. O.) Jeakle, former noted lightweight pugilist, who lost his sight fighting, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Budd here late today on charge of owning 900 pints of home-brewed beer found in his home.

Jeakle, who has a wife and family, suffered injury to his optic nerves four years ago while appearing in an elimination exhibition at Madison Square Garden, New York City. An operation failed to save his eyes.

At that time he was regarded as one of the most promising candidates for the lightweight championship of the world.

SHARPSBURG HI ADVANCES IN TOURNEY

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., March 15.—Sharpsburg, conceded a chance to win the consolation rounds of the Allegheny-Kiski Valley tourney, walloped Rimersburg, 31-6, this morning. The speed and pass-work of the Sharpsburgers featured, Reiter and Ponza leading the scorers. The lineup:

Sharpsburg—31.		Rimersburg—6.
Tarasi	F	Whitemire
Reiter	F	McCafferty
Ponza	C	Steltz
Carmen	G	Regis
Marsico	G	Weinkoop

Score by periods:

Sharpsburg	10	21—31
Rimersburg	4	2—6

Substitutions: Rimersburg—Hawk, Fowler, Seltzer, Gremo. Sharpsburg—Ferraro, Mort, Santalusci. Field goals—Tarasi 2, Reiter 5, Ponza 6, McCafferty, Hawk. Fouls—Sharpsburg, 6 out of 16; Rimersburg, 2 out of 5. Referee—Lenox.

Reynoldsville—20.		Verona—7.
Binney	F	Mauro
Woodring	F	Hartney
Anderson	C	McChesney
Sloan	G	Pope
Love	G	Truschal

Score by periods—None. Substitutions—Reynoldsville, Hoare, Swanson; Verona, Wise. Field goals—Binney, 3; Woodring, 2; Anderson, 3; Truschal, 2. Fouls—Reynoldsville, 4 out of 7; Verona, 3 out of 8. Referee—Dr. Goldberg.

Saltsburg—17.		N. Bethlehem—21.
Simpson	F	Nophsker
Serene	F	Forrester
Shuster	C	McIntyre
Ray	G	Hockenberry
Rupert	G	Shaffer

Score by periods—

Saltsburg	6	11—17
New Bethlehem	8	13—21

Substitutions—Saltsburg, Franklin. Field goals—McIntyre 3, Hockenberry 2, Nophsker, Forrester 2, Shaffer, Simpson 2, Shuster, Ray 2. Fouls—Saltsburg 7 out of 9; New Bethlehem 3 out of 4.

The Ken Hi-Etna combat marked the climax of a brilliant six-game card last night, which was preceded by another half-dozen games yesterday afternoon. This tilt was a see-saw affair with Neidecker and Ruff on the one hand and McCandless, Blean and Daycub on the other, performing sensationally all the way.

ASPINWALL OUT

Blairsville was not extended to defeat Oakmont, 22-14, in an interesting game.

Franklin High, winner of the Allegheny-Kiski title for the last two years, won handily from Aspinwall, 21-14, although had the maroon-clad floormen been better shots, they would have made things decidedly more interesting for the champs.

Tarentum impressed by a 14-9 elimination of Clarion, in a game where both rivals were off color in marksmanship.

Sykesville showed real power in a 27-16 defeat of Saltsburg. The result indicates that Sykesville may cause some trouble. Brockway defeated New Bethlehem, 29-22, in a speedy affair.

VERONA BEATEN

In yesterday's afternoon games Kittanning toppled Rimesburg, Blairsville downed Leechburg in an 18-17 thriller, Parnassus upset the dope by trimming Reynoldsville, Oil City beat Verona, and Oakmont toppled Glen Campbell.

MT. HOPE FIVE ADVANCES IN W. VA. PLAY

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Mar. 15.—Mt. Hope pummeled the hoop in the last perod to take a hard game from West Monongah, 26 to 18, in the first game of the second round of the state championship basketball tournament here today. The Faulkner-coached machine sunk four straight field goals to subdue its opponent. Toney was the star for the winning team. The lineup:

West Mononzah—18.		Mt. Hope—26.
Koon	F	Carter
Yaquinto	F	Toney
McKain	C	Totsi
Smith	G	Parker
Banker	G	Ward

Field goals—Koon, McKain 4, Banker, Carter 2, Toney 7. Foul goals—West Monongah, 6 out of 13; Mt. Hope, 6 out of 14. Substitutions—Ohio for Koon, Sprage for Smith, Davidson for Sprage. Referees—Grover and Harrington.

WELLSBURG DEFEATED

In the second game Washington-Irving took a close battle from Wellsburg, 27 to 23, after the Bethany sectional team had led in the early part of the contest. Wellsburg lost Leggett and Lazear in the early part of the game, one due to injuries and the other by the personal foul route. Herold and Furbee were the aces for the winners, while Turley and Davis played well for Wellsburg. The lineup:

Wellsburg—23.		Wash-Irving—27.
Crabtree	F	Furbee
Davis	F	Hull
Lazear	C	Herold
Furley	G	Reynolds
Leggett	G	Kester

Field goals—Furbee 2, Hull 4, Herold, Kester, Davis 4, Lazear, Turley 3. Foul goals—Washington-Irving, 8 out of 17; Wellsburg, 7 out of 14. Substitutions—Sappington for Kester, Pfiler for Lazear, Kiney for Leggett. Referees—Grover and Harrington.

FAVORITES TRIUMPH

Wheeling, had little trouble in turning back Bayard, 41 to 28. The Golden Knights got away to an early start and piled up a 22-9 lead at half time. Heisley and Modar proved the Wheeling mainstays. The lineup:

Wheeling—41.		Bayard—28.
Modar	F	Schwartz
Heisey	F	Blackburn
Flannagan		Hanlin
Bruhn	G	Winters
Martin	G	Dilgaurde

Field goals—Schwartz 3, Blackburn 5, Hanlin 1, Winters 1, Modar 3, Heisey 5, Goldberg 1, Flannagan 4, Bauman 2, Bruhn 1. Carol 1. Foul goals—Wheeling, 8 out of 10; Bayard, 7 out of 8. Substitutions—Goldberg for Heisey, Bauman for Flannagan, Carol for Martin. Referees—Grover and Harrington.

HAMLIN WINS ANOTHER

Hamlin, the tourney darkhorse, emerged with another victory, defeating Hinton, 26 to 13, to end the morning session of the second round. Hinton was leading at half time, 12 to 9, but Cremeans' eagle eye in the last half turned the tide. The winner will be Wheeling's opponent in the tri-finals. The lineup:

Hinton—13.		Hamlin—26.
Ratliff	F	Rabbitts
Turner	F	Adkins
Bess	C	Martin
Burdette	G	Cremeans
Stennette	G	Woodall

Field goals—Rabbitts 3, Martin 3, Cremeans 4, Woodall 1, Ratliff 1, Turner 1, Bess 1, Stennette 2. Foul goals—Hamlin 4 out of 6; Hinton 1 out of 6. Substitutions—Gwinn for Turner, Allen for Bess, Payne for Stennette. Referee—Grover and Harrington.

CHAMPS WIN EASILY

Wheeling, 1928 champions, rolled up the biggest score yesterday in the first round, totaling an even 50 counters.

Mullens could not cope with the West Monongah attack, and lost, 32 to 19, while Mt. Hope smothered Petersburg, 41 to 21. Washington-Irving and Martinsburg furnished the initial fireworks of the tourney when Hiteman barely eked out a 26-to-25 victory in the last minute of play. To complete the morning round, Wellsburg swamped Pineville, 41 to 19.

PHILIPPI ELIMINATED

Gary and Wheeling opened the afternoon activities, the former winning handily, 50 to 14. Bayard came from behind to clip Farmington, 26 to 24, while Hamlin gave the tourney the first real upset when it defeated Philippi, the Broaddus sectional winner, 27 to 22.

Hinton won a slow game from Salem, 17 to 11, while Montgomery was barely able to nose out Clarksburg, 32 to 30. Middlebourne, another team to come from behind, downed Ravenswood, 24 to 19.

A bevy of strong contenders appeared in the evening session, which was opened by Keyser's two-point win over Beckley. Grafton again upset the dope by snatching a 30-to-25 victory over Ceredo-Kenova.

SHINNSTON VICTOR

Parkersburg had little trouble with Triadelphia, winning 33 to 13, while Elkins humbled Kingwood, 34 to 14. Shinnston staged a late start to emerge a 35-to-25 victor over Richwood in a rough battle, and the evening's program was brought to a close with Alderson giving Pennsboro a 21-to-21 beating.

MARTY GOLD LOSES

Bambino Tests New Swat Stance

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15.—(INS.)—Babe Ru is experimenting with a new batting stance which he hopes will increase his home run output as well as his batting average. The home run king of the Yankees is now standing about a foot further away from the plate so that he can "lean on" balls in the groove and on the inside, and tap wide ones into left for singles.

Bud Taylor in their bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, recently. Al Singer, New York featherweight, again is the favorite for his return bout with Taylor in the Garden tonight. The odds are 7 to 5. The foul in their first meeting was disputed and the judges and referee will be especially warned to watch Taylor's body punching tonight.

Leo (Kid) Roy and Irish Bobby Brady box the semi-final to the Taylor-Singer battle, with Jackie Horner meeting Ben Jeby in another 10-rounder on the card.

SEIFERT VS. WIGGINS

Sandy Seifert, North Side heavyweight, who last week lost a bout to Jack Wells at Steubenville, after being on the sidelines for a long time, intends to keep going in his new campaign and to this end has accepted a bout with Chuck Wiggins, to be fought at Indianapolis next Tuesday night.

Herman Follins, Ambridge featherweight, is laid up with an injured nose in New York, where he has been boxing successfully since turning professional, and is to have the member operated on next Monday.

The Pastime Club of the North Side, will hold a boxing smoker in its quarters tonight. Six bouts will be staged under A. A. U. sanction.

Skipper Manning, former Lawrenceville boxer, will referee the bouts on the benefit card for Lou Holson in Forrester hall, 4210 Butler street, Sunday afternoon. Six professional and five amateur bouts are listed, with Jack Burke and Billy Newton, the latter of Youngstown, furnishing the windup. Seventeen singing, dancing and musical acts also are on the program.

A. O. H. TO HOLD SMOKER

A benefit smoker and entertainment under the auspices of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, will be held next Monday evening in A. O. H. hall, 2715 Sarah street, South Side.

Nine bouts will make up the card for the second amateur boxing show of the Keystone A. C., to be held in the club's gymnasium Saturday evening, March 30.

Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O., and Johnny Mellow, of Detroit have been matched to box the windup at McKeesport Thursday night. Newton recently has knocked out Terry Lingo and Battling Gizzy and boxes Lingo in a return bout at Washington, Pa., next Monday night.

The local fans are sitting up and taking notice of the wrestling show billed at the Moose Temple next Monday night with three bouts on the card and Promoter Fabiani expects to fill the small arena.

Another Briton Aims At Speed Record

LONDON, March 15.—(AP.)—Kaye Don, motor racing driver, will go to Daytona Beach next year to try to hold the world speed record for Britain gainst American attempts to recapture it, says the Evening Star's motoring correspondent today.

A car capable of 260 miles per hour is being built for Don, and he thinks he can beat Major H. O. D. Segrave's 231 miles per hour.

BORG CLAIMS RECORD

SUVA, Fiji Islands, March 15.—(AP.)—A new world record for 600 yards was claimed by Arne Borg, Swedish swimming star, today after he had swam that distance in the municipal sea baths in 6 minutes, 57 2-5 seconds.

CHAGNON SHOWS CLASS FOR ROOKIE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, March 15.—Homer Blankenship is on his way to Texas, quite contented to be back in the Texas League. The circuit runs close to the big boy's Oklahoma home, and this is a big inducement for any athlete. Homer goes to Dallas, from whence he came to the Pirates. Milton Stock, star third-sacker in the National League, is the new pilot of the Texas club.

Leon Chagnon, out of the Class C, New England League, is one of the most promising of the younger pitchers. Chagnon has powerful shoulders and arms, which give him a dandy fast ball and he seems to know a lot for a rookie. He is almost sure to be farmed with a Pirate string.

The Paso Robles Fair and Athletic Association cleared a nice little sum with their exhibition game. More than $1,000 came through the gate of the small-town park. The park, however, is no small-town affair. It would put the Philly park and other layouts to shame.

Manager Bush appears to put a lot of confidence in his two first-string catchers—Hargreaves and Hemsley. It is hard to say right now which of the two will get the preference behind the plate when the season opens, but Hargreaves seems to have the pole right now.

John O'Connell, of Verona, is liked by Bush and his assistants, who think that the Pittsburgher has a fine chance to become a major league catcher. Unfortunately, John has been bothered with a lame wrist, which interferes with his actions, especially his batting.

Steve Swetonic probably will be able to move with the rest of the second squad to San Francisco. Steve was put to bed yesterday, but he has no bad illness.

In the event of a run of wet weather at the Golden Gate, Bush will hurry his pitchers back to Paso Robles to stay in shape. The lesson of last season is evidenced in this move. Donie will not permit five or six days of idleness if he can help it. He has arranged for workouts here, provided they are necessary.

Heidelberg-Akron Game Set for 3:30

The kick-off in the Heidelberg-Akron Goodyear battle, scheduled for Heidelberg, tomorrow afternoon, has been definitely set for 3:30 p. m. This has been arranged to suit quite a number of Pittsburgh soccer fans who wanted to see the battle, but could not be at Heidelberg for a 2:30 start.

There is every reason to feel that this is going to be the outstanding soccer battle of the season, and since the draw has be announced for the western semi-final of the amateur cup, the winner will meet the Corinthians. Seeing that the Corinthians and Heidelberg are scheduled to tangle in the playoff for the championship of the American League, more interest should be manifested in the battle.

Big Train Signs Sad Sam Jones

AVON PARK, Fla., March 15.—(INS.)—After Clark Griffith had failed to sign Sad Sam Jones, the Nationals' leading pitcher in 1928, Manager Walter Johnson tried his hand at it, with the result that Sam put his name on the dotted line. "Goose" Goslin, the outfielder slugger, is the only regular still holding out.

Vance to Sign Today at $25,000

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 15.—(AP.)—Dazzy Vance, ace of the Brooklyn Robins pitching staff, has accepted terms and will sign a contract today, President-Manager Wilbert Robinson has announced. The announcement said the club finally had agreed to Vance's demand for a salary of $25,000.

The figure at which the strikeout artist signed makes him the highest paid pitcher in the majors.

Vance has led all National League pitchers in strikeouts for the last seven years. In 1928 he won 22 games for the sixth place Robins and led the league in the earned run averages.

HAGEN, DIEGEL COP MATCH

MIAMI, Fla., March 15.—(AP.)—Walter Hagen attacked the seemingly impregnable defense of Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell to win for himself and Leo Diegel a 1-up victory and the championship of international four-ball golf matches here.

Hagen won the tournament on the thirty-sixth green after he alone had won three of the four holes scored by his team to overcome the 3 up advantage established by the defending champions at the twenty-eighth hole.

The defeat of Sarazen and Farrell began with the 455-yard thirty-first hole accomplishment of Hagen in sinking an 18-foot putt for a birdie 4.

Hagen, however, was not alone in offering a superior brand of play, for Diegel placed his team square with the opponents with an eagle 3 from a 40-foot chip shot on the first hole of the afternoon round, and sank a birdie on the next green for another 3 to forge ahead. The match was evened a moment later by Farrell's eight-foot putt for a 3 on the par 4 third hole.

Until the last six holes of the match, it had appeared Sarazen and Farrel would retain the crown they won in the 1927 international four-ball matches.

LOCAL BOWLERS OFF FOR A. B. C. TOURNEY

The first squads of Pittsburgh bowlers entered in the American Bowling Congress tournament, now in full operation at Chicago, are scheduled to take the alleys Sunday night at 10:30 o'clock, according to the program announced for next week.

While the local stars are slated to enter the competition next week, several of the Pittsburgh entries already are in Chicago to attend the meeting of the executive committee, scheduled for today. Fred Barth, who is the executive of the A. B. C., entrained for Chicago last Tuesday, while Henry Wacker, a delegate from this district, left last night. Both are attending the executive meeting today.

Lou Carroll, manager of the Club alleys, who is scheduled to roll with the first Pittsburgh bowlers Sunday night, leaves tonight. The first Pittsburgh teams to roll will be Saunier-Wilhelm, Fred Barth, captain; Gwis, of Braddock, M. Genor, captain; Alley Social Hunters, J. Meder, captain; Wuerthele, No. 1, M. Schmidt, captain; Wuerthele, No. 2, Lou Carroll, captain; all will compete in the five-men event. Doubles and singles will be rolled Monday.

The second squad of Pittsburgh bowlers will take the alleys on Tuesday night and will include P. A. A. No. 1, G. Ritchey, captain; P. A. A. No. 2, W. Secrist, captain; P. A. A. No. 3, L. Marrone, captain; P. A. A. No. 4, T. Ashenfelder, captain. Doubles and singles will be rolled Wednesday.

The Ko-Ko-Mo Kids, of East Pittsburgh, will roll their five-men event Tuesday, March 26 and doubles and singles the following day. Sol Kuchler has taken the place of J. Lehner on this team. Lehner recently underwent an operation for appendicitis and was unable to make the trip.

Pittsburgh Men Choose "Plus-Six" As the Finest Clothing for 21.50

There's a surprising smartness about "Plus-Six" suits and topcoats . . . surprising in the face of the notably low price they bear. For these suits, these new topcoats follow the modes of smart men with real faithfulness and their styles are those of the more expensive clothing. Models for men and young men—new fabrics, new patterns, new shades—both suits and topcoats present an excellently varied assortment that men will find pleasant for their choosing. Be among tomorrow's visitors to the Annex and you'll get that Easter outfit economically.

"Plus-Six" Suits—greys, browns, tans and blues . . . all the new shades and mixed effects, 21.50.

Extra Trousers Are Plus $6.

"Plus-Six" Topcoats—smart set-in or raglan sleeve models . . . Spring's newest, 21.50.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Bulls Sweep On — Wall Street Quotations

PROFIT TAKING FAILS TO HALT BULL DRIVE

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP.)—A broad buying movement in today's stock market was temporarily checked by profit taking, but speculators for the advance quickly regained control of the price movement and bid up a wide assortment of issues to new high records. Trading showed a further expansion in volume, blocks of 5,000 to 35,000 shares appearing on the tape at frequent intervals throughout the day.

Wall Street obviously was pleased that no change had been made in the rediscount rate, that brokers' loans had decreased and that the reserve position of the New York bank, as well as for the system as a whole, had improved during the past week. There was still considerable uneasiness, however, over the credit situation.

EXPECT HIGHER MONEY

Call money renewed at 7 per cent, but was expected to go higher. Relative ease of call money this week has been due, in part, to the heavy accumulation of funds here in preparation for the $2,000,000,000 turnover of funds today. Reports of unusually heavy income tax payments today were accepted as indications of the country's prosperity.

One of the most important trade developments of the day was the further increase in copper metal prices. Another flock of 1928 earnings reports made their appearance, and most of them made favorable comparison with the year before.

Radio shares were again the features of the market. The old stock, which disappears from the list a week from today and has never paid a dividend, continued to make history by soaring 14 points a share to a new record at 515. The new stock advanced nearly 3 points to 103¼.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 15. — Unexpected upturns in quotations at Liverpool helped give an early lift today to wheat values here. Adverse crop reports from the southwest continued and Kansas dispatches made further mention of ill effects of strong winds, opening ⅛ to 1⅛ higher, Chicago wheat afterward kept firm, corn and oats showed an upward trend also, with corn starting at ¼ to ½ gain, and subsequently holding near to initial figures. Provisions were inclined to sag.

Among the crop reports today from domestic winter wheat territory southwest were some which received particular notice as being the first to arrive from leading Chicago crop experts traveling in that region this season. One Chicago authority wired that from Kansas City to Herrington, Kas., all wheat was late, and that in the heavy acreage west of Herrington the stand averaged light, with the plant small and stooled very, very little. In many fields, he said, part of the grain that germinated has not come through the caked soil on top.

From another Chicago expert, dispatches were received today saying that from Kansas City to Emporia most wheat showed poorly, and some fields were dead as a result of prolonged floods and ice covering. Between Emporia and Newton, entering a larger acreage section, the plants have small top and root growth, but should go along in fair shape from now on.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 15.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 4 to 15 points in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables and reports of further rains in the South. May contracts sold up to 21.20c or within 14 points of the recent level while the new October contract advanced to 20.63c.

These prices seemed to meet renewal or rather active realizing or liquidation under which prices reacted several points. But offerings were well enough taken by covering and trade buying or rebuying for speculative account to give the market a steady undertone.

Active months were holding about 9 to 10 points above yesterday's closing quotations at the end of the first half hour.

Cables reported local, London and continental buying in Liverpool on adverse weather news from the South and said there was a steady cloth demand from China with more inquiry from South America.

Demand was comparatively quiet after the early buying had run its course and prices eased under further profit taking combined with a little southern and local selling.

Some trade buying and covering was reported on the reaction, which carried May contracts off to 20.17c and the new October to 20.53c. The market was quiet at midday with prices 1 to 4 points net higher.

Rolling Stock Condition Good.

Notwithstanding a saving of more than $10,000,000 in maintenance of equipment expenditures by the Pennsylvania Railroad last year, the condition of the cars and locomotives at the close of 1928 was actually better than 12 months previously.

The annual report of the condition of equipment shows that 95.4 per cent of the locomotives were in good working order at the close of 1928, as compared with 95.0 per cent in 1927. In the case of passenger train cars, 98.6 per cent were in good order, as compared with 97.4 per cent the year previously. Of the freight cars, 93.8 per cent were in serviceable condition as compared with 93.2 per cent.

The total trackage operated by the Pennsylvania Railroad System, as of December 31, 1928, was 28,035 miles. This consisted of 11,515 miles of first track, 4,358 miles of second track, 918 miles of third track, 700 miles of fourth track, and 10,543 miles of sidings.

The extremely large siding mileage, exceeding the total trackage of many entire railroad systems which would be included among the more important lines of the country, reflects largely the enormous industrial and mining development in the communities and general territory served by the Pennsylvania Railroad and indicates the extent of the facilities necessary to provide for the resulting and immensely complex inbound and outbound business.

Building Light.

Approximately complete returns as to value of building permitted for in February confirm Bradstreet's preliminary report of last week to the effect that building had fallen off for the fourth consecutive month, and that a decrease has been scored from the year before in eight out of fourteen past months. That the decreasing tendency has been widespread is indicated by the fact that only one group of cities—that in New England—showed an increase in February over the like month a year ago. Also, it may be added, the value of permitted for building in February this year is the smallest recorded in that month in six years, or since 1923.

The total value of the building permitted for in February this year, as reported from 188 cities to Bradstreet's, was $223,333,659, as against $206,624,728 in January and $279,750,363 in the month of February, 1928.

Among the important cities showing gains in building permit values in February over February a year ago are Hartford, Louisville, Milwaukee, Baltimore, New Orleans and Los Angeles. In nearly all the other large cities, including New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Louis, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Washington, Portland, Ore., Seattle and San Francisco, decreases are recorded in February from the like month a year ago.

Farm Population Dwindles.

The farm population of the United States is now the smallest in 20 years, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Department of Agriculture. The farm population as of January 1, 1929, is reckoned at 27,511,000, compared with 32,000,000 in 1909. A decrease in farm population during the last year is shown, despite improved agricultural conditions and a slight slackening in industrial employment. The population last year was 27,699,000. It is estimated that 1,960,000 persons left farms during the year, and 1,362,000 moved from cities to farms. The large farm birth rate of 23 births per 1,000 persons, and small death rate of 8 per thousand, has been a large factor offsetting the farm-to-city movement.

Suburban Water Shows Gain.

Pittsburgh Suburban Water Service Company, a subsidiary of Federal Water Service Corporation, reports gross revenues of $307,801 for the year ended December 31, 1928, as compared with $299,650 for the preceding 12 months. Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes, other than federal income tax, totaled $140,454, as against $159,714. Gross income amounted to $167,347, which compares with $148,936 for the year ended December 31, 1927.

To Combine Flying Fields.

A syndicate of New York bankers has purchased Roosevelt Field and Curtiss Field, at Westbury, L. I., and plans to combine them into the most completely equipped flying field in the country. Roosevelt Field was made famous as the starting point of Col. Lindbergh's flight to Paris and of the successful trans-Atlantic efforts of Commander Byrd and Clarence Chamberlain. The syndicate includes capitalists and others prominently identified with the aviation industry.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Raw sugar advanced 1-32c early today to the basis of 3.74c for spots, duty paid. Sales were 9,000 bags of Porto Rican and 30,000 bags of Philippines, due the first half of April to refiners at 3.74c and 45,000 bags of Cuban for late April shipment at 3.77c.

Raw futures opened unchanged to 1 point higher on covering and some commission houses buying, influenced by the steady spot market and favorable London cables. Demand was not very aggressive, however, and following the call prices eased off under liquidation and selling by trade interests. The list at midday was net unchanged to 1 point lower. Trading was not very active and operators were inclined to limit fresh commitments and await developments.

Refined prices were unchanged at 4.90c for fine granulated. Withdrawals were moderate, while new business was light and supplied through second hands at prices below those asked by refiners.

By B. C. FORBES

IN THE MIDDLEWEST, March 15.

FARMERS sometimes talk as if they were the only people on earth who have worries. I have gathered some stern facts calculated to worry holders of railway stocks and also railway operators.

Thirteen years ago only one head of cattle, only one sheep and only one hog in every hundred brought to the Union Stock Yards of Omaha arrived in a truck. The other ninety-nine in each case was hauled in by rail.

Last year there were trucked in 38 out of every 100 hogs, 17 out of every hundred cattle, 12 out of every 100 sheep.

Think how deeply the motor truck is cutting into railroad income all over the cattle, hog and sheep country, and when you leave out the cattle, hog and sheep country, there isn't so very much of the continent left.

We now see short-haul freight passing from the railroads to the motor truck at an extraordinary rate. We see passenger business switching to the automobile—a very lucid annual report just published by Daniel Willard, the forceful president of the Baltimore and Ohio, shows that passengers carried on his road last year dwindled to 10,257,996 from 12,873,274 in the previous year. We see the airplane nosing its way in to the long-haul passenger traffic, with every prospect that air travel will multiply manyfold within the next five and ten years.

Manifestly, the railroads have problems of their own which the Interstate Commerce Commission should not overlook when it considers consolidations and rate changes.

The sight of hundreds, even thousands of trucks arriving cattle-laden and pig-laden at the Omaha stock yards prompted me to ask President W. H. Schellberg if he could supply detailed figures picturing the growth of this traffic revolution. He very kindly got busy. Here are the figures for cattle and hogs—the figures for sheep are equally impressive.

Number of cattle and hogs trucked in:

Year.	Cattle.	Hogs.
1928	262,637	1,204,035
1927	193,854	743,642
1926	142,668	526,095
1925	88,441	433,362
1924	62,713	414,900
1923	48,858	360,702
1922	38,872	264,614
1921	27,374	216,894
1920	30,718	181,546
1919	35,279	179,036
1918	25,848	189,417
1917	15,848	65,922
1916	13,207	46,542
1915	12,407	37,945
1914	10,884	34,743

OMAHA'S Union Stock Yards rank only second in importance to Chicago's. Cattle receipts last year well exceeded 1,500,000; hogs totaled 3,200,000 and sheep over 3,000,000. In 1915 the comparative figures, it is interesting to note, were: Cattle, 1,200,000; hogs, 2,650,000; sheep, 3,270,000. The hog apparently is ousting sheep in popularity and population.

IT TAKES among other things, a billion-and-a-half gallons of water a year to run this transient—very transient—hotel for farm animals.

We usually picture stock yards as being owned—a trifle hoggishly—by rich packers intent upon squeezing a few extra dollars from raisers of farm animals. I have delved into this, and here is what I discover: The Union Stock Yards Company has 112,500 shares of stock, all common. More than half the shareholders, or 782, are women, who own 38,633 shares, men (625) own 56,035 shares, the balance belonging to educational and religious institutions and executors and trustees.

That explodes another myth.

WHAT I'm learning about the attitude of real farmers towards demands for farm "relief" reveals that another myth prevails widely in the East. Of that, more later.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP.)—Backed up by a heavy accumulation of overnight buying orders, the bull forces held the reins in today's curb market, with gains ranging from fractions to 4 points in the general list. Some irregularity cropped out at midday, when call money was reported firm at 7 per cent and expected to go higher.

Buying was most active in the utilities as plans for consolidations were reported making favorable progress. American Superpower "A" rose 3 points and the "B" stock 4, while American Gas & Electric was pushed up more than 3 points. Electric Bond & Share (new) and United Gas Improvement were strong.

Oils failed to respond to the expected favorable action at the Houston meetings of executives on a trade agreement. Imperial of Canada was in supply and declined 2 points.

Rumors of mergers and expansion of commercial air routes imparted a strong tone to the aviation shares. Aviation Corporation of the Americas moved up 2 points, and Alexander Industries was in demand.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

2 MAKE DEATH LEAPS IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, March 15.—(INS.)—Violent death came yesterday to two persons who jumped or fell from high buildings.

Mrs. Claire Gesner, 35, who found suburban life in a small Long Island community too lonely for one who had always known the city, hurtled from a window on the tenth floor of the Colonial Hotel.

Archibald Yule Jameson, 62, wealthy retired California stock broker, was killed when he dropped from a bedroom window of his apartment on the fourteenth floor to the roof of a one story annex. He had returned from his annual trip to Europe but a few days ago.

TROLLEY CRASH SUIT FILED

An aftermath of the Braddock street car crash of last July 21, in which two girls were killed and 15 persons were injured, has come up in Common Pleas Court.

Mrs. Mary Ponsetto, 55, of 755 Airbrake avenue, Wilmerding, has filed suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company for $50,000 damages for injuries received in the crash. She alleged her skull was fractured, her leg broken and her foot smashed.

The accident occurred when a street car, running wild down Library avenue, Braddock, crossed Braddock avenue and, pushing an automobile before it, crashed into the store of Harry Levine, 814 Braddock avenue.

Miss E. H. Shaw Heads Hospital Association

PHILADELPHIA, March 15.—(AP.)—A woman took office as president of the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania at the annual conference yesterday. She is Miss Elizabeth H. Shaw, superintendent of St. Margaret Memorial Hospital, Pittsburgh. She succeedes Dr. E. Shifferstine, of Coaldale, who was elected a member of the board of trustees. Miss Shaw was named president-elect at the 1928 convention. William M. Breitinger, of Reading, yesterday was elected president for 1930.

Court Nolle Prosses Bankruptcy Charge

An indictment in Federal Court against Peter Solentikas, a former East Pittsburgh confectioner, charging him with concealing assets from a receiver in bankruptcy, was nolle prossed by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker on petition of Assistant United States Attorney Raymond D. Evans. Evans said that Solentikas has been a fugitive from justice since July 25, 1924, and is believed to be in Greece. The court was told there was not sufficient evidence to warrant further prosecution.

Waynesburg to Hold Annual Ball Tonight

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 15.—The fifth annual Waynesburg College Pan-Hellanic ball will be held here tonight in the State Armory. Six Greek letter societies on the Waynesburg campus are co-operating in staging the affair, which has become one of the outstanding social events of the year at Waynesburg.

Loss of Eye Ends Woman's Poverty

NEW YORK, March 15.—(INS.)—Mrs. Mary E. Bishop today was again in possession of a tidy sum of money. Mrs. Bishop, who once owned a box in the diamond horseshoe of the Metropolitan Opera House and who later became impoverished, was awarded $20,000 yesterday in her suit for $100,000 for the loss of an eye.

Morningside Class Will Hold Dinner

The Men's Bible Class of the Morningside Presbyterian Church will hold their annual father and son dinner March 21. The Rev. Frederick Virgin, of St. John's Episcopal Church, will be the principal speaker. The Rev. E. M. Byers, pastor of the Morningside Presbyterian Church, will also speak. J. T. Caldwell, class president, will act as toastmaster.

Grove City Co-Ed Burned in Explosion

GROVE CITY, Pa., March 15.—When acids exploded while she was working in the chemistry department at Grove City College, Jean Mowry, a sophomore, was burned about the face.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was good today at the Pittsburgh wholesale district. No changes were made in the quotations.

The poultry market was easy, demand fair, supplies moderate with no changes in the prices.

The butter, egg and cheese markets were steady with fair demand. The prices on these markets remained as before.

Car lot supplies were fair with a total of 370 cars on track. Arrivals included 2 cars of apples, 1 cabbage, 3 celery, 1 grapefruit, 3 lemons, 4 onions, 8 oranges, 2 pears, 7 potatoes, 2 sweet potatoes, 1 tomatoes, 1 chicory, 1 endive and 1 cauliflower.

LIBERTY DAIRY PRODUCTS SETS NEW HIGH RECORD

Irregular price movements characterized the early trading in the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. Steady demand for several of the active stocks was offset by declining prices in some sections of the list.

Allegheny Steel greeted the announcement of the West Penn Steel Company merger proposals with a decline of $2 to 80 for the common stock. San Toy Mining was also in supply, trading slightly lower at 10 cents a share.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt, when issued, opened at the best price of yesterday, an advance of ½ over last night's close. Good demand developed for Liberty Dairy Products common which was ⅝ higher at 28⅝. Arkansas Gas common was steady and unchanged in the early trading. Consolidated Ice preferred opened a fraction higher. Suburban Electric Development was unchanged at the opening.

A stronger tone was noted in the late trading in the local market as the effect of soaring prices in New York began to make itself felt. Liberty Dairy Products Company common touched a new high record at 40. Armstrong Cork sold ½ higher at 63½. Arkansas Gas common sold fractionally higher.

EXPECT STEEL EARNINGS TO INCREASE

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

IT IS commonly belived in financial circles that steel company earnings for this quarter, which will begin to appear in the next three weeks, will make a substantially better showing than those for the final quarter of last year and the belief is fairly well founded, as there has been a steep increase in the rate of plant engagement and the average prices on shipments on the whole are slightly above those in the final three months of 1928.

Those who calculate earnings entirely upon prices, however, may be disappointed, because the invoice prices generally are lower than those the manufacturers are currently quoting. Ingot production in this quarter will make a new high record and the steel industry earnings will profit as much from virtually full engagement of productive facilities as from the average price increment from the last quarter of last year.

IN THE midst of an extremely high rate of activity, it is interesting to note how much discussion there is of when the peak is going to be reached among those who furnish the raw material of the industry. Scrap iron and steel dealers are watching the situation with particular interest, because their business primarily is one of short selling or taking orders for material much of which they must buy. If the present rate of steel production is maintained for another month, they can reasonably expect more buying by the steel manufacturers.

The scrap market is likely to give a cue of inside conditions in the steel industry long before a change is otherwise apparent. No sizable purchases of scrap in the next few weeks may be taken as evidence of some slowing down in the requirements of finished steel. The scrap market can be profitably watched.

STEEL manufacturers have not experienced since the rally from the 1920-21 depression so much pressure for delivery of some of the finished products, notably strips, bars and sheets, as they now are having.

The principal reason is the enormous output of automobiles and trucks. Estimates have been made which put the Ford output at 6,800 units a day on domestic account, Chevrolet at 6,000 cars a day, and the other builders at close to 11,000 cars a day, making a total daily rate of approximately 25,000 cars. That means 150,000 cars a week, 600,000 cars a month and 7,200,000 cars a year.

Of course, such a rate of production is not expected to continue, and once it slips there will be a considerable lessening in the pressure of builders upon the steel manufacturers for shipments. The bullish stock market of 1928 was a big help to the sales of automobiles.

A BAD spot in the steel market is pipe. Manufacturers depend upon the oil industry for approximately 60 per cent of their tonnage and just now there is an overproduction condition that runs coal a close second. Curtailment of production means less demand for drilling pipe.

Another rather weak spot is structural steel, particularly as it relates to the Greater Pittsburgh district. While the country as a whole is buying steel for building and construction purposes at about 10 or 11 per cent under the rate of a year ago, the Pittsburgh district is making such a poor showing that a number of the fabricating shops in this district are either on short time or getting ready to shut down.

The city of Pittsburgh is in a lull following the completion of the addition to the William Penn Hotel, the Grant, Koppers, Law and Finance and Insurance Exchange buildings. The time is right for those interested in the welfare of the city to agitate speeding up of the proposed Pennsylvania Railroad improvements and the building of Pittsburgh's much needed postoffice and the town hall.

STEEL MERGER PROPOSED

The West Penn Steel Company has proposed to its stockholders a plan of reorganization involving a merger with the Allegheny Steel Company. Officials of the company state in a letter to stockholders that a majority of the directors of the West Penn Steel Company has already approved the plan.

The proposal is to exchange one share of the common stock of the West Penn Steel Company for 7½ shares of the no-par common stock of Allegheny Steel, and one share of West Penn Steel preferred for two shares of Allegheny Steel common. The proposal would also accept $375 in cash for a share of West Penn Steel common and $110 for one share of the preferred. Allegheny Steel common is selling in the Pittsburgh market around 52.

The plan will be open for acceptance by stockholders of the West Penn Steel Company until March 20. Certificates of stock may be deposited with the Union Trust Company which will issue receipts. If the plan becomes operative, the West Penn Steel Company will declare a cash dividend of $25 a share on the common.

It is understood that the Allegheny Steel Company is favorable to the plan. The plants of the two companies adjoin at Brackenridge and a number of economies in operation are seen in the merger. The Allegheny Steel Company, manufactures a diversified line of steel products. Both its preferred and common stocks are listed in the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange.

ADDITIONAL SPORTING NEWS

GENEVA LIKELY TO KEEP TRACK LAURELS

By JESS CARVER.

Geneva College's supremacy in track appears certain to stand for another season in the Tri-State Conference. The margin of exactly 50 points by which they won last year's meet possibly will not bloom for 'em again, but there does not appear to be enough strength on any one other team in the league to worry the Covenanters.

Wid Tarr.

Col. Bo McMillin's team scored 90 5-6 points last Memorial Day. Bethany finished second with 40 5-6, Westminster was third with 36, the Dukes fourth with nine and Thiel fifth with eight. Waynesburg scored a point.

Bethany had the dashing Mr. Tarr, who won the 100, 220, placed second in the 440, and ran anchor man on the 880-yard relay team, to boost its total. Tarr will be among the missing this year. Westminster lost strength, especially in the distance races. The Dukes figure to score better and may cut into Geneva's big total, but not enough to whittle away that big 50-point advantage and make this year's meet anything like a toss-up.

Capt. Lloyd, Cullen, Ewing and Duncan have been lost by Geneva, which means that Coach Parks will have to develope some new point getters. Sid Lockley, Len Friedman, Red Lathom, Piper, Ransom and Nulton are left, and it is around this nucleus that the team will be built.

THIS IS PERSONAL

Mr. Patsy Rubino—I am sorry that I cannot answer your letter of Wednesday in the way I think you desire. My opinion of Chick Davies as a basketball coach means so little that it is not worth the space.

GAMES TOMORROW NIGHT.

Pirates at Boston.
Americans at Canadiens.
Toronto at Ottawa.

I will say that I believe he has developed the best passing college teams in the district, and that given the material, he will make it tough for any of 'em. He's done this in the past.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE....

And I might add to the above sub-head, take mine too. Referring, of course, to the Bellevue-Homestead W. P. I. A. L. championship game Saturday night. Mr. Paul O. Bower (the "O" stands for Orthophonic), a staff artist, hails from the North Boroughs and has been in trying to get a bet with me on Bellevue hourly since Larry Danver's team got into the finals.

At the same time, Mr. Darrell (Sunshine) Martin, the radio ed, being of Homestead vintage, can't see anything but the Steelers. Why can't these guys get together and bet each other. I'm a poor man.

At any rate, the game tomorrow will be a lot more interesting than the Sharkey-Stribling fight, and the public won't take half the punishment.

Aussies Near Win In Cricket Match

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 15. —(AP.)—Australia lost four wickets for 173 runs in today's batting in its second innings of the fifth test match with England, and when play is resumed tomorrow will need 113 runs to take its first victory of the present English tour.

LEO KYBURSKY WINS; SCELLO, RUDY DRAW

Leo Kybursky, Swissvale's rough and tumble fighter, turned in a spectacular knockout victory last night in the second half of a double windup at the Palisades, McKeesport, hanging the sleep-producer on the jaw of George (T. N. T.) Gibbons, of Donora, after 1 minute and 40 seconds of fighting in the eighth round.

In the first of the two scheduled 10-rounders, Phil Scello, of McKeesport, and Young Rudy, of Charleroi, drew. Referee Red Robinson casting an all-even ballot after the judges, Jock Simco, of McKeesport, and Jimmy McLaughlin, of Braddock, had disagreed.

KYBURSKY WILD

For seven rounds, Gibbons led the fighting to Kybursky, landing the harder punches and blocking practically all of the Swissvale fighter's leads. Kybursky showed nothing except a wild overhand right swing, which failed on many occasions to find its mark, although Gibbons' arms and shoulders bore evidence of where Leo's blows landed.

Kybursky never quit trying, and late in the seventh round began aiming at Gibbons' jaw with his wild right. With the start of the eighth round, he caught Gibbons with several hard rights to the jaw and stomach, and then shot a hard right to the Donora veteran's jaw and Gibbons dropped to the canvas while Referee Robinson tolled the fatal 10 over him. Gibbons had a two-pound weight advantage over Kybursky, coming in at 156¼, while the Swissvale lad scaled 154¼.

Phil Scello won, in the opinion of the majority of the fans, in a handy manner over Young Rudy, but the judges couldn't see it that way and the best that the McKeesport welter could get was a draw. Judge Simco voted for a draw verdict, while Judge McLaughlin thought that Scello had the edge. Referee Robinson settled the issue with a draw verdict. Scello came into the ring weighing 5½ pounds more than Rudy, scaling 149½ against 144 for the Charleroi slugger. The weight agreed upon was 147 pounds and Rudy took Phil's weight forfeit of $25.

SCELLO'S JAB SCORES

Rudy took the first two rounds by his harder hitting and Scello was unable to get started in these two sessions. However, with the start of the third, the McKeesporter showed a hard left jab and crossed his right in a pretty manner that caught Rudy flush on the jaw and in the stomach more than once. Scello took both the third and fourth and Rudy came back to take the fifth.

The sixth went to Scello as did the seventh and eighth, the Tube City boxer winning these sessions by his fine boxing. His left jab found its mark repeatedly on the countenance of his Charleroi opponent and Rudy was stopped in his tracks invariably.

Rudy won the ninth, but Scello came back strong in the tenth and looked like a sure winner.

KERSTON BEATEN

Howard Williams, Swissvale Negro slugger, punched his way to a three-way decision over George Kerston, of McKeesport, in the second bout of six rounds. Kerston was nearly out in the fifth and sixth rounds, but held to his opponent in the clinches, saving himself from a kayo. Both fighters weighed 146½.

In the opening six-round bout, Tommy Hellman, of Donora, defeated Eddie Brennan, Pittsburgh Negro. Both boys weighed 133 pounds.

Temple Athlete To Captain Two Teams

PHILADELPHIA, March 15.—(INS.)—Grover Wearshing, a junior, had achieved the distinction today of being the first Temple University athlete to captain two major sport teams. Wearshing is captain-elect of the 1929 football eleven and last night he was named to that post for the basketball five.

STIMSON HITS SUGAR 'TAX'

HONOLULU, March 15.—(AP.)—Henry L. Stimson, who will relinquish the governor generalship of the Philippines to become secretary of state in President Hoover's cabinet, arrived here yesterday from Manila aboard the steamer President Pierce. He received an official welcome and departed for San Francisco, where he is due March 20.

Col. Stimson expressed the belief that the American people would not "sanction a tax upon the Philippines' most important product—sugar." This, in his opinion, would be contrary to the modern free trade method of handling dominions and dependencies.

Col. Stimson declined to discuss the future, but spoke with pride of the accomplishments of his year in the Philippines. He praised the Filipino leaders for the ability they had shown, and the co-operation they had rendered him.

While not committing himself upon the question whether the Timberlake resolution to restrict imports of Philippine sugar to 500,000 tons annually duty free into the United States would bring up the Philippine independence issue again, the Governor General asserted that the proposal to place a tariff against Philippine products was "inconsistent and illogical."

He compared the tariff proposal with the action of King George III in placing a tax upon tea for the American colonists. The tea was considered a luxury, while sugar was the Philippines most important export.

Long's Sport Comment

probably have forgotten more about hockey than many of the other men now connected with the game will ever know.

For that reason, when they have any suggestion to offer for changes in the ice sport the fans generally pay close attention, and the proposals they will offer before next season therefore will be certain to receive lots of popular support.

Lester Patrick

LESTER and Frank will jointly suggest at least two changes in the playing rules with the idea of increasing the scoring. Frank tells how well the same ideas worked out in his Coast League. "Get the players close in and near the net, that's what stirs the crowds," he said. "So we let our players forward pass beyond the blue line and kick the puck. Nobody cares, anyhow, except the referee. Other little changes to open up the game were installed, such as allowing harmless interference and the penalty shot. And we have anti-defense rules that keep a team spread out. The other fellows then have some chance to get through. Besides, on the coast, a team never has fewer than five men on the ice, no matter how many penalties may be handed out. It's our theory that hockey crowds are entitled to see full clubs, or teams almost complete, so after the second man is put out we let a sub take his place. But both the first and second men must serve out their penalties before six men are again eligible. In other words, the first and second men put out must return together."

THE penalty shot, which is delivered from a point 30 feet out from the net, and which resembles the old free kick for goal in football, was put into the coast hockey game for the sake of variety, Frank explains. He thinks it would work out with equal success in the National League.

"Hockey lacks variety, and the penalty shot, in a measure, supplies that lack," he said. "The crowd likes it. It brings color into the game. Another evil that ought to be corrected is the too frequent blowing of the referee's whistles. Patrons everywhere desire such a change. The report that Canada wants to stand pat on the present rules is incorrect. All through the Dominion I have heard the fans booing the officials for slowing up the game."

OBITUARY

Eric Gregg Brotherlin

Attorney Eric Gregg Brotherlin, of 1017 Western avenue, North Side, last of a distinguished Pennsylvania family, died yesterday in the Presbyterian Hospital of pneumonia at 61. His father was paymaster-general of the Union armies during the Rebellion, and his paternal grandfather was brevetted a general on the field at Gettysburg for gallantry at the head of charging Northern cavalry. Gov. Andrew Curtin, of Pennsylvania, was his mother's father. He never had married.

He was born at Hollidaysburg, Pa., and received his early education in the public schools there. He was trained for the bar at Princeton University and Dickinson Law School, and began practice in Blair County in 1896. He also had practiced in Allegheny County courts and before the Supreme Court. He was a member of the Allegheny County Bar Association, the Blair County Bar Association, Sons of the American Revolution, Trinity Lodge 736, F. & A. M., Islam Grotto, Keystone Athletic Club and the Bellefield Presbyterian Church. The funeral services will be held in Freyvogel's funeral parlors, 3046 Fifth avenue, at 8 o'clock tonight, with interment tomorrow at Hollidaysburg.

Mrs. Hannah R. Markey

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 15.—Mrs. Hannah Redfern Markey, 65, widow of John J. Markey, died suddenly in her home here, Lincoln and Beau streets. She came to Washington in 1907, when Mr. Markey established the National Wrought Iron Annealing Box Company. Two sons, Edward J. Markey and Paul Markey, both of this city, survive.

Clayton W. Cone

FRANKLIN, Pa., March 15.—Clayton W. Cone, 76, a partner of the dry goods firm of Woodburn, Cone and Company, for nearly half a century, died in the Franklin Hospital late yesterday. He was stricken with a heart attack Wednesday morning and never regained consciousness.

Mrs. Louise S. Davis

Mrs. Louise S. Davis, 63, widow of Simon J. Davis, died Wednesday at her home, 1219 Chelton avenue, Brookline. She was a daughter of Frederick and Wilhelmina Schroeder. Mrs. Davis was a member of Saint Mark's Lutheran Church, Brookline. She leaves five daughters, Mrs. Frieda White, Mrs. Mary Mugele, Mrs. Kate McMoil, Mrs. Louise McCaughan and Mrs. Stella Baker Reese and five sons, John and Edward of Santa Paula, Cal.; Robert, William and Walter. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., with interment in Mt. Lebanon Cemetery.

Mrs. Joanna Boone

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 15.—Mrs. Joanna Boone, 87, widow of James M. Boone, who died in 1891, is dead in her home, 68 Allison avenue. Mrs. Boone was an active member of the Third Presbyterian Church. Her great-great-granddaughter was born only a few weeks ago and at family gathering last week she presented the child with a chair 110 years old.

Mrs. Flora B. Bowden

Mrs. Flora B. Bowden, prominent in civic and women's club work in Pittsburgh and Los Angeles, died Wednesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. W. Hull, of 718 Maplewood avenue, Ambridge. Mrs. Bowden, who resided at 251 Leigh street, here, was president of the Parliamentary Law Club, of Pittsburgh, a member of the Ambridge Women's Funeral services will be held at the Hull residence Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment will be at Los Angeles.

Mrs. Nancy L. Case

Mrs. Nancy L. Case, widow of the late Frank Case, died suddenly Wednesday at her residence, 2565 Beechwood boulevard. Her husband served as chief assessor of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Case was born in Indiana, Pa., in 1842, and came to Pittsburgh when quite young. She was a charter member of the old Eighth United Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh and later affiliated with the Sixth United Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Case leaves one son, Frank P. Case; five daughters, Miss Sue Case, Mrs. John A. McLain, Mrs. R. G. Deevers, Miss Anabel Case and Miss Mary M. Case.

BABY GREW UP

BEAUTIFUL ivory steel crib; mattress; good condition; $15. Schenley 3091.

So Mrs. T. R. F. had no further use for the baby crib described above. She sold it through a Sun-Telegraph Classified Ad and turned it into ready cash. The beauty of it was that she did not have to spend all it was worth, advertising, to sell it. She used the paper that has built up a reputation for getting results in a hurry. Have you anything to sell? If you have, just call and tell one of the ad takers about it. She will help you word your ad to save you money and get you results.

SIC TRANSIT, GLORIA MUNDI.

WE advise all good and sober citizens to study the Jones law while they are still that way.

"Bugs" Baer

A man with a pint flask on his hip is in the same geographical latitude as the driver of a beer truck.

He is subject to a judicious, but sticky, mixture of fine and imprisonment.

And don't think it is a joke that starts, "A man by the name of Jones—"

We happen to have met Mr. Jones before. While working in Washington some years ago, there was a Jones-Works law passed that made the District of Columbia dry long before prohibition dampened the rest of the nation.

Now, Mr. Jones comes forth once again to give us the works.

Mr. Jones had a partner then.

But now he seems to have taken over the entire business.

Liquor in transit means liquor that is going anywhere, including down the throat.

If your Adam's apple starts spinning clockwise, it is a sign that the power is being derived from liquor in transit.

If you gulp, that indicates there is a tiny, but determined, rivulet of bran mash circulating through your esophagus. And a hiccup is a reliable witness and a red nose is corroboration.

The innocent shall suffer with the thirsty. And both of them will be guilty.

And one paradox about liquor in transit is that it includes still wines.

HOW TO ENTERTAIN PARLOR GUESTS

Editor's Note: The second act of the dramatic dialogue, "True Courage," reprinted from "The Home Speaker and Elocutionist," continues our series on Parlor Tricks.

Yesterday Ralph Burton told his Cousin Laura that Frank Sterling was a coward, and Laura inquired how he had shown it.

Now go on with the playlet—

TRUE COURAGE.

(Act Two)

RALPH—How has he shown it, indeed? Why, a dozen boys have dared him to fight and he refuses to do it.

LAURA (indignantly)—A coward, indeed! By your test a bully is the most courageous of gentlemen.

R. (firmly)—I am serious, Laura. The other day Tom Harding put a chip on a fellow's hat and dared Frank Sterling to knock it off. But Sterling folded his arms and walked off, while we all groaned and hissed.

L.—You groaned and hissed? Oh, Ralph, I did not believe you had so little of the true gentleman about you.

R.—Come, now, what do you mean?

R. (admiringly)—Yes, wouldn't I like to be in his shoes! They say the Humane Society is going to give him a medal; for he saved a baby's life, and no mistake.

L.—What boy was it?

Potato Value Unknown, Our Farmers Suffer

The potato grower seems to be sadly in need of advertising sense. We assume that because The Sun-Telegraph has been asked, through a local sales agency, to give publicity to the plight of the farmer raising potatoes. It is stated the situation is very bad and that indications are that it will grow worse.

There can be only one explanation of that—the supply exceeds the demand. There are two remedies for that. Either reduce production, which likely would mean ruin to many farmers, or increase the demand. There is only one way to do that—get the people to eat more potatoes. That ought to be easy.

It is not because a large part of the revenue of The Sun-Telegraph is from advertising that we tell the potato grower that the quickest and most direct way to a solution of his troubles is through advertising. We make that statement through a sincere desire to help the farmer to market a commodity that the people need and to keep him and his industry as a properly functioning part of our whole scheme of things.

Think of it—the noble potato crying for help! Why? Because the people do not know its value. They know it merely as a staple food that, more often than not, is rendered a bane instead of a benefit by ill preparation. They have been taught to shun it to some extent because it is starchy. And have not been taught that the mineral salts it contains, and which are available for assimilation through digestion, when properly prepared, are present in quantities to make it one of our most valuable foods. They have not been taught its value as an alkaline balancer of acid-producing foods.

The people are not going to learn these and other things by the mere statement that farmers have more potatoes than they can sell. The potato grower could learn something from the orange grower and the apple grower. For our own good the orange and the apple and the raisin have been advertised into our diet. The potato, likely, has been advertised out of it to a considerable extent, through fear of starch and the fact that it is tough on the tummy when fried.

"Eat More Potatoes!" That is a good slogan for the farmer and a good guide to the people. Let the farmer learn how to tell the people the really valuable qualities of potatoes, their comparative cheapness and how to prepare them properly, and the slogan will mean something.

Meanwhile, as the farmer is making up his mind how to go about it, let us eat more potatoes.

Secretive Drug Addict Is Menace to Society

Much of the blame for the spread of drug addiction is due to the victims of the habit which curses their own lives and lives of those whom they love. They are the aids of the dope ring and the sort of doctors who make ill use of their talents and education by taking easy money from victims of the narcotic habit. The dope fiend is not satisfied with having wrecked his own life. He must drag others down to the same degrading slavery—make them addicts like himself.

And it all is so furtive and secret that society hesitates to believe. It cannot realize the extent of the evil. It thinks the slave of narcotics is some detached being with whom clean people never come into contact. We realize the truth only when some person prominent in the public eye, like Alma Rubens or the late Wallace Reed, is revealed as a drug slave.

Because we do not hear of the others who are not prominent we think little of the dread habit that is constantly extending its circle of victims, one making another. We do not hear of the "snow parties" unless something sensational occurs to bring one of them to public notice. We hear about the operations of the dope ring, with the extent of its nefarious dealings running into millions, and do not stop to think of the number of slaves a million dollars' worth of illicitly handled narcotics connotes.

It is now realized that drug addiction is a terrible disease, not to be treated by ordinary methods. The drug victim is cunning and, if left to his own initiative, never would be cured. Even in the institutions and farms to be provided for drug cure under the federal law some will be found to be incurable.

Society will find that the incurable addict will be a block to ever thoroughly stamping out the use of drugs unless drastic steps are taken. Perhaps we shall have to make a law dealing with that phase of drug addiction. To do away with their possibility of contaminating others, they should be effectively isolated, perhaps on some island colony.

But, first of all, it must be realized that the drug addict is a real menace, in that in him is the possibility—nay, probability—that he will create other addicts.

What's Doing in Mars?

"Dark Areas" Shift Positions.

The surface of the heavens is changing under the eyes of the astronomers.

"Strange happenings" are reported on the face of the moon. Huge "dark areas" on Mars are found to have shifted their positions widely in the last two years. There are no people on the moon, but it is not yet certain there are none on Mars.

Astronomers think the "dark areas" may be great patches cultivated by irrigation by living beings.

There will be a spurt of new "Martian" fiction as the result of this discovery and inference. But we shan't know the truth for some time yet; not, we suspect, until long after airplanes have become as common as automobiles are now.

SUN-TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

For Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania

2—Rapid transit.
3—Repeal or modification of "blue law."
4—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
5—Community Fund for charities.
6—Town Hall, seating at least 15,000.
7—Voting machines to insure honest elections.
8—Development of river transportation.

Tales That Are Told

Nothing to Worry About

As the express thundered through a wayside station one of the passengers, leaning out of a window, overbalanced and fell out of the train.

Fortunately, he landed on a heap of sand and did not do himself a great deal of harm.

A porter went to the rescue.

"What am I going to do now?" asked the victim, rubbing himself tenderly.

It Wouldn't Dare

A little celebration was being held in the local golf club. One of the members had announced that he would be going abroad shortly, and his friends were bidding him goodby.

"But it's fairly hot in India at times," ventured one man. "Aren't you afraid the climate may disagree with your wife?"

The man who was departing for foreign climes looked at his questioner pityingly for a second or two, then:

"It wouldn't dare," he said bitterly.

Only One Line

A few swift and powerful strokes carried the sailor to the side of the elderly woman in distress.

She had lost her footing on the slippery deck, and was overboard in a moment.

Suddenly she caught sight of her rescuer as she came to the surface.

"Madam," replied the gallant seaman, as he grabbed her shoulders, "I am only a life-saver, not a hair-restorer."

How Was She to Know?

Through the busy streets a policeman led a child by the hand. A motherly-looking woman paused in front of them a moment. Then in a sudden burst of sympathy she bent over the child and gave her a hearty kiss.

"Poor little lamb!" she said. "She looks so cold and starved-like, and can't have been washed for a week. Some people never ought to 'ave children. Where did you find the poor mite?"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

Big families ain't so popular at Provincetown, they say. A lot of artists live there, and the town is right prosperous, too, and kinda exclusive. Not long ago a cousin of one of the artists from out West come to town to visit. He had his wife and eight kids with him, and they all started down town from the depot. They were stopped by the first traffic cop.

"You'll have to come with me, and I'll lock you up," says the cop to the cousin.

"What's the matter? What did I do?"

"I don't know what you did, but you're no peaceful citizen, or there wouldn't be a crowd following you around that way."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Someone has sent me this beautiful line: "WE ARE ALL WOVEN TOGETHER IN THE GREAT WEB OF HUMANITY."

It has the mellow beauty of the forest floor in fall.

You lift the fabric, wondering how such magic could be wrought with common wool. And then you see it is not beautiful because one thread is red, or one thread orange, blue or green or gold.

BUT THAT RICH BEAUTY RISES FROM THE MINGLING OF THE THREADS.

The richly colored threads would be quite useless without that restraining warp of gray.

The warp would lack all beauty if deprived of that bright woof.

THE BEAUTY AND THE STRENGTH OF THE WHOLE PIECE DEPENDS UPON THE BLENDING OF THE THREADS, AND THE MINGLING.

Without that blending and that mingling they would be just threads.

Each single thread would have a little color or a little strength, but they would pass as quickly as the dust along the wind. But, mingled so, they last on through the years and spread their beauty like a perfume or a song.

Lives are made stronger when they share and borrow strength.

And all experience widens when we comprehend that truth.

As children we see lives as single threads. We only see our own small thread of green or red or blue. But when we're older we must see the other strands if we would grasp life's vast significance or find a refuge from its awful pain.

YOU CANNOT KNOW THE DIGNITY OF LIFE UNTIL YOU SEE IT AS ONE ENDLESS, MOVING WEB, AND FEEL THAT YOU, TOO, HAVE A PLACE WITHIN THAT WEB.

YOU CANNOT STAND THE AGONY OF LIFE UNTIL YOU FEEL THOSE SOMBRE STRANDS OF BLACK ARE JUST AS TRULY A PART OF BEAUTY AS THE GOLD OF JOY.

NOR CAN YOU FACE LIFE'S GNAWING LONELINESS UNLESS YOU SENSE THAT YOU ARE NOT ALONE, BUT MESHED WITH MILLIONS IN ONE MIGHTY PLAN.

If you will give up your small dream of self, and grasp that vision of the woven whole, all life will change for you from that day on. Nothing will ever seem so small again; nothing will ever seem so hopeless or so cruel. For you will see beyond your one, frail strand and catch a vision of your place within the web. And through that vision there will come new pride, new tolerance and wisdom, and new fury to endure.

SCIENCE AT WORK

By Garrett P. Serviss

The recent celebration of Thomas A. Edison's eighty-second birthday, together with Henry Ford's magnificent gift of $5,000,000 to found an Edison Museum, brings up once more the question of the relative value of "pure" science and "practical" science. No such question would ever have been raised, or, if raised, it would quickly have been forgotten, but for the vociferation of the idea of "pure science" as a sacrosanct thing dwelling alone, high above the smoke and dirt of this dim earth, but nevertheless furnishing to despised humanity below everything that makes its life worth living.

The fact is, of course, that all science is one. The only real dispute is over the ways of acquiring it, and the manner of using it. The purists, like the dictionary makers, claim that they alone know the way, and have "authority." They are wholly academic. Their method is to get from facts to theories as rapidly as possible. But a theory once formed becomes a sudden freeze, fixing all the fluid elements, from which alone discoveries arise, in an icy frame. When this breaks up another is speedily created, and so the process labors on from theory to theory, each aiming a little nearer to some ultimate and perhaps ungraspable truth.

The practical-minded scientist (whom the purists regard as no scientist at all) has his theories also, but he never worships them, because, in the first place, his scientific god is a working god who will do something useful to humanity, and in the second place he never regards a theory from the academic point of view. For him it is simply a rule or a tool which usually meets his requirements, but connects no abstractions with it.

It appears that one of the most striking results of Edison's life work is that, without the slightest intention to do so he has thrown a ladder up to the theorists by which thousands of them have begun to climb down into the busy, money-making world of the concrete. The researchers are being won away from the pure heaven of scientific contemplation to consider the probable market value of a new discovery before they go after it. The Age of Edison has become the Age of Commercial Scientific Laboratories, and academic institutions are having a hard time to hold their ambitious Ph. D.'s against the golden lure.

Mr. Edison is neither a Ph. D., nor a mathematical physicist. He would describe himself as simply a worker with utilizable scientific facts. What he really is, is the greatest living genius of science, take the word in whatever sense you will. He has himself pursued researches, but in his own way, defying convention, disregarding professional croakers, and always having a perfectly clear and definite practical, useful, aim in view. He has brushed through scientific abstractions as through a tangled wilderness. He has employed professional researchers to follow out lines of investigation originated by himself. He has had able mathematicians and laboratory workers in his army, but his has always been the master, directing mind. He is the embodiment of Science at Work, and as such stands for a monument of his time, the great representative figure of practical scientific America.

Bible Passages

A Psalm of David

(Psalm 141)

Lord, I cry unto thee: make haste unto me; give ear unto my voice, when I cry unto thee.

Let my prayer be set forth before thee as incense; and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice.

Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips.

Incline not my heart to any evil thing, to practise wicked works with men that work iniquity: and let me not eat of their dainties.

Let the righteous smite me; it shall be a kindness: and let him reprove me; it shall be an excellent oil, which shall not break my head: for yet my prayer also shall be in their calamities.

When their judges are overthrown in stony places, they shall hear my words; for they are sweet.

Our bones are scattered at the grave's mouth, as when one cutteth and cleaveth wood upon the earth.

But mine eyes are unto thee, O God the Lord: in thee is my trust; leave not my soul destitute.

Keep me from the snares which they have laid for me, and the gins of the workers of iniquity.

The Chinese Jars

Upon the mantel-shelf they stand,
Two jars from an exotic land,
As alien in this dim-hued place
As stranger with a slant-eyed face.
Twin trees of heaven are painted there,
And exquisite the flowers they bear!

The tree of heaven! How strange it seems
That all men picture in their dreams
A brighter land than that they know,
Where bluer skies and softer airs
Heal all earth's longings and despairs!

The jars are quaint and their design
Shows foreign thought in every line;
But still the picture painted there
Reveals a common hope men share:
The tree of heaven, with fruits and flowers,
That springs from other soil than ours!

Isn't It So?

All men are born free and some are equal to anything.

Other Bull Markets

By Herbert Kaufman

This isn't the first time that niggardly bond yields drove investment from conservative trends and fostered a gambling craze.

Thousands of individuals and concerns reason that a 50-50 break of market luck will net a higher return than the 4 to 5 per cent proceeds from federal and corporation issues.

During 1835 the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" also grew stingy with her note holders and sent English bank deposits into Mexican and South American joint-promotions.

British cash deserted safe channels and swamped exchanges. Nobles, nabobs and newsboys, maddened by the chink of rainbow gold, kept quotations sky-hooting and turned brokerage houses into lunatic asylums, from which families and fortunes staggered in rags and tatters.

The intoxication reached perihelion in '44, when the "rate of discount fell to 2½ per cent, and, with government securities offering a correspondingly low profit, the temptation to invest in enterprises promising four, six and eight times as much interest, was too great for incautious capitalists."

As far back as 1692, Shadwell's comedy, "The Stock Jobbers," satirized a like state of affairs, and introduced, for low comedians, a pair of Puritans, who "wonder if it is godly to have shares in a company importing rope-dancers from China."

They finally satisfy pious scruples with the argument that "those whose consciences forbid, need never go to look at the rope-dancers."

The Eighteenth Century was born in the throes of a bull movement which lasted forty years. "South Seas," issued at a hundred par, shot to a thousand. "Africans" whizzed to two hundred from an opening twenty-three.

Optimism and manipulation steadily "expanded the bubbles, until, suddenly, all rushing together, they collapsed and brought grievous distress upon the Kingdom."

We Adamsons run true to type. Something-for-nothing is the favorite hope of the clan.

That apple, which the serpent slipped to everybody's granddaddy, was doubtless guaranteed to produce an orange grove before winter.

The old man swapped Paradise for a world of trouble. And a flock of descendants, now mortgaging their expectations and properties on margin deals, are fast following in his footsteps.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 15.—Thoughts while strolling: Book shop for children only. With expert readers. Manicure parlor called "Salon of Hand Culture." Gustave Tott and the Atlantic City Ritz. Whatever became of the apple pandowdy? Girls who try to look dreamy and merely look full of hop.

Irene Bordoni certainly resembles those vampish ladies in the illustrated French papers. The orchestra musicians you know are named Max or Gus. Sign: "Strive to be masterful." Yeah, and get socked in the eye. Who remembers when only men went out between acts to smoke? Clarabelle Walsh and her mother.

Oscar Eagle, the stage director, a Gallopolis (O.) boy who made good in the city. I wouldn't hire one of those fat butlers. I couldn't keep from worrying how much he eats. The foolish look of Central Park riders whose horses stop while they go on. John and Cristo, the Broadway caterers.

Nearly everybody likes country sausage. But how difficult to get it. The dumb Marx brother with the dead pan. And the most talented of all. The sedate dignity of a silverware store. Walter Bronson Dudley. That's Bide's real name. Window card: "Wanted—tall blondes for clerks in candy store."

Madam Frances, the dressmaker. And her husband, Nate Spingold. Claudette Colbert's trim ankles. Sign over stage entrance: "The most beautiful girls in the world pass through these portals." Charles Mitchell, the banker. Little rich children dressed in the uniform of the Royal Northwest Mounted.

Dance hall announces: "One hundred and fifty agreeable hostesses." Charles Hackett, the Metropolitan tenor. And an American. Coy girls in severe black gowns and ropes of imitation pearls. Broadway doesn't seem the same without Walter Kingsley. Whatever became—and I don't care what!—of swagger sticks?

Women in riding habits who lunch alone at table windows. And flappers who use lorgnettes. A German restaurant with a fat fraulein yodeling: "Go to Sleep, My Bay-ha-bee!" And those dim lit cafes that suggest hand holding and whispered soft nothings. The polite red-haired girl at the Algonquin newsstand.

Almost every year they give a dinner for Knute Rockne, the Notre Dame coach, and it is one dinner that bars evening dress. Mr. Rockne's manner is hard boiled and he does not care to step out of character even at a dinner in his honor.

There is a lady novelist, too, who insists upon wearing informal dress at formal dinners. Her excuse is she lives alone and has no one to powder her back. Line forms to the right and no pushin', you big ape.

The other day I saw a stalwart plain clothes man attached to police headquarters. It seems only a few years ago since he scurried to my cry of "copy" in a newspaper shop. There are times when I do not feel so old—that is when you consider the Rocky Mountains—but such episodes inspire a few extra sly pecks in the mirror.

A character of Tenth avenue is a hatless, shoeless and bewhiskered old fellow with hair falling around his shoulders. He seems oblivious of the attention he creates. A shop keeper along the street tells me he is a religious zealot who believes all ills are due to wearing hats and shoes and it was further declared that he came to the street some 10 years ago in a wheel chair. Today he is walking and apparently enjoying good health.

On Houston street is a spaghetti salon conducted by one of those shaggy-haired baritones who once bellowed and heaved a mean chest in second-rate opera. His hands are covered with gaudy rings and his clothes would rate high at a convention of tin-horn gamblers. Yet it is whispered a certain lady of remarkable talents and great fame, who is a frequent patron of the place, is ga-ga about him. True or not, such gossip is one of the things that slows up New Yorkers in their yawning.

A style shark says the vogue for full evening suits for men is only temporary. We had an idea the boys would tire of unknown finger snappers ordering them to serve the coffee later. The double-breasted dinner coat was popular chiefly because it distinguished a guest from a waiter.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You have probably listened to addresses made by men who talked so easily that you were convinced that they were "born orators."

You think of the times you have made talks and the effort it required.

You feel it would be folly for you to spend time in that way.

You might be surprised if you knew how many hours of thought and study and really hard work has to be done by every man who is a good public speaker.

Of course, there are a few unusual cases, but the road is not easy for most men who have ambitions along this line.

You may be so constituted and handicapped that it would be practically impossible for you to be a speaker of more than ordinary ability.

But probably the greatest drawback for you is your unwillingness to do the work required to stand high as a speaker.

You know that you are not well prepared, not thoroughly familiar with your subject, and you are self-conscious, so you cannot expect to gain popularity or find it easy to talk in public till you conquer these three essentials.

You want the glory but you are unwilling to do the work necessary to gain it.
